Russia To Boycott Balkans Watch

Vishinsky Sets Pace In Attack On Committee

"Horse Trade" Is Charged By Soviet

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Russia and the Soviet bloc defied the United Nations majority today and announced they would boycott a Balkans border watch approved yesterday by a 34 to 6 vote of the General Assembly's full 57-member Political Committee.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, led the way with a short, violent attack on the United States-sponsored Balkans border committee. He charged once more that the Balkan watch was established by a "horse trade" and said:

"The special committee with the policies put before it is directly contradictory to the principles of the Charter. The Soviet delegation, speaking for the Soviet government, declares it cannot take part in this committee and cannot take part in the election of this committee."

Johnson Saddened

Herschel V. Johnson, United States, who has fought for a Balkans committee since last June, said he heard the declaration by the Russian group with "great sadness," but that the Assembly should go ahead and set up the committee. Belgian Premier Paul-Henri Spaak agreed with him.

However, the committee adjourned until 3 p. m. (EST) tomorrow without much progress on making up the committee. Most of the three-hour session was spent on arguments over the legality of yesterday's voting.

The Russian position was disclosed when the big Political Committee met to consider membership of the Balkans commission. The United States suggested yesterday that Brazil, Mexico, the Netherlands, Poland, Australia, Pakistan, and the five great powers be named to this committee.

Poland Follows Russia

Vishinsky took Russia out of the list and Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, quickly did the same.

Going down the line, Yugoslavia thanked Russia for refusing to serve on the watch committee.

To begin functioning, the Balkans committee must win approval of a two-thirds majority of those present and voting in a plenary session of the 57-nation Assembly.

Arab World Directed To Throw Ring Of Steel Around Holy Land

Military Program Adopted By League

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Arab world voted tonight to throw a ring of steel around Palestine to offset what was described as "terrorist organizations and Zionist forces which threaten the security of Palestine Arabs."

The Arab League Council adopted a resolution calling on Egypt, Trans-Jordan, Syria and Lebanon "to take military precautions on Palestine boundaries." All four countries border on Palestine.

These four countries also were instructed to make arrangements for the participation of the more distant nations of Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Iraq in the same military measures.

Further the resolution called for the allocation of funds to Palestine Arabs, the appointment of a committee to spend the money and—in the event Palestine is partitioned or given to the Jews—the implementation of the "secret resolution of Bludan," Syria, adopted in June, 1946.

History Repeats Itself

Adoption of the military program against the Jews of Palestine was carried out in the capital where the ancient Phoenicians once plotted war against the Jews of Israel.

The resolution was presented by a subcommittee through the Lebanese Premier, Riad Bey Es Solh, and was adopted unanimously. It said:

"1—The Bludan secret agreements which should have been fulfilled if the Anglo-American committee's recommendations had been adopted are still in effect and should be fulfilled if a solution is applied to the Palestine case which should effect the right of Palestine to be an independent Arab state. (The reference was to a British-American committee which studied the Palestine problem several months ago. Subsequently a majority of a United Nations committee sent to investigate the situation in the Holy Land recommended the partition of Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish states. This report now is pending before the United Nations General Assembly in New York where it is being debated).

"Precautions" Ordered

"2—In view of the British declaration of its intention to evacuate Palestine and in view of the terrorist organizations and Zionist forces which threaten the security of Palestine Arabs, it is recommended that military precautions be taken on the boundaries of Palestine by adjacent states, provided those states make arrangement for the participation and co-operation of other states.

"3—It is recommended that actual help, both materially and morally, be given Palestine Arabs to strengthen their defense and that each Arab nation set aside funds for that purpose and that a special committee be appointed to supervise the funds."

Before the full council acted the chiefs of the Arab League's seven delegations adopted concrete plans for "military measures for the Arab defense of Palestine," it was officially announced.

SCHOOL AFIRE—Firemen play water on a fire sweeping through the top story of the Benjamin Franklin High School at Philadelphia as the first of 20 fire companies arrived to fight the flames yesterday in the 50-year-old structure. More than 2,000 students marched safely from the building.

Labor Protests Louisville, Ky., Area Increase

Fears Of Nationwide Hikes Are Expressed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — President Truman emphasized anew today his dissatisfaction with relaxed rent controls as a five per cent boost in the Louisville, Ky., area drew angry protests from labor unions and others, who expressed fears of nationwide increases.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that his housing expediter Frank R. Creedon, was obliged by law to approve the Louisville increase.

Under the new control act, passed by the last session of Congress, he said, Creedon has no power to change any recommendation made by a lawfully-appointed rent control board.

But he invited attention to his words when he signed the act—that it is "plainly inadequate" and that he signed only because otherwise rent ceilings would be wiped out completely.

Creedon's action in granting the Louisville rent increase, effective today, followed recommendations by the Louisville Rent Advisory Board.

Mr. Truman's interpretation of the rent control law as giving Creedon no power to reject the recommendations of local boards ran counter to some opinions on Capitol Hill.

Sen. Myers Disagrees

An aide to Sen. Myers (D-Pa.), author of a bill to expand rent controls beyond next February 29, told a reporter that Myers was convinced the local boards had "no mandatory powers."

He said that when Myers introduced his bill last July, Myers issued a statement saying "the Housing Expediter of course would retain his present power to accept or reject recommendations" by the local boards.

Creedon also approved today extension of rent controls in five cities—Charleston, W. Va., Duluth, Minn., Superior, Wisc., St. Petersburg, Fla., and New Castle, Ind.—and lifted rent ceilings in one South Dakota county.

Within a few hours after Creedon's moves were announced, angry protests came from labor, consumer and other groups.

The Washington Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action wired Creedon in "vehement protest," declaring that the Louisville case "has ominous implications" for other rent-control areas.

Creedon's Dismissal Urged

H. W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists (AFL), who lodged the original complaint against the Louisville board, wrote President Truman to dismiss Creedon "before his policies bring on a cruel rent inflation."

Mr. Truman said he had no comment on expressed fears that Creedon's action had set the tempo for a cross-country trend to higher rent, but he advised reporters to read his comments on the rent control act at the time he signed it.

He recalled, when prompted by

Typhoon-Ravaged Iwo Reports All Americans Safe

Buildings Wrecked By 170 MPH Winds

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 10 (AP)—All 1,000 United States military personnel and dependents on Iwo Jima were safe today after a typhoon's 170-mile-an-hour winds levelled or damaged every building.

The first official word of the safety of the garrison came from Iwo Jima's air base commander by radio as the storm raged on northwestward toward Okinawa and Southern Japan.

Col. Raleigh H. MacKlin, commander of Iwo's air base, notified air force headquarters here in a brief message:

"All Army and Air Force personnel on the island are safe if the storm continues on its present course. No injuries have been reported."

Still Some Concern

Presumably this meant there was some concern that the storm, which struck Iwo yesterday with 170-mile-an-hour winds, might double back on the famed island.

It last was reported headed west toward Okinawa, however.

The violent Pacific storm was described by authorities here as possibly the worst ever to hit that historic Pacific battleground outpost 900 miles southeast of Tokyo.

The Navy reported two of its planes had been sent from Guam to search for a former landing craft which was partly disabled by the typhoon.

Boat's Rudder Damaged

The Navy said nothing had been heard from the vessel since yesterday morning, when it reported its rudder damaged but in no immediate need of assistance.

(The Coast Guard in Honolulu reported its radio station on a reef a mile and a half from Iwo had been badly damaged but was back in operation after a blackout of 15½ hours.

Woman Married 15 Times Seeks Freedom Again

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 9 (AP)—An attractive brunette sought today to rid herself—for the 15th time—of marital shackles.

Mrs. Betty M. Dunlavy, 40, acquired her first husband in 1924 when she was 17. She seeks now to divorce No. 15. His treatment of her has been cruel and inhuman her petition to the Marion County Circuit Court reads.

Although wed 15 times in 22 years, the court record shows, there have really been only 12 men in the life of the comely, medium-sized brunette, Husband No. 3 was divorced, but remarriage made him No. 4 as well. Then there was No. 6. The problems which broke up that marriage were resolved and he had a new identity as No. 7. But that didn't last and No. 8 had his moment, then the combined No. 6-7 became also No. 9 or, more correctly, No. 6-7-9.

LeViness Guilty Of Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9. (AP)—A federal court jury tonight convicted Charles T. LeViness on two counts of evading income tax payments, but recommended mercy for the former Assistant Maryland Attorney General and one-time head of the state's penal system.

The jury deliberated six hours and 15 minutes before reaching its verdict. It found that the 44-year-old Baltimore attorney had evaded almost $9,500 in income tax payments for the years 1943 and 1944.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman deferred passing of sentence pending possible filing of a petition by defense attorneys for a new trial.

Each of the two counts on which LeViness was convicted carries a possible penalty of up to five years' imprisonment and/or a fine of $10,000.

United States Attorney Bernard J. Flynn, in closing the government's arguments in the case, said with obvious feeling that he had known LeViness for many years but that his conduct "in this case, was that of a dishonest man."

Defense attorneys told the jury that the charges against LeViness had been "magnified" in importance.

Truman Accepts Denny's Resignation From FCC

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The resignation of Charles R. Denny, of the Federal Communications Commission, effective October 31, was accepted today by President Truman.

Letters exchanged between the two showed that Denny submitted his resignation yesterday, saying that "from a financial standpoint it is not possible for me to remain longer in the government service."

Mr. Truman wrote back he regretted "exceedingly" that Denny felt it necessary to resign but that he had no alternative but to accept the resignation.

Gen. Winship Dies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, 77, former Governor of Puerto Rico, died tonight at the Chevy Chase Club in nearby Maryland, the manager of the club announced.

The manager said Gov. Winship was chatting with friends just before dinner when he suddenly collapsed. He was pronounced dead by Dr. William Earl Clark.

Trooper Shoots Gunman; Held Pastor Hostage

Fugitive, Cornered In Church, Wounded

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 9 (INS) — The expert marksmanship of a rookie Ohio state patrolman resulted today in the wounding and capture of a desperate fugitive as he held a pastor at gun-point at the altar of his Findlay church.

R. C. Vanderveen, 25-year-old patrolman of only five months service, fired the rifle shot that felled Leonard Johnson, 27, Detroit, among the pews of the Trinity Episcopal Church. The shot ended a dramatic 45 minutes in which Vanderveen had slowly pulled his 200-pounds between the pews to gain a favorable angle for his shot.

Cornered In Church

At stake in the risky engagement was the life of Rev. John Knox, 34. Johnson, who had escaped from the Findlay police station after he and a companion were brought in for auto theft investigation, was cornered in the church.

The fugitive, described as of the "killer type," pulled a 32-caliber automatic to effect his escape. When cornered in the church, he warned Findlay Police Chief Leo M. Larkins he would kill Rev. Knox if not allowed to make his escape unmolested.

While Chief Larkins talked and argued with Johnson, Vanderveen entered through a vestibule in his stocking feet. He crawled between the pews to a spot where he could fire at the fugitive without getting Rev. Knox in the line of fire.

Wound Not Serious

Vanderveen's shot entered Johnson's right shoulder, causing him to drop his loaded gun. Johnson's wound was not serious and he was lodged in jail after treatment.

Also held in the Hancock County jail was Johnson's companion, booked as Lindell Brown, 29, Greenville, Ky., and Detroit.

State highway patrolmen, Michigan authorities and FBI agents planned to question the pair in connection with the disappearance of two Michigan gasoline station attendants feared kidnaped and murdered.

Johnson and Brown were arrested by Findlay police when they attempted to sell parts off a 1937 Buick sedan bearing Michigan license plates and believed stolen.

Sen. Vandenberg Enters Grand Rapids Hospital

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP)—United States Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), president pro-tem of the Senate, was in Butterworth Hospital today for what his personal physician said was a "complete physical examination" and a "much needed rest."

President Says Meatless, Eggless Days "Vital" Part Of Food-For-Europe Drive

Declines Comment On Anderson's View

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—President Truman reinforced his call on Americans to save food today by declaring that "meatless and eggless days x x x are of vital importance" in getting more food to Europe.

He declined comment, at a White House news conference, on a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson which his questioner interpretetd as giving secondary importance to the "days."

Then, asked to give his opinion on the value of meatless Tuesdays and poultryless-eggless Thursdays, aside from what Anderson had to say, Mr. Truman authorized the following direct quotation:

"Meatless and eggless days are for the purpose of saving grain, which is of vital importance because it is expensive to feed grain to poultry and livestock.

"When you save meat and save poultry products you save grain, and grain is what is necessary to meet the hunger situation in Europe.

"Most Economical Way"

"It is the most economical way to meet it."

Anderson said in Chicago today that the President's special food committee, which instituted the "days," would "run interference for even greater return in grain feed savings" gained from feeding less grain to livestock.

The Secretary continued that doing without meat on Tuesday and poultry and eggs on Thursday "is like going to church on Sunday — that doesn't mean we can conform to the rules one day of the week and ignore them on other days."

Charles Luckman, chairman of the food committee, promptly followed up Mr. Truman with a statement saying that he agrees with Anderson that observance of "meatless days is like going to church on Sunday."

Luckman added "we have undertaken a solemn obligation to humanity." He said the three-way conservation program which has been launched requires "mutual participation of farmers, industry and the "public" and "no one of these alone can do the job."

Reno Residents Disagree Their City Is Noisiest

RENO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Reno residents arched their backs today and demanded to know "where do they get that stuff" when informed that a national survey shows this city of 30,000 persons is the noisiest in the United States.

"Noisiest town in the country — why, hell, they're crazy!" roared Gambling Club Operator Raymond I. Smith.

Smith had to cup his ear and holler "What?" twice before the reporter could get the question across. In the center of his casino the clanking slot machines made conversation all but impossible.

The rest of his comment was drowned out by giant locomotive thundering through the center of town with a string of 70 freight cars.

"Act 2" In Hughes Probe Coming Up

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The second-act curtain in the Senate investigation of Howard Hughes' $40,000,000 wartime plane contracts will go up before the previously scheduled November 17 date, it was announced today by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich).

Ferguson is chairman of the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee which figured in last summer's Hollywood-like extravaganza involving Hughes, Elliot Roosevelt, and Hughes' free-spending publicity agent, Johnny Meyer, among others.

Ferguson told newsmen he has not yet fixed a definite date for the renewed public hearings, but said he had decided to advance the schedule because he wants to attend a Senate Appropriations Committee meeting on European aid problems, November 18.

He said he had not informed Hughes or other witnesses of the shift in plans. Indications are that the forthcoming hearings may rival if not surpass the summertime "Act 1," which drew jam-packed audiences throughout its two-week run on Capitol Hill, arose with reports that procurement officers of the Army Air Force are now being secretly questioned in connection with war contracts.

Meantime Ferguson refused to confirm or deny reports that procurement officers of the Air Force are now being secretly questioned in connection with war contracts.

"All I can say is that the Hughes case is a procurement case," the Senator said.

Britain Reportedly Has Sold More Gold

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—An authoritative government source indicated today that Britain has sold another $120,000,000 worth of gold to the United States, and an official announcement said South Africa had agreed to lend this country $320,000,000 of the yellow metal to reinforce the supply.

The authoritative informant said it was his "impression" that published reports were true that Britain had dipped again into her "last ditch" gold reserves in an exchange for dollars with which to pay for purchases from the United States. Britain sold $80,000,000 worth of gold to the United States early last month. Before that her gold reserves, used to back the British currency, were estimated at $2,400,000,000.

An official announcement of the gold sale had not yet been made.

Speeds Double That Of Sound Are Reached By U. S. Pilotless Aircraft

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9 (AP)—United States research experts disclosed today that flying vehicles in this country have reached speeds of 1,500 miles per hour, beating by 600 miles the craft flown by the British.

The British machine flew at about 900 miles an hour and was called a "pilotless aircraft," but scientists here said the difference was largely one of terminology.

Here, even though a super-sonic speeded vehicle has experimental wings it is generally called a "missile," one expert of the National Advisory Committee of Aeronautics explained, whereas the British call then "pilotless" aircraft.

The research "plane" dropped from a Mosquito bomber yesterday closely resembled one built by NACA about three years ago, he said, and United States missiles recently have flown twice the speed of sound — with a top of about 1,500 miles an hour.

In other words, he went on, neither the British nor the American machines make provision for a pilot.

The NACA's research missile, known as the RM-1, was launched from the ground, however, and flown out over the Atlantic from the NACA's pilotless aircraft research station on Wallops Island, off Virginia's eastern shore. The first one reached 1.4 times the speed of sound, or around 1,000 miles an hour.

Since then research planes in the "RM" series have reached double the speed of sound. Scientists call that speed simply "two," meaning "mach number" two. Mach numbers are speeds expressed in terms of their relation to the speed of sound at given temperatures.

President Denies Soviet Charges Of Imperialism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Truman, replying today to the latest Russian charges of "American imperialism," declared the United States is not interested in the economic domination of any country or any continent.

The Chief Executive also told his news conference that the government is continuing its urgent search for dollars with which to provide emergency help to Europe. But he said that in the case of France specifically, no way has yet been found to supply the French with money in the immediate future.

The question of American world aims arose in connection with a request for Mr. Truman's comment on the new Communist international organization in Europe. It was set up to fight the Marshall plan for European reconstruction and what the Communists themselves call "American imperialism."

AFL's Council Acts To Circumvent Lewis

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9. (AP)—The AFL Executive Council voted today to eliminate the positions of all 13 of its vice presidents—in order to circumvent Vice President John L. Lewis, whose refusal to sign a non-Communist affidavit has kept 300,000 workers outside the protection of the federal law.

The workers in this group, members of about 1,500-so-called federal locals, have no national officers except those of the AFL itself. The National Labor Relations Board cannot act in any case in which a union's officers have refused to swear they are not Communists.

The council, chief policy-making body for the AFL's 7,600,000 members, will recommend an amendment to the constitution to bring about the desired change, President William Green told a news conference after a 3½-hour meeting of the council.

Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers and 11th vice president of the AFL, refused to sign an affidavit disavowing Communism in his unyielding opposition to the entire Taft-Hartley labor-management act. This stymied the executive council which requires unanimous consent.

Although the National Labor Relations Board and its general counsel, Robert N. Denham, on Tuesday ruled the vice presidents would not have to sign the affidavits in order to make the 105 national and international unions eligible to use the protective machinery of the act, approximately 300,000 workers in so-called federal locals still would have been without recourse to the board.

If the Executive Council's recommendation is accepted by the convention, the federation would have only a president and secretary-treasurer—posts now held, respectively, by Green and George Meany.

Green said the council's report and recommendation would be submitted to the 66th annual convention in a day or two. A two-thirds vote among the 700 delegates is necessary to amend the federation constitution.

Asked whether there had been opposition to the recommendation to strip the vice presidential title from Lewis and the 12 others, Green said:

"You will have to find that out for yourself."

When Lewis strode down the hotel corridor between files of reporters waiting for the showdown session to break up, he appeared solemn and grim.

A reporter asked Lewis if he were still a vice president, and he jerked his thumb in the direction of the council room where Green arranged to see reporters.

Compliance With First Poultryless, Eggless Day Far From 100 Per Cent

[By The Associated Press]

Compliance with the first eggless and poultryless day was far from 100 per cent Thursday amid protests against some phases of President Truman's campaign to save food for Europe.

Prices meanwhile continued to advance in many of the country's primary food markets.

As with the first meatless Tuesday, observance of the President's request that poultry and eggs not be eaten Thursday was spotty throughout the country.

A nationwide survey indicated some restaurants were complying but that many were not, and were serving eggs when the customers requested them. Others reported heavier orders for sausage and bacon as substitutes.

In Wichita Falls, Tex., customers walked out of one restaurant in protest and eggs were restored to the menu. In New York City the same thing happened in a cafeteria.

However, in some cases restaurants said compliance would be more complete next week.

There was some indication that withdrawals of egg and meat dishes might result in increased demand for fish.

Although New York and Washington reported no change in fish prices, leading New Orleans dealers said they believed prices would climb next week. Some Detroit markets reported advances in fresh fish prices but none in frozen fish. However, predictions were for higher prices for both types next week.

Price upturns were recorded in New York and Chicago wholesale eggs and butter; Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis wheat futures and cash wheat; New York and Minneapolis flour, live hogs in some markets, and Chicago egg futures.

LeViness Guilty Of Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9. (AP)—A federal court jury tonight convicted Charles T. LeViness on two counts of evading income tax payments, but recommended mercy for the former Assistant Maryland Attorney General and one-time head of the state's penal system.

The jury deliberated six hours and 15 minutes before reaching its verdict. It found that the 44-year-old Baltimore attorney had evaded almost $9,500 in income tax payments for the years 1943 and 1944.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman deferred passing of sentence pending possible filing of a petition by defense attorneys for a new trial.

Each of the two counts on which LeViness was convicted carries a possible penalty of up to five years' imprisonment and/or a fine of $10,000.

United States Attorney Bernard J. Flynn, in closing the government's arguments in the case, said with obvious feeling that he had known LeViness for many years but that his conduct "in this case, was that of a dishonest man."

Defense attorneys told the jury that the charges against LeViness had been "magnified" in importance.

Truman Accepts Denny's Resignation From FCC

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The resignation of Charles R. Denny, of the Federal Communications Commission, effective October 31, was accepted today by President Truman.

Letters exchanged between the two showed that Denny submitted his resignation yesterday, saying that "from a financial standpoint it is not possible for me to remain longer in the government service."

Mr. Truman wrote back he regretted "exceedingly" that Denny felt it necessary to resign but that he had no alternative but to accept the resignation.

Gen. Winship Dies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Blanton Winship, 77, former Governor of Puerto Rico, died tonight at the Chevy Chase Club in nearby Maryland, the manager of the club announced.

The manager said Gov. Winship was chatting with friends just before dinner when he suddenly collapsed. He was pronounced dead by Dr. William Earl Clark.

RECTOR AND GUNMAN—Rev. John Evans Knox (left), 34, was held hostage for an hour yesterday in his church at Findlay, O., when Leonard Johnson (right), 29, Detroit, fled into the church while attempting to escape from police. Using Knox for a shield, Johnson held off police until he was wounded by a stocking-footed high-way patrolman.

Trooper Shoots Gunman; Held Pastor Hostage

Fugitive, Cornered In Church, Wounded

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 9 (INS) — The expert marksmanship of a rookie Ohio state patrolman resulted today in the wounding and capture of a desperate fugitive as he held a pastor at gun-point at the altar of his Findlay church.

R. C. Vanderveen, 25-year-old patrolman of only five months service, fired the rifle shot that felled Leonard Johnson, 27, Detroit, among the pews of the Trinity Episcopal Church. The shot ended a dramatic 45 minutes in which Vanderveen had slowly pulled his 200-pounds between the pews to gain a favorable angle for his shot.

Cornered In Church

At stake in the risky engagement was the life of Rev. John Knox, 34. Johnson, who had escaped from the Findlay police station after he and a companion were brought in for auto theft investigation, was cornered in the church.

The fugitive, described as of the "killer type," pulled a 32-caliber automatic to effect his escape. When cornered in the church, he warned Findlay Police Chief Leo M. Larkins he would kill Rev. Knox if not allowed to make his escape unmolested.

While Chief Larkins talked and argued with Johnson, Vanderveen entered through a vestibule in his stocking feet. He crawled between the pews to a spot where he could fire at the fugitive without getting Rev. Knox in the line of fire.

Wound Not Serious

Vanderveen's shot entered Johnson's right shoulder, causing him to drop his loaded gun. Johnson's wound was not serious and he was lodged in jail after treatment.

Also held in the Hancock County jail was Johnson's companion, booked as Lindell Brown, 29, Greenville, Ky., and Detroit.

State highway patrolmen, Michigan authorities and FBI agents planned to question the pair in connection with the disappearance of two Michigan gasoline station attendants feared kidnaped and murdered.

Johnson and Brown were arrested by Findlay police when they attempted to sell parts off a 1937 Buick sedan bearing Michigan license plates and believed stolen.

Sen. Vandenberg Enters Grand Rapids Hospital

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP)—United States Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), president pro-tem of the Senate, was in Butterworth Hospital today for what his personal physician said was a "complete physical examination" and a "much needed rest."

President Says Meatless, Eggless Days "Vital" Part Of Food-For-Europe Drive

Reno Residents Disagree Their City Is Noisiest

RENO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Reno residents arched their backs today and demanded to know "where do they get that stuff" when informed that a national survey shows this city of 30,000 persons is the noisiest in the United States.

"Noisiest town in the country — why, hell, they're crazy!" roared Gambling Club Operator Raymond I. Smith.

Smith had to cup his ear and holler "What?" twice before the reporter could get the question across. In the center of his casino the clanking slot machines made conversation all but impossible.

The rest of his comment was drowned out by giant locomotive thundering through the center of town with a string of 70 freight cars.

Declines Comment On Anderson's View

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—President Truman reinforced his call on Americans to save food today by declaring that "meatless and eggless days x x x are of vital importance" in getting more food to Europe.

He declined comment, at a White House news conference, on a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson which his questioner interpretetd as giving secondary importance to the "days."

Then, asked to give his opinion on the value of meatless Tuesdays and poultryless-eggless Thursdays, aside from what Anderson had to say, Mr. Truman authorized the following direct quotation:

"Meatless and eggless days are for the purpose of saving grain, which is of vital importance because it is expensive to feed grain to poultry and livestock.

"When you save meat and save poultry products you save grain, and grain is what is necessary to meet the hunger situation in Europe.

"Most Economical Way"

"It is the most economical way to meet it."

Anderson said in Chicago today that the President's special food committee, which instituted the "days," would "run interference for even greater return in grain feed savings" gained from feeding less grain to livestock.

The Secretary continued that doing without meat on Tuesday and poultry and eggs on Thursday "is like going to church on Sunday — that doesn't mean we can conform to the rules one day of the week and ignore them on other days."

Charles Luckman, chairman of the food committee, promptly followed up Mr. Truman with a statement saying that he agrees with Anderson that observance of "meatless days is like going to church on Sunday."

Luckman added "we have undertaken a solemn obligation to humanity." He said the three-way conservation program which has been launched requires "mutual participation of farmers, industry and the "public" and "no one of these alone can do the job."

"Act 2" In Hughes Probe Coming Up

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The second-act curtain in the Senate investigation of Howard Hughes' $40,000,000 wartime plane contracts will go up before the previously scheduled November 17 date, it was announced today by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich).

Ferguson is chairman of the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee which figured in last summer's Hollywood-like extravaganza involving Hughes, Elliot Roosevelt, and Hughes' free-spending publicity agent, Johnny Meyer, among others.

Ferguson told newsmen he has not yet fixed a definite date for the renewed public hearings, but said he had decided to advance the schedule because he wants to attend a Senate Appropriations Committee meeting on European aid problems, November 18.

He said he had not informed Hughes or other witnesses of the shift in plans. Indications are that the forthcoming hearings may rival if not surpass the summertime "Act 1," which drew jam-packed audiences throughout its two-week run on Capitol Hill, arose with reports that procurement officers of the Army Air Force are now being secretly questioned in connection with war contracts.

Meantime Ferguson refused to confirm or deny reports that procurement officers of the Air Force are now being secretly questioned in connection with war contracts.

"All I can say is that the Hughes case is a procurement case," the Senator said.

Labor Protests Louisville, Ky., Area Increase

Fears Of Nationwide Hikes Are Expressed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — President Truman emphasized anew today his dissatisfaction with relaxed rent controls as a five per cent boost in the Louisville, Ky., area drew angry protests from labor unions and others, who expressed fears of nationwide increases.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that his housing expediter Frank R. Creedon, was obliged by law to approve the Louisville increase.

Under the new control act, passed by the last session of Congress, he said, Creedon has no power to change any recommendation made by a lawfully-appointed rent control board.

But he invited attention to his words when he signed the act—that it is "plainly inadequate" and that he signed only because otherwise rent ceilings would be wiped out completely.

Creedon's action in granting the Louisville rent increase, effective today, followed recommendations by the Louisville Rent Advisory Board.

Mr. Truman's interpretation of the rent control law as giving Creedon no power to reject the recommendations of local boards ran counter to some opinions on Capitol Hill.

Sen. Myers Disagrees

An aide to Sen. Myers (D-Pa.), author of a bill to expand rent controls beyond next February 29, told a reporter that Myers was convinced the local boards had "no mandatory powers."

He said that when Myers introduced his bill last July, Myers issued a statement saying "the Housing Expediter of course would retain his present power to accept or reject recommendations" by the local boards.

Creedon also approved today extension of rent controls in five cities—Charleston, W. Va., Duluth, Minn., Superior, Wisc., St. Petersburg, Fla., and New Castle, Ind.—and lifted rent ceilings in one South Dakota county.

Within a few hours after Creedon's moves were announced, angry protests came from labor, consumer and other groups.

The Washington Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action wired Creedon in "vehement protest," declaring that the Louisville case "has ominous implications" for other rent-control areas.

Creedon's Dismissal Urged

H. W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists (AFL), who lodged the original complaint against the Louisville board, wrote President Truman to dismiss Creedon "before his policies bring on a cruel rent inflation."

Mr. Truman said he had no comment on expressed fears that Creedon's action had set the tempo for a cross-country trend to higher rent, but he advised reporters to read his comments on the rent control act at the time he signed it.

He recalled, when prompted by

Britain Reportedly Has Sold More Gold

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—An authoritative government source indicated today that Britain has sold another $120,000,000 worth of gold to the United States, and an official announcement said South Africa had agreed to lend this country $320,000,000 of the yellow metal to reinforce the supply.

The authoritative informant said it was his "impression" that published reports were true that Britain had dipped again into her "last ditch" gold reserves in an exchange for dollars with which to pay for purchases from the United States. Britain sold $80,000,000 worth of gold to the United States early last month. Before that her gold reserves, used to back the British currency, were estimated at $2,400,000,000.

An official announcement of the gold sale had not yet been made.

Speeds Double That Of Sound Are Reached By U. S. Pilotless Aircraft

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9 (AP)—United States research experts disclosed today that flying vehicles in this country have reached speeds of 1,500 miles per hour, beating by 600 miles the craft flown by the British.

The British machine flew at about 900 miles an hour and was called a "pilotless aircraft," but scientists here said the difference was largely one of terminology.

Here, even though a super-sonic speeded vehicle has experimental wings it is generally called a "missile," one expert of the National Advisory Committee of Aeronautics explained, whereas the British call then "pilotless" aircraft.

The research "plane" dropped from a Mosquito bomber yesterday closely resembled one built by NACA about three years ago, he said, and United States missiles recently have flown twice the speed of sound — with a top of about 1,500 miles an hour.

In other words, he went on, neither the British nor the American machines make provision for a pilot.

The NACA's research missile, known as the RM-1, was launched from the ground, however, and flown out over the Atlantic from the NACA's pilotless aircraft research station on Wallops Island, off Virginia's eastern shore. The first one reached 1.4 times the speed of sound, or around 1,000 miles an hour.

Since then research planes in the "RM" series have reached double the speed of sound. Scientists call that speed simply "two," meaning "mach number" two. Mach numbers are speeds expressed in terms of their relation to the speed of sound at given temperatures.

AFL's Council Acts To Circumvent Lewis

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9. (AP)—The AFL Executive Council voted today to eliminate the positions of all 13 of its vice presidents—in order to circumvent Vice President John L. Lewis, whose refusal to sign a non-Communist affidavit has kept 300,000 workers outside the protection of the federal law.

The workers in this group, members of about 1,500-so-called federal locals, have no national officers except those of the AFL itself. The National Labor Relations Board cannot act in any case in which a union's officers have refused to swear they are not Communists.

The council, chief policy-making body for the AFL's 7,600,000 members, will recommend an amendment to the constitution to bring about the desired change, President William Green told a news conference after a 3½-hour meeting of the council.

Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers and 11th vice president of the AFL, refused to sign an affidavit disavowing Communism in his unyielding opposition to the entire Taft-Hartley labor-management act. This stymied the executive council which requires unanimous consent.

Although the National Labor Relations Board and its general counsel, Robert N. Denham, on Tuesday ruled the vice presidents would not have to sign the affidavits in order to make the 105 national and international unions eligible to use the protective machinery of the act, approximately 300,000 workers in so-called federal locals still would have been without recourse to the board.

If the Executive Council's recommendation is accepted by the convention, the federation would have only a president and secretary-treasurer—posts now held, respectively, by Green and George Meany.

Green said the council's report and recommendation would be submitted to the 66th annual convention in a day or two. A two-thirds vote among the 700 delegates is necessary to amend the federation constitution.

Asked whether there had been opposition to the recommendation to strip the vice presidential title from Lewis and the 12 others, Green said:

"You will have to find that out for yourself."

When Lewis strode down the hotel corridor between files of reporters waiting for the showdown session to break up, he appeared solemn and grim.

A reporter asked Lewis if he were still a vice president, and he jerked his thumb in the direction of the council room where Green arranged to see reporters.

Compliance With First Poultryless, Eggless Day Far From 100 Per Cent

[By The Associated Press]

Compliance with the first eggless and poultryless day was far from 100 per cent Thursday amid protests against some phases of President Truman's campaign to save food for Europe.

Prices meanwhile continued to advance in many of the country's primary food markets.

As with the first meatless Tuesday, observance of the President's request that poultry and eggs not be eaten Thursday was spotty throughout the country.

A nationwide survey indicated some restaurants were complying but that many were not, and were serving eggs when the customers requested them. Others reported heavier orders for sausage and bacon as substitutes.

In Wichita Falls, Tex., customers walked out of one restaurant in protest and eggs were restored to the menu. In New York City the same thing happened in a cafeteria.

However, in some cases restaurants said compliance would be more complete next week.

There was some indication that withdrawals of egg and meat dishes might result in increased demand for fish.

Although New York and Washington reported no change in fish prices, leading New Orleans dealers said they believed prices would climb next week. Some Detroit markets reported advances in fresh fish prices but none in frozen fish. However, predictions were for higher prices for both types next week.

Price upturns were recorded in New York and Chicago wholesale eggs and butter; Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis wheat futures and cash wheat; New York and Minneapolis flour, live hogs in some markets, and Chicago egg futures.

Tenants To Be Advised Of Hardship Petitions

Walter R. Heath, of the Federal Office of Rent Control, said yesterday the office is resuming its former practice of notifying tenants of landlord's petitions filed under the "substantial hardship" section of rent regulations when the petitions are filed instead of after action is taken by the area rent director.

Tenants who wish to give any information which might be helpful to the director may submit statements within 10 days after notification, he said.

He also said persons who have purchased controlled housing accommodations should file a change of ownership with the statement area office within 15 days after the change of ownership is effective.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Judge Henderson Deals With Bond-Forfeiting

Every now and then Judges of the Circuit Court for Allegany County have found it necessary to call attention of Grandjurors to the fact that those charged with city law violations, and who forfeit their bonds rather than stand trial, does not prevent the recharging of those offenders by the Grandjury under a state or county law for the same offense.

Associate Judge George Henderson included that information in charging the October Grandjury this week. In all probability he was prompted in this by the fact that in a number of recent instances offenders of the gambling and liquor statutes have been arrested by city authorities, have posted bond for a later hearing and then have not bothered to appear in court to defend themselves, permitting the money they furnished to gain their freedom from custody to be forfeited. That does not, necessarily, place the stamp of guilt upon the accused, although it might be assumed the person charged had no defense, and rather than run the risk of more severe punishment took the line of least resistance.

Of course, it is possible that the offenders in such cases would not have been dealt with any more severely had they stood trial, and Judge Henderson took cognizance of this in his comments and citation of the authority invested in the Grandjury by advising members of this all-powerful county inquest body to consider "the circumstances of the case and particularly the penalty already imposed (or the amount forfeited) in deciding whether further proceedings are proper."

But Judge Henderson left no doubt in the mind of anyone associated with the county law-enforcement machinery that he expects steps to be taken to see that violators are adequately punished. After all, forfeiting a bond of, say $200, is an insignificant sum to be permitted to be paid for the privilege of breaking the liquor laws or for flaunting statutes that forbid gambling. The responsibility for correcting such practices lies in the hands of the Grandjury.

The forefeiting of bonds by violators of various types of lawbreakings has been a custom of many years standing. Especially is this true in cases involving liquor law violations and gambling, and the fact that such cases have not been further pursued, so as to bring about more severe punishment against those accused, places the entire procedure in the category of unfinished business, and prevents a full airing of circumstances surrounding the breaking of laws on the statute books.

The point raised by Judge Henderson in his Grandjury charge was timely, and it should be kept firmly in mind by those who are expected to make a sincere effort to enforce the laws.

The recharging and rearresting of violators under Grandjury indictments, and the assessment of fines or sentences to fit the crime, will go far in bringing order within those businesses licensed to operate, or force out of business those engaged in outlawed activities.

Those Seven Days Of The Fall Baseball Classic

It was the most entertaining and therefore the most salubrious World Championship contest of the present century. The Dodgers made it so. Nobody thought they had much of a chance, and when the Yankees took the first two games it was freely predicted that they would also take the next two and sweep the board. That was our opinion although, to be frank, we had wanted to see the Bums win.

But the Dodgers put on the always dramatic spectacle of a team coming from behind and refusing to stay there. Win or lose, Brooklyn is always interesting, usually exciting, amusing to boot; and behind the team are the most colorful fans in the country, on whose shifting emotions it plays as on a steam calliope. The seventh game found the two contestants on even terms, New York winning in the end by 5 to 2 to take the championship.

People will long remember those seven days, with the two contestants see-sawing back and forth, an unprecedented procession of players passing in and out of both teams, the unprecedented prowess of the rookies and the plentitude of circus catches in the outfield—two of them robbing the Yankees of two games. Their gift to the country was that they had its inhabitants on the qui vive, put everybody in good humor, dropped the troubles for the time below the horizon, and presented the spectacle, if but for a moment, of an all-embracing brotherhood.

Even Vishinsky was discovered burying his nose in the sporting pages. Now if—but why toy with the impossible?

Hollywood Couldn't Have Done Better In Make-Believe

The Overell-Gollum trial is over and the nation can go back to worrying about such things as famine in Europe, natural disasters and the possibility of a third world war. But as it does so, the thinking element of the population will shake its head over this fantastic travesty of justice.

This was just the sort of thing that Americans have come to associate with Hollywood. Yet Hollywood, even in its worst moments, could hardly have concocted anything quite so disgusting as this performance, which was supposed to be the deadly serious trial of a man and woman for murder. If it had, its own censors would have killed it as a threat to public morals.

The Overell-Gollum trial had all the recognized spicy ingredients. There were the torrid love letters which the defendants wrote each other during the trial and which the jury devoured. There were the women jurors who embraced Miss Overell after the verdict of acquittal. There were the wild demonstrations in the court room. And then there were the thousands of interested spectators who swarmed in the streets outside the courthouse.

The plain fact is that this long, costly trial was a sordid farce. It had little of the solemn proceedings which are supposed to make the democratic justice the best in history and represented all the worst features of a circus and a fourth-estate dramatic spectacle. The nation should be ashamed and disturbed that the dignity of the law and the orderly process of justice should be capable of sinking quite so low.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE TREAD OF LIFE

NOW and then a gravely ill person cheats death by developing that intangible "will to live" while fighting for his life. The phenomenon is difficult to explain, but physicians are aware of its presence. The converse is also true; when the patience gives up, he often plunges downhill rapidly.

The sick individual who is cheerful usually recovers faster than one who is fearful or lack confidence in what in being done. For this reason, medicos try to keep the patient's morale high and lend as much encouragement as possible. Thus the mavimum cooperation is obtained and convalence hastened.

The problem is more difficult when mind and body are affected simultaneously. The individual who is indifferent to life in general may not care to resume the struggle. The stress or strain of business is sometimes too heavy, family troubles may make existence seem black, unrequited love may take away the urge to continue, or facing the future with a chronic disease cannot be faced. When this occurs, the physician frequently assumes the role of father confessor or business consultant, as well as medical advisor.

Not long ago, while browsing thru a British medical journal, my attentio nwas caught by an article by George Day on the psychology of the tuberculous. The author was a resident physician i n a sanitorium and having leisure time, often talked at length to his patients. He cited several examples of victims of tuberculosis who were not making the grade because they were emotionally disturbed or depressed over certain situations. When these factors were rectified the majority made rapid improvement and continued thereafter in good health. One suc hcase was as puzzling to him as it would have been to any one else.

Gladys was 19 and Day first saw her when she was working as a cook in the home of a patient of his. On leaving the house she wahted to know if it "made any difference" if she was coughing up blood. It did, as an X-ray on the following day revealed advanced tuberculosis on both sides of her chest.

Sanitarium care was started and she gained weight and looked much better. The activity of the disease lessened and she was sent home. Day lost track of her until a year and a half later when she came to his office. She had married in the meantime and was seven months pregnant. As was expected the malady flared up after the baby was born and several months passed before she was well. The physician recommended in no uncertain terms that she have no more children.

This time Day left the country but returned seven years later during a summer vacation. Much to his surprise, Gladys was very much alive and "spooning out dinner to nine children all below the age of 7½." [There was one set of twins]. The youngsters was singing and hammering on the table, having a wonderful time. The mother was happier and more content than he had ever seen her. When the husband same home it was evident immediately that here was a pood but wildly happy family.

A new X-ray of the mother's chest revealed that the active lesions had disappeared completely. All this had happened in seven years in spite of the advice. Day believes that sheer contentment was probably responsible for the transformation.

EXCUSE ME

P. F. writes: Is there anything that will stop me from yawning? I get enough sleep.

REPLY

If fatigue, hunger, and poor ventilation can be ruled out the symptom may be psychological—due to boredom. When it occurs frequently, examination is in order to test the capacity of the lungs and the possibility of a disturbance elsewhere. If these are negative, you can conlude that a habit pattern has been established.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Saturday was national newspaper boys day and it really is a pleasure for me to write a few words in praise of the faithful and enterprising young American business men, especially since my route manager let me skip three blocks this morning so I'd have plenty of time.

I started my newspaper career when I was a boy back in Cleveland on the corner of 105th and Euclid.

That was back in the days when you could stil lbuy things with money and a penny was considered a legitimate price for a newspaper.

Among my regular customers was John D. Rockefeller, the Fort Knox of his day. Every afternoon Mr. Rockefeller's chauffeur would brake his limousine at my corner and John D. would accept a copy of the paper from my hot and grubby little hands. I never figured out Mr. Rockefeller's devotion to me, unless he just happened to like reading a newspaper that was smeared with either peanut butter or taffy.

Came the day when I didn't have the four cents change for Mr. Rockefeller's nickel and, figuring that he was pretty well established in the community and not likely to take advantage of my generosity by blowing town just because he had a financial advantage on me, I told him he could keep the nickel and pay for the paper the next day.

Mr. Rockefeller shook his head and told me to get the change from the corner store, and when I got back he said: "You should learn two things from this, son. When you're in business, always have change, and never give credit when you can get cash."

French Foreign Minister Bidault Offers To Mediate U. S.-Soviet Breach; Hughes Investigating Investigators; Truman Learns About European Rations

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There was a day when a visit of a high French official caused the Capital of the United States to turn handsprings —as, for instance, the pilgrimage of the late Pierre Laval, then Prime Minister of France.

When Laval was entertained by Hebert Hoover back in the good old days when foreign visitors were a novelty, white ties and cutaways were trotted out, ornate state dinners were thrown, and the capital stopped most of its other work to welcome the Premier of France.

Last week, however, the Capital bestirred itself hardly at all when Georges Bidault, Foreign Minister of France, arrived for a far more important visit. For, today, France is the pivotal country in western Europe in combatting communism. As France goes, so goes the rest of Europe. And the rosy-cheeked, slightly worried, energetic little man who visited Truman in the White House can help swing the balance in French politics.

No communiques were issued after Bidault's visit, as was the case after the Laval-Hoover conferences. Nevertheless, it can be revealed that Bidault made one particularly significant suggestion to the President: namely, that France might act as mediator in the ever-widening dispute between Washington and Moscow. Bidault warned that the battle between Russia and the United States is hurting world recovery,suggested that France might be able to ease the tension.

Bidault also turned down Secretary of State Marshall's proposal that France join its German occupation zone with those of the United States and Great Britain. The United States is anxious to operate all three zones as one economic unit, letting the Russians go their own way in their own zone.

Bidault, however, declined to cooperate. He argued that if France agreed to unite its occupation zone with the British and Americans now, it would only increase the tension between the capitalistic west and communistic east.

What he also had in mind unquestionably was that such a merger would raise political hob for him just before the November elections. The Communists would yell their heads off and might win votes as the result of such a merger.

Note—Bidault's strongest plea to Truman was to obtain a few million pounds of flour in order to raise the French bread ration to 300 grams before election day. Assurances were given that France would get the flour.

Under The Dome

Anxious to be nonpartisan, the Citizens Food Committee telephoned Aubany, N. Y., to tell Governor Dewey about their proposed voluntary food-rationing program. Dewey, however, was not available. Committee members asked if they could reach him the next day, but a subordinate replied that Dewey could not be reached—period. Food Committeemen got the impression the careful GOP politico was ducking . . . Speaker Joe Martin, reached by telephone in San Francisco, approved the food program but declined an invitation to go on the radio with President Truman. He suggested Republican Senator White of Maine instead . . . . Food Committee members were surprised to discover that the Agriculture Department, up to last week, had issued no appeal to farmers to curtail fattening of hogs and cattle.... The Agriculture Department is scaling down Europe's 16-nation estimate of what it will cost to implement the Marshall Plan. The farm experts claim that some nations included grain for livestock as an emergency food need . . . . Michigan's indefatigable Senator Ferguson is still bent on bringing Howard Hughes back to Washington for round 2 of the Senate hearing. Meanwhile, Hughes is secretly investigating the investigators. He has hired a private detective agency to watch the Senate subcommittee. . . . When President Truman's Commission on Civil Rights issues its report shortly, it will be disclosed that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. took a strong position against racial discrimination in the armed forces.

Farm Leader Spurs Truman

Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, the nation's biggest farm organization, is a mild-appearing, be-spectacled, little man you might mistake for a professor on leave from an Ivy League college.

However, Goss does some unprofessorial slugging on issues that interest him, and although he represents the farmer he also strongly believes in feeding Europe. Calling on President Truman the other day, Goss urged drastic steps to deal with the food crisis.

"This is an emergency, comparable to a wartime emergency," the farm leader told the President. "So we all must pitch in, tighten our belts and treat it as such.

"Until it is over, everybody—business, labor and the farmers —will have to be satisfied with a smaller margin of profit. I am sure you will find the farmers only too willing to do their part."

The Grange leader showed Truman a colored slide of a picture of one week's food rations in the American occupation zone in Germany, taken when Goss was in Frankfort during a European tour last spring. It was enough to cover a good-sized dinner plate, plus a small loaf of bread—a full week's supply for one person.

"That's typical of the countries now asking us for help," explained Goss. "Let me remind you that this picture was taken last spring. The people over there will get even less next spring unless we do something.

"You know what that means, Mr. President. Unless we meet our responsibility, the door will be opened to Communist insurrections and a Red sweep of Europe."

Truman said he was fully aware of this. He looked hard for some time at the colored slide and the meager amount of food on the plate.

"That's hard to believe," he said, reflectively. "In fact, it's downright appalling."

Roosevelt Mistake Gave To Russia Germany's Breadbasket

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

For the past two years, we have been spending hundreds of millions to keep Germans from starving. This burden will increase if Britain pulls out of Germany, as it is reported she intends to do.

The winners feed the losers! It takes a lot of mismanagement to create a situation where reparations are paid by the victors!

"Report on Germany," written by Lewis Brown, Chairman of the Board of Johns-Manville Corporation, has this to say: "Looked at from the standpoint of the subsequent division of Germany into four parts, the decision of President Roosevelt to stop the forward advance of western Allied armies until the Russian armies from the east could take eastern Germany and reach Berlin, was perhaps one of the most fatal mistakes that may well have repercussions in the pages of history still to be written."

Gave Stalin Breadbasket

This mistake gave Stalin the breadbasket of Germany and left us with the breadline. Eastern Germany, is chiefly agricultural; western Germany, industrial. Western Germany cannot grow enough food to live. Not only that, but our high officials agreed to the forced migration of 9,000,000 Germans from their farms and homes in eastern Germany, Poland and Sudetenland.

These millions of displaced persons have been jammed into western Germany which now has a greater population than before the war!

Cutting Germany in two cut the west off from: 65 per cent of her rye, the basis for black bread; 65 percent of her potatoes, the second largest German food staple; 45 per cent of her wheat; 65 per cent of her sug beets, as well as 70 per cent of her brown coal, and 75 per cent of her potash, vital for fertilizer.

Because the millions in industrial Germany don't have enough food, they haven't enough energy to mine coal and manufacture goods.

We now have the largest number of military hostages in the history of the world and the moral responsibility that goes with that fact.

As Mr. Brown says, the "industrial Ruhr is the primary instrument through which the effect of the loss of the breadbasket is transmitted to the world." Because food no longer flows in from the east, Ruhr coal and German exports, so vital to her existence, are reduced to a small fraction of the amount necessary to get Germany off our backs. It is the old story of losing the battle because a horse lost a shoe for want of a nail.

Socialists Run British Zone

In addition, the British zone in Germany is run by British Socialists. German business men who might make a better effort to get things going again, are confronted with the question whether the Socialists will take their businesses away. Who, except politicians who play with "other people's money," would put a penny into the repair of factories when the threat of socialization hangs over them?

An exceptionally able German mechanic, with a wife and child, gets 300 marks a month take-home pay after "social security" deductions. He has a ration card which allows him 2,000 calories a day, his wife 1,500, and the child something less. This is about half the amount needed for health and vigorous work. Slow starvation is the result.

If this family tries to supplement their meagre rations by buying in the black market, a pound of butter costs 300 marks, or a month's pay!

Our high officials listened to the Volga Boat Song a long time! They gave Stalin the whip hand, the breadbasket and the veto.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The Supreme Court opened Monday and the boys are not speaking, five to four.

It goes back to Stungwell Jackson's beef on the SEC decision, five to two. He delivered a stinging denunciation, one to eight.

Fighting for the ashes of his fathers and the altars of his legal gods, Jackson said the summer decision abets conscious lawlessness by legal agencies. I'll abet you six to three it doesn't.

Anyway, the gears of justice are clogged and the lads are loafing on all four corners of their square hats.

Law and order is a wonderful thing. It is too bad they cannot get together.

Russia Worried About Public Opinion Outside Her Country

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—If nine nations, including the United States, were to band together and open an "Information Bureau" in Paris to advance the cause of "democracy" and oppose the doctrines of "totalitarianism," the plan would hardy cause a ripple inside this country. But the Russians might be just as perturbed as some Americans are today over the nine-nation Information Bureau to be set up by the communists.

The incident should be welcomed, for it gives the democracies a great move. So long as the "Communist" organization proposes to confine itself to accusations, distortions and misrepresentations — mere printed and spoken words—there should be no cause for alarm.

If the new organization proposes to engage in violence or revolutions inside democratic countries, this can be dealt with as the democracies know well how to cope with "fifth columns." Indeed, there is good reason to doubt that any such objective is intended, for the purpose of the new Information Bureau is apparently political—to win supporters for the political parties sponsored by the communists in various countries.

Need For "Voice of America"

The decision to carry on a campaign of words in favor of communist politics, and particularly of the maneuvers of the Soviet, should be greeted with cheers by those Americans inside and outside the government who last year urged Congress to appropriate substantial funds for the "Voice of America."

While the amount asked for by the Department of State then was around $25,000,000, Congress hesitated because of a belief that the money would not or could not be disbursed effectively. What is needed now is an appropriation of perhaps $50,000,000 to $75,000,000,000 or even more to finance a network of information bureaus and radio stations throughout the world to answer Russian misrepresentations and to put forth the facts about Russia's non-cooperative policies.

This is not the kind of thing that the American people relish. Propaganda by their own government, no matter how worthy its purpose, is not palatable. But in the midst of what has become a state of "cold war" between Russia and America, precedents go by the boards.

The United Nations Assembly is not the place for these debates and propaganda battles. That organization might better confine itself to the more dignified aspects of international relations. But propaganda bureaus now become for the United States at least a necessary evil.

The contest of the future in the countries outside the "Iron Curtain" is wholly one of information. Unless the press and radio of the various countries are told the truth about America's purposes in connection with the Marshall Plan and unless information in answer to the contradictions and misconceptions issued by the Russians is disseminated, it could conceivably happen that the billions of dollars about to be voted by Congress might be used by foreign governments controlled by political forces actually responsible to the Communists.

Russia Apparently Worried

It is apparent from past experience that the peoples of Western Europe and other countries are reachable by the printed word and by radio. It is apparent also that Russia is considerably worried about public opinion outside Russia or else there would be no such ambitious project established as that which is soon to be put into operation from Belgrade.

While controversies of words are to be deplored as perhaps inflaming peoples and arousing hate that might lead to hostilities later on. There is always the possibility that bitter words can neutralize each other and persuade the major governments of the world that maybe they can find a more sensible means of resolving their differences

When it comes to "information," however, either by printed or spoken word, there's an old slogan famous in the automobile world which can now be adapted for the occasion: "When bigger and better propaganda bureaus are built, America will build them."

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

HISTORICAL MONOPOLY

CHARLES A. BEARD, formerly professor at Columbia University and the author of a bookshelf of the most profound studies on the subject, raises the issue of faking history.

"Uncle Charley," as we called Beard when he taught us what the Constitution meant to say, is one of those tough fighters who goes after a fact with all the excitement of a big game hunter. He abhors the lie, the bluff, the fake and the trick. His most recent roar against fraud is in the "Saturday Evening Post" where he calls attention to the fact that the American government, in partnership with the Rockefeller Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations, is fixing it so that those historians who slant their stuff to fit State Department policy will be permitted to look at the so-called secret documents. Other scholars will have to wait a generation or more until they can get a look.

Meanwhile, the American people will continue to be hoaxed as they were over Pearl Harbor and the Singapore, Teheran, Yalta, Moscow and Potsdam Conferences. Here, in gist, is Professor Beard's gripe:

"The Rockefeller Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations . . . intend to prevent, if they can, a repetition of what they call in the vernacular 'the debunking journalistic campaign following World War I.' Translated into precise English, this means that the foundation and the council do not want journalists or any other persons to examine too closely and criticize too freely the official propaganda and official statements relative to 'our basic aims and activities' during World War II. In short, they hope that, among other things, the policies and measures of Franklin D. Roosevelt will escape in coming years the critical analysis, evaluation and exposition that befell the policies and measures of President Woodrow Wilson and the Entente Allies after World War I."

So the Rockefeller Foundation puts up $139,000 which the Council on Foreign Relations will spend. This Council is a stuffed-shirt affair of highbrow internationalists who meet occasionally to discuss the affairs of the world. It publishes a very, very superior magazine. The Council and its magazine have generally stood in right with the State Department.

So the Council, subsidized by the Rockefeller Foundation, has hired Professor William Langer of Harvard to write "a clear and competent" history of World War II. And apparently the State Department will come across with "exceptional access to materials bearing on foreign relations." Beard says:

". . . The professor confirms it in the preface to his recent volume —Our Vichy Gamble—a spirited defense of the Roosevelt Administration's policy in dealing with Vichy France. He undertook this work at the suggestion of Secretary Hull, who was disturbed by press attacks on the Vichy policy. For use in preparing it, he was furnished secret documents or digests of such documents by President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull, Admiral Leahy and the War Department."

In other worlds, here is monopolistic scholarship, the sort of thing Hitler did and Stalin does and which we in America criticize so freely in others. Who, in the government, has a legal right to establish such a monopoly? By what act of Congress? Charles A. Beard says of it:

". . . Instead of promoting the liberty of research . . . subsidized histories of this kind, prepared to serve a purpose fixed in advance, are more likely to perpetuate errors than to elminate them. At best, in such complicated affairs as World War II, truth is difficult to discover and establish . . . Official archives must be open to all citizens on equal terms, with special privileges for none; inquiries must be wide and deep as well as uncensored; and the competition of ideas in the forum of public opinion must be free from political interests or restraints."

This is a suitable subject for a Congressional Committee. The Morgenthau Diaries, as far as they go, disclose that the American people were fooled plenty. The Pearl Harbor investigation and the Morgenstern book, "Pearl Harbor," prove that we were deceived. Secretary of State Hull's memoirs, about to be published, will disclose, beyond doubt, that he was often out of touch with American policy as Morgenthau alleges.

Let us get at the truth—without slanting, without policy, without monopoly to favored groups.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Just Don't Say It!

Words are mighty things. Often they are as essential for health as is medicine when ill. And they can be made as potent as poison.. How very important, then, that only words of cheer, encouragement, and good will should be uttered.

How many times we feel like coming back at the other fellow for the expression of some unkind and unjust retort—but just don't say it! Words can never be recalled, and they lodge tightly in the memory—sometimes for so long as one lives.

We should face unkind remarks with the same sort of courage that we face fists! But words have a higher function to perform than fists. They can be like oil on troubled waters. They can perform miracles. Bitter words die for lack of contact with other bitter words, so that when tempted to outdo the other fellow, in cutting words, just don't say them.

Every medical man, or student of the body, can testify as to the power that words have in the preservation of health and in keping a high tone to the bodily system. Mere words can cause the human body to shake with fear—when there is no fear. How quickly the body responds to the words of a doctor who tells his patient, who has come to him full of tears and worries, that there is nothing to worry about. Words can damage, as though they were bullets. But when wrapped in encouragement they can lift a life from his cellar of lonliness and discouragement to the very roof of his being—where the sunshine gleams!

The tragic thing about this after war period is that so many bitter—and often false—words, are uttered to cloud up the efforts of those sincerely working for a better world in which peace and good-will might prevail. A friend of mine, just returned from the centre of Europe, tells me that the word hate is almost a universal one there.

We may think as we please, and no one is harmed but ourselves if we have unkind thoughts, but the moment words leap from our lips, they influence for good or ill. So if you have something mean to say —just don't say it!

Judge Henderson Deals With Bond-Forfeiting

Every now and then Judges of the Circuit Court for Allegany County have found it necessary to call attention of Grandjurors to the fact that those charged with city law violations, and who forfeit their bonds rather than stand trial, does not prevent the recharging of those offenders by the Grandjury under a state or county law for the same offense.

Associate Judge George Henderson included that information in charging the October Grandjury this week. In all probability he was prompted in this by the fact that in a number of recent instances offenders of the gambling and liquor statutes have been arrested by city authorities, have posted bond for a later hearing and then have not bothered to appear in court to defend themselves, permitting the money they furnished to gain their freedom from custody to be forfeited. That does not, necessarily, place the stamp of guilt upon the accused, although it might be assumed the person charged had no defense, and rather than run the risk of more severe punishment took the line of least resistance.

Of course, it is possible that the offenders in such cases would not have been dealt with any more severely had they stood trial, and Judge Henderson took cognizance of this in his comments and citation of the authority invested in the Grandjury by advising members of this all-powerful county inquest body to consider "the circumstances of the case and particularly the penalty already imposed (or the amount forfeited) in deciding whether further proceedings are proper."

But Judge Henderson left no doubt in the mind of anyone associated with the county law-enforcement machinery that he expects steps to be taken to see that violators are adequately punished. After all, forfeiting a bond of, say $200, is an insignificant sum to be permitted to be paid for the privilege of breaking the liquor laws or for flaunting statutes that forbid gambling. The responsibility for correcting such practices lies in the hands of the Grandjury.

The forefeiting of bonds by violators of various types of lawbreakings has been a custom of many years standing. Especially is this true in cases involving liquor law violations and gambling, and the fact that such cases have not been further pursued, so as to bring about more severe punishment against those accused, places the entire procedure in the category of unfinished business, and prevents a full airing of circumstances surrounding the breaking of laws on the statute books.

The point raised by Judge Henderson in his Grandjury charge was timely, and it should be kept firmly in mind by those who are expected to make a sincere effort to enforce the laws.

The recharging and rearresting of violators under Grandjury indictments, and the assessment of fines or sentences to fit the crime, will go far in bringing order within those businesses licensed to operate, or force out of business those engaged in outlawed activities.

Those Seven Days Of The Fall Baseball Classic

It was the most entertaining and therefore the most salubrious World Championship contest of the present century. The Dodgers made it so. Nobody thought they had much of a chance, and when the Yankees took the first two games it was freely predicted that they would also take the next two and sweep the board. That was our opinion although, to be frank, we had wanted to see the Bums win.

But the Dodgers put on the always dramatic spectacle of a team coming from behind and refusing to stay there. Win or lose, Brooklyn is always interesting, usually exciting, amusing to boot; and behind the team are the most colorful fans in the country, on whose shifting emotions it plays as on a steam calliope. The seventh game found the two contestants on even terms, New York winning in the end by 5 to 2 to take the championship.

People will long remember those seven days, with the two contestants see-sawing back and forth, an unprecedented procession of players passing in and out of both teams, the unprecedented prowess of the rookies and the plentitude of circus catches in the outfield—two of them robbing the Yankees of two games. Their gift to the country was that they had its inhabitants on the qui vive, put everybody in good humor, dropped the troubles for the time below the horizon, and presented the spectacle, if but for a moment, of an all-embracing brotherhood.

Even Vishinsky was discovered burying his nose in the sporting pages. Now if—but why toy with the impossible?

Hollywood Couldn't Have Done Better In Make-Believe

The Overell-Gollum trial is over and the nation can go back to worrying about such things as famine in Europe, natural disasters and the possibility of a third world war. But as it does so, the thinking element of the population will shake its head over this fantastic travesty of justice.

This was just the sort of thing that Americans have come to associate with Hollywood. Yet Hollywood, even in its worst moments, could hardly have concocted anything quite so disgusting as this performance, which was supposed to be the deadly serious trial of a man and woman for murder. If it had, its own censors would have killed it as a threat to public morals.

The Overell-Gollum trial had all the recognized spicy ingredients. There were the torrid love letters which the defendants wrote each other during the trial and which the jury devoured. There were the women jurors who embraced Miss Overell after the verdict of acquittal. There were the wild demonstrations in the court room. And then there were the thousands of interested spectators who swarmed in the streets outside the courthouse.

The plain fact is that this long, costly trial was a sordid farce. It had little of the solemn proceedings which are supposed to make the democratic justice the best in history and represented all the worst features of a circus and a fourth-estate dramatic spectacle. The nation should be ashamed and disturbed that the dignity of the law and the orderly process of justice should be capable of sinking quite so low.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE TREAD OF LIFE

NOW and then a gravely ill person cheats death by developing that intangible "will to live" while fighting for his life. The phenomenon is difficult to explain, but physicians are aware of its presence. The converse is also true; when the patience gives up, he often plunges downhill rapidly.

The sick individual who is cheerful usually recovers faster than one who is fearful or lack confidence in what in being done. For this reason, medicos try to keep the patient's morale high and lend as much encouragement as possible. Thus the mavimum cooperation is obtained and convalence hastened.

The problem is more difficult when mind and body are affected simultaneously. The individual who is indifferent to life in general may not care to resume the struggle. The stress or strain of business is sometimes too heavy, family troubles may make existence seem black, unrequited love may take away the urge to continue, or facing the future with a chronic disease cannot be faced. When this occurs, the physician frequently assumes the role of father confessor or business consultant, as well as medical advisor.

Not long ago, while browsing thru a British medical journal, my attentio nwas caught by an article by George Day on the psychology of the tuberculous. The author was a resident physician i n a sanitorium and having leisure time, often talked at length to his patients. He cited several examples of victims of tuberculosis who were not making the grade because they were emotionally disturbed or depressed over certain situations. When these factors were rectified the majority made rapid improvement and continued thereafter in good health. One suc hcase was as puzzling to him as it would have been to any one else.

Gladys was 19 and Day first saw her when she was working as a cook in the home of a patient of his. On leaving the house she wahted to know if it "made any difference" if she was coughing up blood. It did, as an X-ray on the following day revealed advanced tuberculosis on both sides of her chest.

Sanitarium care was started and she gained weight and looked much better. The activity of the disease lessened and she was sent home. Day lost track of her until a year and a half later when she came to his office. She had married in the meantime and was seven months pregnant. As was expected the malady flared up after the baby was born and several months passed before she was well. The physician recommended in no uncertain terms that she have no more children.

This time Day left the country but returned seven years later during a summer vacation. Much to his surprise, Gladys was very much alive and "spooning out dinner to nine children all below the age of 7½." [There was one set of twins]. The youngsters was singing and hammering on the table, having a wonderful time. The mother was happier and more content than he had ever seen her. When the husband same home it was evident immediately that here was a pood but wildly happy family.

A new X-ray of the mother's chest revealed that the active lesions had disappeared completely. All this had happened in seven years in spite of the advice. Day believes that sheer contentment was probably responsible for the transformation.

EXCUSE ME

P. F. writes: Is there anything that will stop me from yawning? I get enough sleep.

REPLY

If fatigue, hunger, and poor ventilation can be ruled out the symptom may be psychological—due to boredom. When it occurs frequently, examination is in order to test the capacity of the lungs and the possibility of a disturbance elsewhere. If these are negative, you can conlude that a habit pattern has been established.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Saturday was national newspaper boys day and it really is a pleasure for me to write a few words in praise of the faithful and enterprising young American business men, especially since my route manager let me skip three blocks this morning so I'd have plenty of time.

I started my newspaper career when I was a boy back in Cleveland on the corner of 105th and Euclid.

That was back in the days when you could stil lbuy things with money and a penny was considered a legitimate price for a newspaper.

Among my regular customers was John D. Rockefeller, the Fort Knox of his day. Every afternoon Mr. Rockefeller's chauffeur would brake his limousine at my corner and John D. would accept a copy of the paper from my hot and grubby little hands. I never figured out Mr. Rockefeller's devotion to me, unless he just happened to like reading a newspaper that was smeared with either peanut butter or taffy.

Came the day when I didn't have the four cents change for Mr. Rockefeller's nickel and, figuring that he was pretty well established in the community and not likely to take advantage of my generosity by blowing town just because he had a financial advantage on me, I told him he could keep the nickel and pay for the paper the next day.

Mr. Rockefeller shook his head and told me to get the change from the corner store, and when I got back he said: "You should learn two things from this, son. When you're in business, always have change, and never give credit when you can get cash."

French Foreign Minister Bidault Offers To Mediate U. S.-Soviet Breach; Hughes Investigating Investigators; Truman Learns About European Rations

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There was a day when a visit of a high French official caused the Capital of the United States to turn handsprings —as, for instance, the pilgrimage of the late Pierre Laval, then Prime Minister of France.

When Laval was entertained by Hebert Hoover back in the good old days when foreign visitors were a novelty, white ties and cutaways were trotted out, ornate state dinners were thrown, and the capital stopped most of its other work to welcome the Premier of France.

Last week, however, the Capital bestirred itself hardly at all when Georges Bidault, Foreign Minister of France, arrived for a far more important visit. For, today, France is the pivotal country in western Europe in combatting communism. As France goes, so goes the rest of Europe. And the rosy-cheeked, slightly worried, energetic little man who visited Truman in the White House can help swing the balance in French politics.

No communiques were issued after Bidault's visit, as was the case after the Laval-Hoover conferences. Nevertheless, it can be revealed that Bidault made one particularly significant suggestion to the President: namely, that France might act as mediator in the ever-widening dispute between Washington and Moscow. Bidault warned that the battle between Russia and the United States is hurting world recovery,suggested that France might be able to ease the tension.

Bidault also turned down Secretary of State Marshall's proposal that France join its German occupation zone with those of the United States and Great Britain. The United States is anxious to operate all three zones as one economic unit, letting the Russians go their own way in their own zone.

Bidault, however, declined to cooperate. He argued that if France agreed to unite its occupation zone with the British and Americans now, it would only increase the tension between the capitalistic west and communistic east.

What he also had in mind unquestionably was that such a merger would raise political hob for him just before the November elections. The Communists would yell their heads off and might win votes as the result of such a merger.

Note—Bidault's strongest plea to Truman was to obtain a few million pounds of flour in order to raise the French bread ration to 300 grams before election day. Assurances were given that France would get the flour.

Under The Dome

Anxious to be nonpartisan, the Citizens Food Committee telephoned Aubany, N. Y., to tell Governor Dewey about their proposed voluntary food-rationing program. Dewey, however, was not available. Committee members asked if they could reach him the next day, but a subordinate replied that Dewey could not be reached—period. Food Committeemen got the impression the careful GOP politico was ducking . . . Speaker Joe Martin, reached by telephone in San Francisco, approved the food program but declined an invitation to go on the radio with President Truman. He suggested Republican Senator White of Maine instead . . . . Food Committee members were surprised to discover that the Agriculture Department, up to last week, had issued no appeal to farmers to curtail fattening of hogs and cattle.... The Agriculture Department is scaling down Europe's 16-nation estimate of what it will cost to implement the Marshall Plan. The farm experts claim that some nations included grain for livestock as an emergency food need . . . . Michigan's indefatigable Senator Ferguson is still bent on bringing Howard Hughes back to Washington for round 2 of the Senate hearing. Meanwhile, Hughes is secretly investigating the investigators. He has hired a private detective agency to watch the Senate subcommittee. . . . When President Truman's Commission on Civil Rights issues its report shortly, it will be disclosed that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. took a strong position against racial discrimination in the armed forces.

Farm Leader Spurs Truman

Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, the nation's biggest farm organization, is a mild-appearing, be-spectacled, little man you might mistake for a professor on leave from an Ivy League college.

However, Goss does some unprofessorial slugging on issues that interest him, and although he represents the farmer he also strongly believes in feeding Europe. Calling on President Truman the other day, Goss urged drastic steps to deal with the food crisis.

"This is an emergency, comparable to a wartime emergency," the farm leader told the President. "So we all must pitch in, tighten our belts and treat it as such.

"Until it is over, everybody—business, labor and the farmers—will have to be satisfied with a smaller margin of profit. I am sure you will find the farmers only too willing to do their part."

The Grange leader showed Truman a colored slide of a picture of one week's food rations in the American occupation zone in Germany, taken when Goss was in Frankfort during a European tour last spring. It was enough to cover a good-sized dinner plate, plus a small loaf of bread—a full week's supply for one person.

"That's typical of the countries now asking us for help," explained Goss. "Let me remind you that this picture was taken last spring. The people over there will get even less next spring unless we do something.

"You know what that means, Mr. President. Unless we meet our responsibility, the door will be opened to Communist insurrections and a Red sweep of Europe."

Truman said he was fully aware of this. He looked hard for some time at the colored slide and the meager amount of food on the plate.

"That's hard to believe," he said, reflectively. "In fact, it's downright appalling."

Roosevelt Mistake Gave To Russia Germany's Breadbasket

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

For the past two years, we have been spending hundreds of millions to keep Germans from starving. This burden will increase if Britain pulls out of Germany, as it is reported she intends to do.

The winners feed the losers! It takes a lot of mismanagement to create a situation where reparations are paid by the victors!

"Report on Germany," written by Lewis Brown, Chairman of the Board of Johns-Manville Corporation, has this to say: "Looked at from the standpoint of the subsequent division of Germany into four parts, the decision of President Roosevelt to stop the forward advance of western Allied armies until the Russian armies from the east could take eastern Germany and reach Berlin, was perhaps one of the most fatal mistakes that may well have repercussions in the pages of history still to be written."

Gave Stalin Breadbasket

This mistake gave Stalin the breadbasket of Germany and left us with the breadline. Eastern Germany, is chiefly agricultural; western Germany, industrial. Western Germany cannot grow enough food to live. Not only that, but our high officials agreed to the forced migration of 9,000,000 Germans from their farms and homes in eastern Germany, Poland and Sudetenland.

These millions of displaced persons have been jammed into western Germany which now has a greater population than before the war!

Cutting Germany in two cut the west off from: 65 per cent of her rye, the basis for black bread; 65 percent of her potatoes, the second largest German food staple; 45 per cent of her wheat; 65 per cent of her sug beets, as well as 70 per cent of her brown coal, and 75 per cent of her potash, vital for fertilizer.

Because the millions in industrial Germany don't have enough food, they haven't enough energy to mine coal and manufacture goods.

We now have the largest number of military hostages in the history of the world and the moral responsibility that goes with that fact.

As Mr. Brown says, the "industrial Ruhr is the primary instrument through which the effect of the loss of the breadbasket is transmitted to the world." Because food no longer flows in from the east, Ruhr coal and German exports, so vital to her existence, are reduced to a small fraction of the amount necessary to get Germany off our backs. It is the old story of losing the battle because a horse lost a shoe for want of a nail.

Socialists Run British Zone

In addition, the British zone in Germany is run by British Socialists. German business men who might make a better effort to get things going again, are confronted with the question whether the Socialists will take their businesses away. Who, except politicians who play with "other people's money," would put a penny into the repair of factories when the threat of socialization hangs over them?

An exceptionally able German mechanic, with a wife and child, gets 300 marks a month take-home pay after "social security" deductions. He has a ration card which allows him 2,000 calories a day, his wife 1,500, and the child something less. This is about half the amount needed for health and vigorous work. Slow starvation is the result.

If this family tries to supplement their meagre rations by buying in the black market, a pound of butter costs 300 marks, or a month's pay!

Our high officials listened to the Volga Boat Song a long time! They gave Stalin the whip hand, the breadbasket and the veto.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The Supreme Court opened Monday and the boys are not speaking, five to four.

It goes back to Stungwell Jackson's beef on the SEC decision, five to two. He delivered a stinging denunciation, one to eight.

Fighting for the ashes of his fathers and the altars of his legal gods, Jackson said the summer decision abets conscious lawlessness by legal agencies. I'll abet you six to three it doesn't.

Anyway, the gears of justice are clogged and the lads are loafing on all four corners of their square hats.

Law and order is a wonderful thing. It is too bad they cannot get together.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—If nine nations, including the United States, were to band together and open an "Information Bureau" in Paris to advance the cause of "democracy" and oppose the doctrines of "totalitarianism," the plan would hardy cause a ripple inside this country. But the Russians might be just as perturbed as some Americans are today over the nine-nation Information Bureau to be set up by the communists.

The incident should be welcomed, for it gives the democracies a great move. So long as the "Communist" organization proposes to confine itself to accusations, distortions and misrepresentations — mere printed and spoken words—there should be no cause for alarm.

If the new organization proposes to engage in violence or revolutions inside democratic countries, this can be dealt with as the democracies know well how to cope with "fifth columns." Indeed, there is good reason to doubt that any such objective is intended, for the purpose of the new Information Bureau is apparently political—to win supporters for the political parties sponsored by the communists in various countries.

Need For "Voice of America"

The decision to carry on a campaign of words in favor of communist politics, and particularly of the maneuvers of the Soviet, should be greeted with cheers by those Americans inside and outside the government who last year urged Congress to appropriate substantial funds for the "Voice of America."

While the amount asked for by the Department of State then was around $25,000,000, Congress hesitated because of a belief that the money would not or could not be disbursed effectively. What is needed now is an appropriation of perhaps $50,000,000 to $75,000,000,000 or even more to finance a network of information bureaus and radio stations throughout the world to answer Russian misrepresentations and to put forth the facts about Russia's non-cooperative policies.

This is not the kind of thing that the American people relish. Propaganda by their own government, no matter how worthy its purpose, is not palatable. But in the midst of what has become a state of "cold war" between Russia and America, precedents go by the boards.

The United Nations Assembly is not the place for these debates and propaganda battles. That organization might better confine itself to the more dignified aspects of international relations. But propaganda bureaus now become for the United States at least a necessary evil.

The contest of the future in the countries outside the "Iron Curtain" is wholly one of information. Unless the press and radio of the various countries are told the truth about America's purposes in connection with the Marshall Plan and unless information in answer to the contradictions and misconceptions issued by the Russians is disseminated, it could conceivably happen that the billions of dollars about to be voted by Congress might be used by foreign governments controlled by political forces actually responsible to the Communists.

Russia Apparently Worried

It is apparent from past experience that the peoples of Western Europe and other countries are reachable by the printed word and by radio. It is apparent also that Russia is considerably worried about public opinion outside Russia or else there would be no such ambitious project established as that which is soon to be put into operation from Belgrade.

While controversies of words are to be deplored as perhaps inflaming peoples and arousing hates that might lead to hostilities later on. There is always the possibility that bitter words can neutralize each other and persuade the major governments of the world that maybe they can find a more sensible means of resolving their differences.

When it comes to "information," however, either by printed or spoken word, there's an old slogan famous in the automobile world which can now be adapted for the occasion: "When bigger and better propaganda bureaus are built, America will build them."

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

HISTORICAL MONOPLY

CHARLES A. BEARD, formerly professor at Columbia University and the author of a bookshelf of the most profound studies on the subject, raises the issue of faking history.

"Uncle Charley," as we called Beard when he taught us what the Constitution meant to say, is one of those tough fighters who goes after a fact with all the excitement of a big game hunter. He abhors the lie, the bluff, the fake and the trick. His most recent roar against fraud is in the "Saturday Evening Post" where he calls attention to the fact that the American government, in partnership with the Rockefeller Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations, is fixing it so that those historians who slant their stuff to fit State Department policy will be permitted to look at the so-called secret documents. Other scholars will have to wait a generation or more until they can get a look.

Meanwhile, the American people will continue to be hoaxed as they were over Pearl Harbor and the Singapore, Teheran, Yalta, Moscow and Potsdam Conferences. Here, in gist, is Professor Beard's gripe:

"The Rockefeller Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations . . . intend to prevent, if they can, a repetition of what they call in the vernacular 'the debunking journalistic campaign following World War I.' Translated into precise English, this means that the foundation and the council do not want journalists or any other persons to examine too closely and criticize too freely the official propaganda and official statements relative to 'our basic aims and activities' during World War II. In short, they hope that, among other things, the policies and measures of Franklin D. Roosevelt will escape in coming years the critical analysis, evaluation and exposition that befell the policies and measures of President Woodrow Wilson and the Entente Allies after World War I."

So the Rockefeller Foundation puts up $139,000 which the Council on Foreign Relations will spend. This Council is a stuffed-shirt affair of highbrow internationalists who meet occasionally to discuss the affairs of the world. It publishes a very, very superior magazine. The Council and its magazine have generally stood in right with the State Department.

So the Council, subsidized by the Rockefeller Foundation, has hired Professor William Langer of Harvard to write "a clear and competent" history of World War II. And apparently the State Department will come across with "exceptional access to materials bearing on foreign relations." Beard says:

". . . The professor confirms it in the preface to his recent volume —Our Vichy Gamble—a spirited defense of the Roosevelt Administration's policy in dealing with Vichy France. He undertook this work at the suggestion of Secretary Hull, who was disturbed by press attacks on the Vichy policy. For use in preparing it, he was furnished secret documents or digests of such documents by President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull, Admiral Leahy and the War Department."

In other worlds, here is monopolistic scholarship, the sort of thing Hitler did and Stalin does and which we in America criticize so freely in others. Who, in the government, has a legal right to establish such a monopoly? By what act of Congress? Charles A. Beard says of it:

". . . Instead of promoting the liberty of research . . . subsidized histories of this kind, prepared to serve a purpose fixed in advance, are more likely to perpetuate errors than to eliminate them. At best, in such complicated affairs as World War II, truth is difficult to discover and establish . . . Official archives must be open to all citizens on equal terms, with special privileges for none; inquiries must be wide and deep as well as uncensored; and the competition of ideas in the forum of public opinion must be free from political interests or restraints."

This is a suitable subject for a Congressional Committee. The Morgenthau Diaries, as far as they go, disclose that the American people were fooled plenty. The Pearl Harbor investigation and the Morgenstern book, "Pearl Harbor," prove that we were deceived. Secretary of State Hull's memoirs, about to be published, will disclose, beyond doubt, that he was often out of touch with American policy as Morgenthau alleges.

Let us get at the truth—without slanting, without policy, without monopoly to favored groups.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Just Don't Say It!

Words are mighty things. Often they are as essential for health as is medicine when ill. And they can be made as potent as poison. How very important, then, that only words of cheer, encouragement, and good will should be uttered.

How many times we feel like coming back at the other fellow for the expression of some unkind and unjust retort—but just don't say it! Words can never be recalled, and they lodge tightly in the memory—sometimes for so long as one lives.

We should face unkind remarks with the same sort of courage that we face fists! But words have a higher function to perform than fists. They can be like oil on troubled waters. They can perform miracles. Bitter words die for lack of contact with other bitter words, so that when tempted to outdo the other fellow, in cutting words, just don't say them.

Every medical man, or student of the body, can testify as to the power that words have in the preservation of health and in keping a high tone to the bodily system. Mere words can cause the human body to shake with fear—when there is no fear. How quickly the body responds to the words of a doctor who tells his patient, who has come to him full of tears and worries, that there is nothing to worry about. Words can damage, as though they were bullets. But when wrapped in encouragement they can lift a life from his cellar of lonliness and discouragement to the very roof of his being—where the sunshine gleams!

The tragic thing about this after war period is that so many bitter—and often false—words, are uttered to cloud up the efforts of those sincerely working for a better world in which peace and good-will might prevail. A friend of mine, just returned from the centre of Europe, tells me that the word hate is almost a universal one there.

We may think as we please, and no one is harmed but ourselves if we have unkind thoughts, but the moment words leap from our lips, they influence for good or ill. So if you have something mean to say—just don't say it!

Approximately 300 World War II Victory medals and 90 American Defense medals have arrived for distribution at the local Army Recruiting station, Union Street Building, according to Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, officer in charge.

Stars and clasps for the American Defense medal, awarded to servicemen who were overseas on December 7, 1941, are also available. Proof of these facts must be presented.

Veterans must present honorable discharge papers before receiving the medals.

Capt. Bairstow said that Nelson Edison Bucklew, Keyser, W. Va., enlisted as a private for three years. He had five months' previous service. Donald Francis Fazenbaker, Westernport, enlisted as a private in ordnance for three years.

Mary Larkins Sherman Sets Oct. 18 For Wedding

To Become Bride Of John Hamilton Main

Mrs. Mary Larkins Sherman has chosen October 18 for her marriage to John Hamilton Main, 620 Washington Street. The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized by Rev. David C. Watson at 6 p. m. in Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

The daughter of Edward DeSales Larkins, 409 Bedford Street, and the late Mrs. Larkins, Mrs. Sherman is the widow of Capt. Irving Bruce Sherman, AUS, Boston, Mass. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stillman Main, La-Solana Inn, Pasadena, Calif.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegany High School and attended Ursuline Academy and Frostburg State Teachers College, where she was a member of the Little Theatre and Phi Omicron Delta.

Mr. Main studied at Evanston, Ill., schools and is an alumnus of California Institute of Technology. During the war he served as a lieutenant commander on the USS Currituck in the South Pacific. He is employed on the staff of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Mrs. Sherman has recently returned from a shopping trip to Washington, D. C., and New York City. While in Washington she was the guest of her paternal aunt, Mrs. James M. Larkins, and Miss Jean Marie Larkins, cousin of the bride, entertained with a luncheon and theater party in her honor.

Miss Julie Kintzinger, Town House, was hostess to Mrs. Sherman during her visit in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Magid, Forest Hills, L. I., honored Mrs. Sherman with a dinner party at the Hotel Pierre.

Jack Platt Discusses School Music Program

Jack E. Platt described music in the schools in his talk on "Music Past, Present and Future," at the meeting of the Music Group of the Woman's Civic Club earlier in the week at the library. He touched on voice instruction in the elementary schools and remarked they have to depend more on the class room teacher to teach music.

Mr. Platt described the new music book, "The American Singer," being used and pointed out that it is also used at Peabody. The music taught in the first three grades is to develop good singing tones and in the fourth grade some basic information is taught. He also described the rhythmic activities engaged in from the fourth grade on, with the use of recordings from 21 albums of four numbers each.

The group piano lessons taught in the schools to give the children a taste for music was also discussed, as well as the band, orchestra and choral group.

Mr. Platt spoke of the music festivals in Europe and how they develop music appreciation. He expressed his approval of them and his plans to hold a three-day festival here during the holidays. The speaker expressed a belief that good will in Europe could be developed by sending American concert groups on tour of Europe to acquaint them with American music.

Mrs. Henry C. Swearingen introduced the speaker and Mrs. William L. Keller presided and outlined the programs for the year.

James A. Jones Weds Miss Mary England

The marriage of Miss Mary England, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Mellon, 122 Thomas Street, to James A. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones, 741 Maryland Avenue, was performed yesterday in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Rev. Joseph A. Grazianni officiating.

Miss Rosemarie Milburn and James Mellon were their attendants.

The bride attended SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy, and is employed by the Celanese. The bridegroom, a veteran of Naval service, attended Westernport High School and is employed at the Celanese.

Following a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a brief wedding trip.

Circle Plans Project

Members of the Jean Rowland Club of Melvin Chapel met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Bernard Baker with Edith Street presiding and opening the program on "Christianity in Action Through Social Work," with Catherine Zais in charge and others participating.

The group decided to buy four more sets of baskets to sell and a couple of the girls added to the round robbin letter which members write to Jean Rowland.

A project for next month is to bring toys for boys and girls in Puerto Rico. Louella Perdew was in charge of the worship service and Dorothy Street, the games. Refreshments were served with Martha Day assisting the hostess in serving.

Two visitors, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Young and 13 members attended.

Goldie Imes and Shirley Fier will be hostesses for the next meeting at the latter's home, 135 Reynolds Street.

Scottish Rite-DeMolay Dinner To Be Held Nov. 12

George Bailey To Be Entertainer

Cumberland Consistory is sponsoring a Scottish Rite-DeMolay dinner November 12. It is to be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, beginning at 6:30 and will inaugurate a more active program for the DeMolay, which the Scottish Rite sponsors.

George Bailey, after dinner speaker and diversified entertainer, will feature the program. Each of the 150 Scottish Rite members expected to attend is entitled to a guest.

Tentative plans have been made also for a holiday dance.

Thomas E. Gilchrist, Sr., is chairman of arrangements, assisted by Lawrence H. Shafferman and Edward R. Allen.

Charles E. Hartung To Wed Doris W. Phillips

The marriage of Miss Doris W. Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Phillips, 429 Independence Street, to Charles E. Hartung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hartung, 427 Chestnut Street, will be performed at 11 today in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, with Rev. H. Hall Sharp officiating.

Miss Helen Patricia Phillips will be her sister's maid of honor and John Hartung is to serve as his brother's best man. Miss Earlene Hardman will be vocalist accompanied by Mrs. John Dorn, who will play the traditional marches.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegany High School, where she was on the Allegewi staff and a member of the Girls Glee Club. She attended Catherman's Business School and until her resignation was employed as a stenographer for the State Roads Commission.

Mr. Hartung is a graduate of Allegany and a veteran of four years' service in the Army, most of which time was spent in the ETO. He is employed as a postal clerk at the post office.

Following a reception at the home of the bride the couple will leave for New York and eastern cities. Upon their return they will reside on Holland Street.

Marks 64th Birthday

Mrs. Alonza Chaney, Ridgeley, was honored by her husband and children at an open house, in celebration of her 64th birthday, recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Calhoun, Short Gap. Mrs. Chaney returned to Memorial Hospital Wednesday for a hip operation and is reported getting along nicely.

Assorted cut flowers and a four-tiered cake adorned the refreshment tables. Among the gifts Mrs. Chaney received was a birthstone ring from her children.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Chaney, Mrs. Levina Riley, Mr. and Mrs. John Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Hirley Benard, son, Valentine, J. L. Twigg, Mrs. Arnold Spencer and children, Raymond and Wanda May, Ridgeley; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Gross and children, Erma Louise, Darla Jean and William, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Flora and children, Ellen and Shirley, Magnolia, W. Va.; J. J. Calhoun and children, Short Gap; and Alonza Chaney.

FOOTBALL QUEEN — Georgia Huster has been selected as Allegany High School "football queen" by the squad, and will be crowned queen at the Alcohi Mirror silver jubilee dance November 21. With her court, composed of Sue Bartlett, Betty Lou Gulick, Kathryn MacMannis, Everstine Mitchell and Mary Lou Wilson, she will reign over the Campers on Thanksgiving Day. The daughter of Mrs. Edith Huster, 547 Patterson Avenue, Georgia has been a member of the Tri-Hi-Y for three years, cheer leader for two, and is a member of the Art Club and Choral Club.

DAR Praised On Work At Schools

Talks by Mrs. Harry K. Nield, Baltimore, state regent, and other state officers, featured the luncheon-meeting of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution Wednesday in the private dining room of the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Mrs. Nield spoke of the work of the state organization and particularly stressed the work being done by the DAR for their mountain schools, Kate Duncan Smith, at Grant, Ala., and Tamasse, Tamasse, S. C. Each of the other guests officers, Mrs. Thomas F. George, Baltimore, treasurer; Mrs. George W. Whipp, Baltimore, recording secretary; Mrs. Mark E. Reed, Hagerstown, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John E. Duke, Baltimore, historian; talked on their individual work. Mrs. Walter L. Pierce was chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. H. F. Wyatt and Mrs. Joseph Lichtenstein.

Miss Ella Carter Hodgson, regent, presided, and after the flag salute the invocation was offered by Mrs. John A. Findlay, chapter chaplain. Bowls of roses and chrysanthemums decorated the luncheon table and behind it were arranged standards holding American and DAR flags.

The state chairman of DAR schools will be the guest speaker at the next meeting, November 12, at the home of Miss Ida B. Brandler, 119 South Allegany Street.

MAPLESIDE GROUP IS REORGANIZED

Temporary officers were elected Tuesday night at a reorganization meeting of the Mapleside Playground Association at the home of Mrs. Robert Long, 1002 Michigan Avenue.

The officers, who will serve until the regular election, scheduled for Tuesday, November 4, are Bernard Bealky, president; William Dunlap, vice president; Mrs. F. J. Wallace, treasurer, and Mrs. Howard Lueck, secretary.

A membership campaign will be held throughout this month, and the by-laws of the recently formed organization will be voted on at the November meeting.

In line with the project of the City Playground Associations to designate certain city streets for sled riding this winter, the Mapleside group voted to recommend that parts of New Hampshire Avenue be roped off for that purpose.

It was decided to apply for membership in the city playground group after the November election of officers. The Mapleside group numbers 15 members at present.

Argentina Won't Permit Yugoslav Officials To Stay

Diplomats Escorted Across Chile Border

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 9 (AP)—A high government official said tonight that two Yugoslav diplomats expelled from Chile would be asked to leave Argentina as well if they do not do so voluntarily.

Andrej Cunja, Yugoslav charge d'affaires at Santiago, Chile, and Dalibor Jakasa, secretary of the legation in Buenos Aires, were ordered out of Chile on charges of "Communist agitation" and escorted last night to Mendoza, Argentina. The Yugoslav legation here said they were expected in Buenos Aires by train tonight.

"If they only want to cross our territory in order to board a ship, okay," the Argentine official said. "If they take any other attitude, it would not be out of order to say they will receive a suggestion that they should leave our country."

"Practically Expelled"

He explained that "even if they have diplomatic passports recognized by a foreign government, they are not accredited to our government" and for that reason had been "practically expelled." He did not make clear how Jakasa, attached to the Buenos Aires legation, was not accredited. The official apparently considered, however, that the man had lost his status when he went to Chile.

Expulsion of the two from Chile was accompanied by Chilean charges that a Communist network, operating under the new "Communist international organization" and directing a campaign against the United States, had headquarters in Buenos Aires.

The Argentine Cabinet held a long session with President Juan D. Peron today. Informed sources said it was believed to have discussed the Yugoslav's case and possibly Communism as well.

Charge Is Denied

There was no official Argentine comment on the Chilean government's statement that Communist operations in Latin America were being directed from here. However, one official said privately that "such a charge is not true."

The Yugoslav legation also withheld comment.

A three-man Argentine police mission, headed by Military Police Chief Jorge Osinde, reached Santiago, Chile, by air tonight to see Chile's evidence against the two Yugoslavs. The men were taken to the office of President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla.

Gonzalez Videla said recently that a "satellite of Moscow" had fomented a coal strike in the Conception district of Chile in which about 16,000 miners have been idle since Saturday.

Freight Rate Increases In Pa. Are Authorized

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP) — A 10 per cent boost in freight rates for intrastate shipment by railroads was authorized by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission today to make them conform with a temporary increase already allowed by the United States Interstate Commerce Commission for interstate business, effective October 13.

The commission action specifically granted the railroads the right to waive the usual 30 day notice and other tariff rules before new rates can go into effect.

The proposed rates will increase the freight rates on all commodities 10 per cent except coal, coke and iron ore. Ore will be increased 10 cents per ton net or gross and coal and coke 10 cents per net ton and 11 cents per gross ton.

He replied he didn't know about the employment angle. He said that what he is after is 10,000,000 bushels of grain from the distilling industry to feed hungry people.

The 100,000 unemployment figure came from John H. McKiernan, Louisville, Ky., vice president of the AFL Distillery Workers Union. He said his union undoubtedly would carry its protest to Luckman's committee. McKiernan added that grain used in distilling is not first class and any saving from a shutdown would be "insignificant."

Anyhow, the union leader said, "charity should begin at home."

reporters, that he cited shortcomings in the law, and suggested public hearings before rent advisory boards reached their recommendations.

Checking back on his message of June 30 approving the act, reporters did not find such specific language, but Mr. Truman did denounce the law and suggest that governors—who nominate the advisory boards—could protect tenants and could "soften, although not avoid completely, the blow to rent control." No hearings were held in the Louisville case.

U. S. Women Back GOP, Reece Says

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—American women were responsible "more than any other one segment of the public" for the Republican victories last fall, National Republican Chairman B. Carroll Reece told a western GOP women's conference today.

Women, he said, "fully realize that the type of government they want can be achieved only through the instrumentality of the Republican Party," and promises them that the national party leadership considers its women members as "equal partners" in the Republican fortunes and responsibilities.

His remarks were made at a luncheon concluding business sessions of the parley of women from 11 western states, preceding the opening tomorrow of the party conference here to plan the 1948 campaign in the west.

Morning sessions of the women's gathering were conducted behind closed doors.

Reece, in an interview earlier, said that despite the intense maneuvering now going on for the 1948 presidential nomination, there is full harmony in the party.

In the interview Reece said one of the most important features of the new Taft-Hartley bill is the provision requiring financial reports by unions.

"Both prior to the passage of the Taft-Hartley measure and while it was awaiting signature or veto by the President, labor organizations spent huge sums in newspaper and radio advertising urging its defeat."

"There were several published reports that the expenditures for this vilification of the act as a "slave-labor bill" had cost more than a million dollars. It was reported that the American Federation of Labor alone had set aside a million dollars for opposition to the bill."

Millions In War Surplus Obtained For Md. Schools

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP)—About $3,500,000 worth of war surplus property has been obtained for Maryland schools in the past five months, the State Board of Education was told today.

The large store of equipment was secured—mostly through federal donation—since surplus procurement was centralized under direction of James L. Reir, of the State Department of Education.

This was reported to the board at its regular session by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools.

The board approved a revised scale of teachers' pensions which will create a $400 annual minimum, provide a 30 per cent increase for retired teachers who are drawing between $305 and $600 and 20 per cent hikes for teachers whose pensions amount to $600—$1,200.

Injunction Suit Filed Against Miners' Union

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP) — The United Mine Workers Union and several of its officers have been made defendants in the first injunction suit filed here under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The action has been filed in Federal District Court by Jack G. Evans, Cincinnati, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, asking an injunction to prevent picketing and violence. Evans said the court order is sought in connection with the situation at the Sentry Coal Company mine near Beaver Dam, Ky.

Argentina Won't Permit Yugoslav Officials To Stay

Diplomats Escorted Across Chile Border

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 9 (AP)—A high government official said tonight that two Yugoslav diplomats expelled from Chile would be asked to leave Argentina as well if they do not do so voluntarily.

"Practically Expelled"

He explained that "even if they have diplomatic passports recognized by a foreign government, they are not accredited to our government" and for that reason had been "practically expelled." He did not make clear how Jakasa, attached to the Buenos Aires legation, was not accredited. The official apparently considered, however, that the man had lost his status when he went to Chile.

Expulsion of the two from Chile was accompanied by Chilean charges that a Communist network, operating under the new "Communist international organization" and directing a campaign against the United States, had headquarters in Buenos Aires.

The Argentine Cabinet held a long session with President Juan D. Peron today. Informed sources said it was believed to have discussed the Yugoslav's case and possibly Communism as well.

Charge Is Denied

There was no official Argentine comment on the Chilean government's statement that Communist operations in Latin America were being directed from here. However, one official said privately that "such a charge is not true."

The Yugoslav legation also withheld comment.

A three-man Argentine police mission, headed by Military Police Chief Jorge Osinde, reached Santiago, Chile, by air tonight to see Chile's evidence against the two Yugoslavs. The men were taken to the office of President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla.

Gonzalez Videla said recently that a "satellite of Moscow" had fomented a coal strike in the Conception district of Chile in which about 16,000 miners have been idle since Saturday.

Freight Rate Increases In Pa. Are Authorized

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP) — A 10 per cent boost in freight rates for intrastate shipment by railroads was authorized by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission today to make them conform with a temporary increase already allowed by the United States Interstate Commerce Commission for interstate business, effective October 13.

The commission action specifically granted the railroads the right to waive the usual 30 day notice and other tariff rules before new rates can go into effect.

The proposed rates will increase the freight rates on all commodities 10 per cent except coal, coke and iron ore. Ore will be increased 10 cents per ton net or gross and coal and coke 10 cents per net ton and 11 cents per gross ton.

He replied he didn't know about the employment angle. He said that what he is after is 10,000,000 bushels of grain from the distilling industry to feed hungry people.

The 100,000 unemployment figure came from John H. McKiernan, Louisville, Ky., vice president of the AFL Distillery Workers Union. He said his union undoubtedly would carry its protest to Luckman's committee. McKiernan added that grain used in distilling is not first class and any saving from a shutdown would be "insignificant."

reporters, that he cited shortcomings in the law, and suggested public hearings before rent advisory boards reached their recommendations.

Checking back on his message of June 30 approving the act, reporters did not find such specific language, but Mr. Truman did denounce the law and suggest that governors—who nominate the advisory boards—could protect tenants and could "soften, although not avoid completely, the blow to rent control." No hearings were held in the Louisville case.

"Whiskyless Wednesday"

DU BOIS, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Lulu Salada, president of the Clearfield County Women's Christian Temperance Union, said her organization has dispatched this telegram to President Truman:

"Here's one you overlooked to save grain—whiskyless Wednesday."

U. S. Women Back GOP, Reece Says

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 9. (AP)—American women were responsible "more than any other one segment of the public" for the Republican victories last fall, National Republican Chairman B. Carroll Reece told a western GOP women's conference today.

Women, he said, "fully realize that the type of government they want can be achieved only through the instrumentality of the Republican Party," and promises them that the national party leadership considers its women members as "equal partners" in the Republican fortunes and responsibilities.

His remarks were made at a luncheon concluding business sessions of the parley of women from 11 western states, preceding the opening tomorrow of the party conference here to plan the 1948 campaign in the west.

Morning sessions of the women's gathering were conducted behind closed doors.

Reece, in an interview earlier, said that despite the intense maneuvering now going on for the 1948 presidential nomination, there is full harmony in the party.

In the interview Reece said one of the most important features of the new Taft-Hartley bill is the provision requiring financial reports by unions.

"Both prior to the passage of the Taft-Hartley measure and while it was awaiting signature or veto by the President, labor organizations spent huge sums in newspaper and radio advertising urging its defeat."

"There were several published reports that the expenditures for this vilification of the act as a "slave-labor bill" had cost more than a million dollars. It was reported that the American Federation of Labor alone had set aside a million dollars for opposition to the bill."

Millions In War Surplus Obtained For Md. Schools

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP)—About $3,500,000 worth of war surplus property has been obtained for Maryland schools in the past five months, the State Board of Education was told today.

The large store of equipment was secured—mostly through federal donation—since surplus procurement was centralized under direction of James L. Reir, of the State Department of Education.

This was reported to the board at its regular session by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools.

The board approved a revised scale of teachers' pensions which will create a $400 annual minimum, provide a 30 per cent increase for retired teachers who are drawing between $305 and $600 and 20 per cent hikes for teachers whose pensions amount to $600—$1,200.

Injunction Suit Filed Against Miners' Union

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP) — The United Mine Workers Union and several of its officers have been made defendants in the first injunction suit filed here under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The action has been filed in Federal District Court by Jack G. Evans, Cincinnati, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, asking an injunction to prevent picketing and violence. Evans said the court order is sought in connection with the situation at the Sentry Coal Company mine near Beaver Dam, Ky.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

There's a section of country beyond the Rocky Mountains the Indians used to call "The Land of the Big Wind." It's a piece of ableland on the downslopes of the Sierra Nevadas, and the mountains are so arranged around it that only two winds blow there—strong westerlies and westerly gales.

Billy Rose

I wouldn't be making this meteorological chit-chat were it not for the fact that Margaret and Bill Williams went out to this country shortly after they were married. From then on they worked a seventeen-hour day seven days a week. Bill tilled the land and tried to hold it down long enough to get seed into it. Margaret cooked, washed and fed their few chickens. Mostly she cleaned. Early and late she fought the wind that swirled dust through the shutters, under the doors, through cracks the eye couldn't see.

One morning Margaret hung the week's laundry on the washline. She rested for a moment and then went into the kitchen to look at the green apple pie she was baking for dinner. The pie was coming slowly—it was hard to control the heat in the wood-burning stove.

Suddenly there was a noise like the crack of a whip. Margaret looked out the window. There was the week's wash in the dirt—four hours of scrubbing in water she had carried almost a quarter of a mile.

She began to sob. This business of carving a home out of the wilderness was all right in the movies—but the movies could keep it. Bill was a swell guy and all that, but she had had enough of his pioneer big-talk. She was going back to San Francisco, where water came out of a tap instead of a pump, and where you bought your clothes in a store like folks, instead of out of a mail order catalogue.

Margaret went into the bedroom, changed her clothes and threw some things into a suitcase. A few minutes later she was driving down the rutty road in their old Chevvy. As the road curved up the rise that lay between their land and the town, she saw their farm spread out below her. It looked a lot trimmer than it did a couple of years back when she had first seen it from this same spot in the road. As she passed the Jordan pasture the road dipped downward and the farm was out of sight.

Margaret began to play little games with herself. Maybe Bill would come back to the shed for a tool, see the wash in the dirt, and guess what had happened. Maybe the big lug would cut across the fields to the Bristow place and phone the station agent to hold her until he could get there. Maybe Bill had hitched a ride into town to buy something, and she would run into him. Maybe he'd follow her to San Francisco and she'd talk him into staying.

The car swung off the dirt road onto the highway and came into the town. Town, they called it. A few houses, a general store and an auto repair shop. She drove up to the depot.

"One to San Francisco," she told Ike Waters.

"Round trip?" asked the station agent.

"One way."

Ike Waters gave her a sharp look and started to make out the ticket. "Not leaving us for good, I hope, Mrs. Williams?" he said.

Margaret didn't answer. She gave him the car keys to hold for Bill and went out on the platform to wait. She got a picture of Bill walking into the house around sundown go into the barn looking for her. She saw him back in the parlor with a hurt look on his face. Maybe she should have left him a note. For a moment she thought of writing one and leaving it with Ike Waters.

But there was the train coming down the track. She picked up her bag and edged forward.

As the locomotive passed her, she saw the glare of the fire-box and felt its heat on her cheek.

She let out a little screech.

"Something the matter?" asked the station agent when she snatched the car keys off his desk.

"I forgot about the pie in the oven," said Margaret happily.

Ike Waters watched the Chevvy rattling off in the direction of the Williams farm.

"Now ain't that a woman for you," said the station agent.

Marine Officers Make Inspection Trip Here

A bi-monthly inspection of the Marine Corps recruiting office in the Postoffice Building was made yesterday by Capt. J. A. Bruder, Baltimore, officer in charge of recruiting for Maryland and Delaware.

Capt. Bruder will be assigned in the near future to duty at the district headquarters recruiting station in Albany, N. Y. He was accompanied on the inspection trip here by Maj. E. S. Dzura, who will succeed him.

Maj. Dzura, a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, served overseas with the First and Second Marine Divisions during the war. He was assigned to Baltimore from the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va., where he attended field artillery school.

PERMIT GRANTED FOR HARDWARE STORE

Mrs. Loretta Gross, 408 North Mechanic Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build an addition to the rear of a building at 251 Henderson Avenue, at the corner of Knox Street, for use as a hardware store, and to add brick veneer to the front of the building.

The two-story addition will measure 44 by 72 feet, with a concrete foundation, walls of concrete block and steel and a built-up roof. David Ogilvie is the contractor and cost is estimated at $8,000.

A permit was granted to R. E. Beard, 115 South Allegany Street, to use the first floor of a two-story brick building at 7 South Liberty Street as a shoe store. The premises are now occupied by the Music Shop, which will move to a Baltimore Street address within a few weeks. Irwin Pariser, 726 Washington Street, is the owner of the Liberty Street building.

J. S. Johnson secured a permit to enclose a one-story porch with frame walls at 1214 Lafayette Avenue. Work on the 8 by 8-foot enclosure will be done by the owner at an estimated cost of $200.

Pedestrian Asks $5,000 Damages

The first civil suit for the January term of Circuit Court was docketed yesterday by Thomas B. Finan, attorney for James Shaffer, against John Martin, claiming $5,000 damages, for being struck by an automobile.

The suit alleges Martin was driving an automobile which ran against and knocked down Shaffer, a pedestrian, on Baltimore Street, August 4.

A suit for divorce was filed yesterday by Ernest C. Kerns vs Anna B. Kerns.

Flags Will Fly At Half-Mast Today

Flags on all public buildings are to be flown at half-staff today and again on October 26 in honor of World War II dead being returned to this country for reburial.

The first ship load of bodies is to arrive in San Francisco today from the Pacific area, while the first ship load from the European Theater will arrive in New York October 26.

The War Department has issued a request that all public buildings fly flags at half mast, as a tribute to the returning men and women who gave their lives for their country. It was also stated by the War Department that a 21-gun salute should be fired at noon at every military installation.

War Dead Reburial Allowance Increased

The allowance from the government for reburial of World War II soldier dead has been increased from $50 to $75, according to information received here yesterday by Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the Allegany County War Dead Reburial Committee.

The amount is payable to next of kin upon presentation of bills covering costs of the funeral, etc.

To Attend Bakery Sanitation Course

J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, will attend a special course on bakery sanitation at Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa., Monday through Thursday of next week.

The regional course is sponsored by the American Institute of Baking. Certificates will be presented to those completing the course.

Annie Gets Her Gun From The Robbers

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Fleet-footed Taung Lien-ti bravely pursued the four thugs who had looted her father's rice shop, overtook them, wrenched a pistol from the hand of one, but didn't know how to fire it. Sadly she watched the four escape.

She discovered later that the pistol was worth much more than the loot.

Alabama Barbecue Stirs Moslem World

BATAVIA, Java—(AP)—Mrs. Harvey Beardon of Troy, Ala., discovered a good old-fashioned Alabama hog barbecue is an invitation to trouble in the Moslem world.

Mrs. Beardon and her Marine master-sergeant husband invited the local American colony over for her specialty. After stuffing themselves with hog fixed the southern way the guests left. So did the servants.

Bewildered Mrs. Beardon discovered next morning the domestic workers underground had passed around the word that the Marines mess was unclean—"Hassan, they eat PIGS there."

Now, in this land of many servants, Mrs. Beardon can get no help.

Marine Officers Make Inspection Trip Here

A bi-monthly inspection of the Marine Corps recruiting office in the Postoffice Building was made yesterday by Capt. J. A. Bruder, Baltimore, officer in charge of recruiting for Maryland and Delaware.

Capt. Bruder will be assigned in the near future to duty at the district headquarters recruiting station in Albany, N. Y. He was accompanied on the inspection trip here by Maj. E. S. Dzura, who will succeed him.

Maj. Dzura, a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, served overseas with the First and Second Marine Divisions during the war. He was assigned to Baltimore from the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va., where he attended field artillery school.

PERMIT GRANTED FOR HARDWARE STORE

Mrs. Loretta Gross, 408 North Mechanic Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build an addition to the rear of a building at 251 Henderson Avenue, at the corner of Knox Street, for use as a hardware store, and to add brick veneer to the front of the building.

The two-story addition will measure 44 by 72 feet, with a concrete foundation, walls of concrete block and steel and a built-up roof. David Ogilvie is the contractor and cost is estimated at $8,000.

A permit was granted to R. E. Beard, 115 South Allegany Street, to use the first floor of a two-story brick building at 7 South Liberty Street as a shoe store. The premises are now occupied by the Music Shop, which will move to a Baltimore Street address within a few weeks. Irwin Pariser, 726 Washington Street, is the owner of the Liberty Street building.

J. S. Johnson secured a permit to enclose a one-story porch with frame walls at 1214 Lafayette Avenue. Work on the 8 by 8-foot enclosure will be done by the owner at an estimated cost of $200.

Pedestrian Asks $5,000 Damages

The first civil suit for the January term of Circuit Court was docketed yesterday by Thomas B. Finan, attorney for James Shaffer, against John Martin, claiming $5,000 damages, for being struck by an automobile.

The suit alleges Martin was driving an automobile which ran against and knocked down Shaffer, a pedestrian, on Baltimore Street, August 4.

A suit for divorce was filed yesterday by Ernest C. Kerns vs Anna B. Kerns.

Flags Will Fly At Half-Mast Today

Flags on all public buildings are to be flown at half-staff today and again on October 26 in honor of World War II dead being returned to this country for reburial.

The first ship load of bodies is to arrive in San Francisco today from the Pacific area, while the first ship load from the European Theater will arrive in New York October 26.

The War Department has issued a request that all public buildings fly flags at half mast, as a tribute to the returning men and women who gave their lives for their country. It was also stated by the War Department that a 21-gun salute should be fired at noon at every military installation.

War Dead Reburial Allowance Increased

The allowance from the government for reburial of World War II soldier dead has been increased from $50 to $75, according to information received here yesterday by Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the Allegany County War Dead Reburial Committee.

The amount is payable to next of kin upon presentation of bills covering costs of the funeral, etc.

To Attend Bakery Sanitation Course

J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, will attend a special course on bakery sanitation at Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa., Monday through Thursday of next week.

The regional course is sponsored by the American Institute of Baking. Certificates will be presented to those completing the course.

Annie Gets Her Gun From The Robbers

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Fleet-footed Taung Lien-ti bravely pursued the four thugs who had looted her father's rice shop, overtook them, wrenched a pistol from the hand of one, but didn't know how to fire it. Sadly she watched the four escape.

She discovered later that the pistol was worth much more than the loot.

Myrtle Conner Is Married To Robert Stemple

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mr. and Mrs. Virgil G. Conner, Parkersburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Myrtle, to Robert Allen Stemple, son of Postmaster and Mrs. D. C. Stemple, Thomas.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Parkersburg on Sunday, September 21 with Rev. Robert A. Moore, pastor, officiating.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Esther Abels Cunningham, Parkersburg, played a selection of wedding music and Miss Mary Jane Carpenter sang.

Bryon Conner, uncle of the bride and Joseph Johnson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The bride was escorted by her father at the altar. She wore a gown of ivory slipper satin, trimmed with valenciennes lace at the edges of the sweetheart neckline and the edge of the long tight fitted sleeves which extended to points over the hands. The bodice was fashioned with a pointed waistline and at the bottom of the covered buttons used in the back was a large bustle. From this the skirt terminated in a long, sweeping train. The bride's veil was of tulle illusion, which fell to her fingertips from a coronet of miniature orange blossoms and two tiny rows of tulle illusion. Her only jewelry was a necklace with a single ruby setting, gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Moody W. Hogan, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore a gown of pink faille taffeta with a tight fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline and tiny puffed sleeves. The long skirt of the same material was gathered and extended in a slight train. She wore long mitts the same shade as her dress. On her head was a coronet of pink tulle from which a veil of tulle fell to her shoulders. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses tied with pink satin streamers.

John D. Stemple of Thomas served his brother as best man.

Mrs. Conner, mother of the bride chose a dress of black with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Stemple, mother of the bridegroom wore a fall dress of black and rose jersey with black accessories complimented with a corsage of gardenias.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with the table centered with a large tiered wedding cake, decorated with white roses, cala lilies and tiny silver centers. Crowning the cake was a miniature bride and groom. Tall white tapers were on either side of the punch bowl.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Florence Ransom and aides were Miss Lois Malcolm and Miss Mary Patterson.

For traveling the bride wore a wool suit of renaissance blue trimmed in black accessories, and a three quarter length coat of white wool gabardine. Her shoulder corsage was of red roses.

Mrs. Stemple is a graduate of Parkersburg High School, class of 1943. For the past four years she has been employed as a secretary for the offices of Textile Workers Union of America, Local No. 9.

Mr. Stemple, a graduate of Thomas High School, attended West Virginia University and served as a gunner in the Eighth Air Force during World War II. He is now employed as a draftsman at Libby Owens Ford Glass Company in Parkersburg.

Among the out-of-town members of the Stemple family attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Stemple and sons, David and Thomas, of Thomas; Mr. and Mrs. J. Mason Bucklew, Rowlesburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walters, Ashland, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. DuBois and daughter of Dayton, Ohio.

The couple will reside in Parkersburg.

Soil Conservationist Addresses 4-H Clubs

Army Ground Forces Band Needs Members

Authority to enlist qualified men with or without prior service directly into the Army Ground Forces Band without normal processing through training divisions when it would seriously interfere with the mission of the band, has been granted, according to the local Army recruiting office.

The band, located at Fort George G. Meade, is contemplating a concert tour early in October and procurement of accomplished musicians was termed necessary to assure that the tour will be a success.

Additional information relative to enlistments in the band may be obtained at the local Army and Air Force recruiting station, 111 Union Street.

ORC Schedule Released For Winter Months Here

The training schedule for the next three months for the 83rd ORC Infantry Reserve Battalion, 208th Composite Group was released yesterday at headquarters, 111 Union Street.

The program consists of one class each month, with the following dates, subjects and instructors:

October 14—"Organization of the Army," discussed by Maj. Thomas B. Finan.

December 9—"New Developments in Infantry Weapons," a discussion by Maj. Ralph B. Doak.

All meetings will begin at 8 p. m. in Room 5 at the Union Street County Building.

by BOB CONSIDINE

International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Johnny Meyer, the fat little man who wasn't there when Sen. Ferguson seemed to want him, and whose absence halted the bizarre Senate hearing on Howard Hughes' war-plane contracts, told us the other day about his famous "escape."

When Meyer blew out of Washington after his first Senate subpoena ran out, he came directly to New York and spent a day or two with the late Jack Kriendler, N. Y. restaurateur.

Then he moved into the TWA suite at the Waldorf and waited for Sen. Ferguson's deputies, who were presumably brandishing a new subpoena, to serve him.

He assumed naturally that they would come to the Waldorf in search of him. But the days and nights dragged on.

While in the Waldorf he read a story of Jimmy Cannon's in which he (Meyer) was likened to a rich mobster who had hidden out with the swag.

He agreed with Cannon that he was getting claustrophobia and that he wanted, like every guy on the lam, to get back in circulation.

So he went to a saloon named the El Morroco that night—the place where he had often entertained Elliott Roosevelt and others with Hughes Aircraft Company funds—and had himself a night out.

He has no memory of anyone taking his picture there that night, though, as it turned out, it was taken.

The next day he had a friend of his, Stewart Barthelmess, son of the movie star of old, rent a car for him at a drive-yourself place in New York. The toll was $20 a day.

Johnny and a couple friends drove to Detroit and decided to go into Canada, but when he arrived there he saw a newspaper picture of himself—taken at El Morroco—and a story saying that the country was being combed for him.

He sent a stooge through the tunnel to see how Canada was receiving unexpected Americans that day, and the bloke got quite a grilling on the Canadian side.

So Johnny drove on to Chicago, parked the car, called the now somewhat anxious drive-yourself place, and asked them to fly a man out and pick up the bus, with all expenses and rental fees to be paid.

Then he got on a ferry farther along the U. S.-Canadian border and rode across to our subpoenaless neighbor to the north.

The Canadian official at the other end got in an argument with a vegetable huckster who was bringing a load into Canada, and, in the confusion, Johnny walked ashore.

He called Hughes immediately he had gone to all those pains. "You missed the boat, Johnny," Hughes said. "They don't want you, really."

So Johnny came back to Chicago and caught a plane to the coast. and Hughes seemed surprised that there he called up the U. S. Marshal and offered to surrender, but the marshal seemed vague about the whole matter and said there was no "paper" for him.

After that he went to Paris, where he annoyed better horseplayers by winning 500,000 francs, and just returned to the U. S.

I thought the Hughes hearing was going to wither off into nothingness, but Johnny thinks otherwise.

"I got a call from the American embassy in Paris the other day," he said, "and the fellow reminded me—out of the blue—that my passport was running out.

"He suggested that I make plans to return to America. That's enough of a hint that the hearing is going to be resumed November 17."

He expects that the hearing will eventually resolve itself into an investigation of his draft status in 1941, when the Hughes company won a number of deferments for its employees—as did all other companies engaged in war-work.

"I was 37 and fat," Meyer told us glumly. "And was supporting four relatives."

He expects the whole thing will be resumed, however, with Elliott Roosevelt, Henry Kaiser, Sen. Brewster and all the other principals of what often turned out to be a travesty, on hand.

He was served with a new Senate subpoena as he stepped off the plane from Paris the other day.

"See you November 17," he told us, as I was leaving.

"At ten ayem," he added.

P. S.—I should have stayed with Johnny a bit longer. The fun-loving rover was arrested on an old paternity charge, but may now be able to claim two more dependents.

ON THE LINE

by BOB CONSIDINE

International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Johnny Meyer, the fat little man who wasn't there when Sen. Ferguson seemed to want him, and whose absence halted the bizarre Senate hearing on Howard Hughes' war-plane contracts, told us the other day about his famous "escape."

When Meyer blew out of Washington after his first Senate subpoena ran out, he came directly to New York and spent a day or two with the late Jack Kriendler, N. Y. restaurateur.

Then he moved into the TWA suite at the Waldorf and waited for Sen. Ferguson's deputies, who were presumably brandishing a new subpoena, to serve him.

He assumed naturally that they would come to the Waldorf in search of him. But the days and nights dragged on.

While in the Waldorf he read a story of Jimmy Cannon's in which he (Meyer) was likened to a rich mobster who had hidden out with the swag.

He agreed with Cannon that he was getting claustrophobia and that he wanted, like every guy on the lam, to get back in circulation.

So he went to a saloon named the El Morroco that night—the place where he had often entertained Elliott Roosevelt and others with Hughes Aircraft Company funds—and had himself a night out.

He has no memory of anyone taking his picture there that night, though, as it turned out, it was taken.

The next day he had a friend of his, Stewart Barthelmess, son of the movie star of old, rent a car for him at a drive-yourself place in New York. The toll was $20 a day.

Johnny and a couple friends drove to Detroit and decided to go into Canada, but when he arrived there he saw a newspaper picture of himself—taken at El Morroco—and a story saying that the country was being combed for him.

He sent a stooge through the tunnel to see how Canada was receiving unexpected Americans that day, and the bloke got quite a grilling on the Canadian side.

So Johnny drove on to Chicago, parked the car, called the now somewhat anxious drive-yourself place, and asked them to fly a man out and pick up the bus, with all expenses and rental fees to be paid.

Then he got on a ferry farther along the U. S.-Canadian border and rode across to our subpoenaless neighbor to the north.

The Canadian official at the other end got in an argument with a vegetable huckster who was bringing a load into Canada, and, in the confusion, Johnny walked ashore.

He called Hughes immediately he had gone to all those pains. "You missed the boat, Johnny," Hughes said. "They don't want you, really."

So Johnny came back to Chicago and caught a plane to the coast. and Hughes seemed surprised that there he called up the U. S. Marshal and offered to surrender, but the marshal seemed vague about the whole matter and said there was no "paper" for him.

After that he went to Paris, where he annoyed better horseplayers by winning 500,000 francs, and just returned to the U. S.

I thought the Hughes hearing was going to wither off into nothingness, but Johnny thinks otherwise.

"I got a call from the American embassy in Paris the other day," he said, "and the fellow reminded me—out of the blue—that my passport was running out.

"He suggested that I make plans to return to America. That's enough of a hint that the hearing is going to be resumed November 17."

He expects that the hearing will eventually resolve itself into an investigation of his draft status in 1941, when the Hughes company won a number of deferments for its employees—as did all other companies engaged in war-work.

"I was 37 and fat," Meyer told us glumly. "And was supporting four relatives."

He expects the whole thing will be resumed, however, with Elliott Roosevelt, Henry Kaiser, Sen. Brewster and all the other principals of what often turned out to be a travesty, on hand.

He was served with a new Senate subpoena as he stepped off the plane from Paris the other day.

"See you November 17," he told us, as I was leaving.

"At ten ayem," he added.

P. S.—I should have stayed with Johnny a bit longer. The fun-loving rover was arrested on an old paternity charge, but may now be able to claim two more dependents.

Disillusioned Young Woman Wants To Know If It Pays To Be Good

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A young woman, who has just had a very disillusioning experience with a young man she has been close to since the age of 13, has reached the cynical frame of mind in which she wants to know if it pays to be a good girl. She also wants to know if a man could stop loving a girl as suddenly as hers seems to have done, and if I think he will ever come back to her.

Her story is that this 22-year-old chap was impatient to get a lien on her affections from the time he was 16, and constantly nagged at her for several years to get her to "go steady." She, however, felt that they were too young for anything serious and asked him to wait until they had finished school. Even though nothing was definitely agreed between them, however, there was a tacit understanding that this would occur at the proper time.

"If we were engaged," she tells me, "we couldn't have been happier or together any more."

Out of this apparently serene sky, a storm suddenly blew up. It came so completely without warning that she was astounded when he told her one day he had invited another girl to attend a social event with him. The next day he came around and told her he had decided he wanted to be free and wasn't coming to see her any more. When she asked him if there was anyone else in whom he was interested, he said no.

That was the end of the friendship and now, bewildered by the sudden change, she asks the questions that I mentioned at the beginning of this article.

Her question about whether or not it pays to be a good girl would seem to suggest that she believes if she had been a little less virtuous, she might have been able to hold her man. This I doubt very much. He might have stayed around longer, but developments would seem to indicate that sooner or later he would have been off, no matter what she did.

This is the practical and specific way of looking at the matter. Take it in more general fashion, and looking at it from the standpoint of the principle of the thing, the only way to tell what pays off and what does not pay off in life is to make up your mind exactly what you want and then decide whether or not it is worth the price you must pay to get it. If a girl wants true happiness, peace of mind, respect and affection from those whose opinions she most values, she will hold on to her standards and her self-respect no matter what temptations she may have to forget them. In this case, the price she pays to get what she wants is to give up those things that do not contribute to her fundamental values. If, on the other hand, she wants momentary pleasures more than ultimate good, she pays for them by forfeiting the worthwhile things.

My correspondent's question about whether or not it is possible for a man to stop loving a girl suddenly, as hers apparently did, I would answer by saying that I do not believe he ever loved her. Their long years of childhood association no doubt gave him a certain measure of affection for her, but there was probably a lot of mere habit in their association, and the habit grew less strong as the boy grew older, until it was too weak to hold him any longer.

The third question about whether or not he will come back is one that no one in the world could possibly answer. If he discovers that no other girl suits him as well as his first childhood sweetheart, he may decide to try to revive the old association. But it is just as likely that he may be gone for good, and, if so, I think she should be well satisfied. I feel sure she will eventually do much better in the realm of romance.

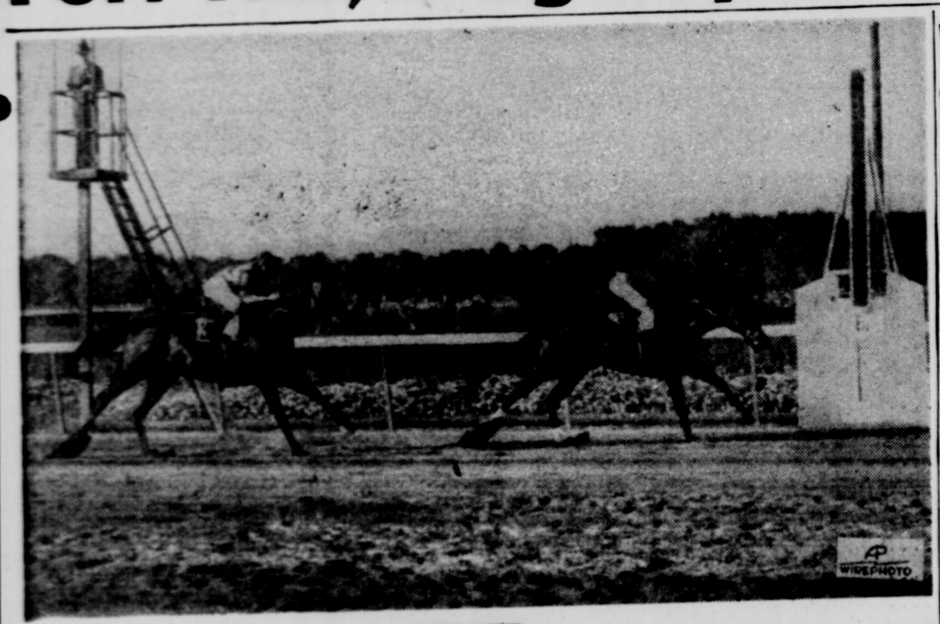
Fort Hill, Ridgeley And Beall Will Play Home Games Today



ARMED TAKES ANOTHER—Armed, owned by Calumet Farm, and ridden by Albert Snider, defeats With Pleasure, owned by Oscar E. Breault, and piloted by Jack G. Westrope, to win $18,600 in the Sysonby Mile, yesterday at Belmont Park, New York. By romping to victory, Armed became the leading money winner of the turf, surpassing earnings of Stymie. Only other horse in the race was Ensueno, South American import (not in picture).

Beall Cops 6th In Row, Farrady Gets Nine Goals

Frostburg Defeats Grantsville, 10-3

FROSTBURG, Oct. 9.—Beall High School's soccer team extended its winning streak to six games today by trouncing Grantsville High School of Garrett county at Grantsville by the score of 10 to 3.

The victory gave Ed Finzel's eleven a clean sweep of the series, having won the opener 7 to 0. Beall has won four games in the W. M. I. League.

Bill Farrady, Beall's sharpshooting center forward, accounted for nine points in today's game. In the first period he booted three field goals and one penalty goal. He scored twice from the field in the second quarter, one field and one penalty goal in the third stanza and one fielder in the final canto. Jack Starkey made Beall's other point, a field goal in the opening quarter.

Grantsville scored three points in the third quarter on two field goals by Jenkins and one by Keister.

Gracie, Williams, Dawson and Farrady were outstanding for Beall while Minick, Keister and Jenkins played best for Grantsville. Lineups:

Pos.	Beall (10)	Grantsville (3)
Goal	Lemmert	Brenneman
FB	Framm	Yommer
FB	Gracie	Crowe
LHB	Catherman	Stahl
CHB	Williams	Minick
RHB	Dawson	Miller
OL	Starkey	Buckel
IL	Layman	Downey
CF	Farrady	Durst
IR	Witt	Colean
OR	Souders	Keister

Score by periods:

BEALL	5	2	2	1	—10
GRANTSVILLE	0	0	3	0	— 3

Field goals scored by Farrady 8, Starkey, Jenkins 2, Keister.
Penalty goal scored by Farrady.
Substitutes: Grantsville—Jenkins. Beall—Cosgrove, Matese, O'Rourke, McClintock, Hawkins, Adams, Duncan.

Newark Loses Pants Before Football Game

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP)—The Nutley-West Side (Newark) high school football game Saturday may have to be called off to avoid embarrassment to West Side, which lost its pants two days before the contest.

Irvin S. Rosenberg, athletic faculty adviser at the Newark school, reported that 50 pairs of football pants and other equipment were stolen from the school locker this morning.

"It's the fourth time in two years that someone has helped himself to the school's equipment," he said sadly.

Helis And Mori Buy Tanforan Race Track

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Sale of Tanforan race track, California's oldest, to William G. Helis, New Orleans, and Eugene Mori, president of Garden State track at Camden, N. J. was announced today.

Attorney Thomas Dahlquist of San Francisco said the transaction involved transfer of stock valued at $2,187,500. He declined to disclose the track's liabilities, reported unofficially as more than $1,000,000. Major stockholders in Tanforan were Joseph Reinfeld of New York and Harry Robinson of Philadelphia.

BASEBALL BOOKIE'S CONVICTION AFFIRMED BY APPELLATE COURT

ATLANTA, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Georgia Court of Appeals affirmed today the conviction of Thomas Lee Grant on a charge of making books on bleacher bets during Atlanta Cracker baseball games. Grant was fined $500 and given 12 months on the public works.

It was charged that Grant offered bets of $4 to $1 that players who came to bat would not fly to the outfield. George Mauldin, former Atlanta Cracker, testified the chances against a fly ball to outfield were nine to one.

Armed Becomes Turf's Leading Money Winner

Takes Sysonby Mile And $18,600 Purse

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Armed became the world's leading money winner of the turf today when the six-year-old brown gelding beat With Pleasure by a length and a half in the $25,000 added Sysonby Mile before 20,611 fans at Belmont Park. Ensueno finished third, 15 lengths behind the winner, in the three-horse race.

Armed picked up a fast $18,600 by his triumph and now has earned $761,500 as compared against Stymie's $754,710. Stymie, however, will have a chance to regain the money winning lead on Saturday when he goes after the $100,000 New York Handicap at two miles and a quarter.

Perfectly ridden by Albert Snider, Armed covered the mile in the sparkling time of 1:36 with 126 pounds on his back. The fractions were :23 2/5 for the quarter, :46 1-5 for the half and 1:10 4-5 for six furlongs.

The odds-on son of Bull Lea-Armful by Chance Shot returned $2.70. There was no place or show wagering.

Armed and With Pleasure, Oscar B. Breaule's 4-year-old son of He Aid-Seldina by Insco, shot out of the starting gate simultaneously with the latter taking a lead of a head for a few fleeting moments. Armed then pulled even and the two sailed along head and head until turning into the stretch with Armed saving ground all the way along the inside.

As the two western horses straightened out after the turn for home, Jockey Snider hit Armed twice with the whip and the champion responded like the game thoroughbred that he is. Jackie Westrope, aboard With Pleasure, also applied the whip but Snider had made his move first and there was no catching Calumet's gelding.

The race marked the resumption of a duel that started in Chicago where Armed and With Pleasure raced six times during the summer, each scoring three victories. However, today was the first time that Armed tacked it on With Pleasure over the mile distance.

With Pleasure, 9 to 5 second choice, also carried 126 pounds as did the South American Ensueno, $8.75 to 1 chance. The latter, owned by Nelson Seabra of Brazil, never was in serious contention.

Soccer Replaces Boxing At North Carolina

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—The University of North Carolina announced today it was replacing college boxing in its athletic program by soccer and made public a schedule for the first soccer team.

The schedule opens with a contest against Loyola of Baltimore at Baltimore, October 17. Other dates include Oct. 18, Navy at Annapolis.

NEAR DEATH—Stanley Poreda, Polish-American heavyweight, who was one of the leading ring campaigners in 1929-1934, is near death in a Jersey City hospital. Poreda held decisions over the late Ernie Schaaf, Johnny Risko, Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran. Before he retired from the ring, however, he was kayoed by Tom Heeney, Schaaf, Steve Dudas and Joe Louis.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (INS) — Rajah Hornsby remarked one day during the recent world series that Branch Rickey was by far the smartest man in baseball today.

This opinion is shared by virtually everybody connected with the game—players, scouts, managers and club owners.

It also is generally agreed that he is the best judge of a diamond in the rough, and his judgment on any ballplayer is readily accepted.

Therefore, when Rickey says that Joe DiMaggio of the Yanks is not only the greatest baseball player in the game today but must rank with the great of any age, one is inclined to agree with him without question.

Several of us were sitting around a table with Rickey after Bill Bevens of the Yanks had pitched and lost that one-hitter to the Dodgers on Cookie Lavagetto's pinch hit.

You would naturally suppose that Rickey would have been talking about Bevens or Lavagetto. Instead he gave those a quick brush-off.

Actually, that one-hitter was not nearly so good as it looks on paper. It was in fact a poorly pitched game. Three or four sensational catches had saved him up to that point despite the 10 bases on balls he gave.

Instead, Rickey was bubbling over with enthusiasm about DiMaggio.

"That catch Joe made today," said Branch, "was pure art. We should keep a motion picture camera on him all the time, for future generations of young ballplayers to study. He is as near perfection as it is possible for a human being to be."

I suggested that perhaps DiMaggio should be rated with Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Babe Ruth as an all-time great outfielder. I hinted that maybe we'd have to drop Speaker and insert DiMaggio in that generally accepted trio.

"Why just Speaker?" Rickey retorted, indicating that he thought DiMaggio had to have a place on an all-star team no matter who else had to be supplanted to make room for him.

Only Speaker could compare with Joe as a fielder. Ruth and Cobb were very good, of course, but neither rated with Tris and Joe as fielders.

Cobb was a marvelous hitter and the greatest base runner baseball has yet developed but he had a poor arm. Ruth gets his rating on his home run hitting rather than his fielding.

"But DiMaggio hasn't a fault," Rickey pointed out. "Just think of the things he can do. He has speed, far more speed than you'd think because he runs so easily and gracefully.

"His throwing has been powerful and accurate although he was bothered this year with a chipped elbow. He is a truly great hitter. Tremendous.

"He is a grand base runner and would steal the catchers' shirts if we played the old-time style of game these days."

"As for his fielding," Rickey concluded, "he can go back or come in or to either side and he makes the most difficult chances look easy.

"It's a pleasure to watch him. Take a good look at him any chance you get because he's like Man O' War, a very rare individual indeed."

You may judge from all this that DiMaggio is quite a ball player. And if you need further confirmation, just ask any other ballplayer about DiMaggio.

Gephart Eleven Wins

The Gephart Campers defeated the East Side Blue Devils football team by the score of 30 to 14 at Gephart Field.

Gephart's touchdowns were scored by Combs, Beall and Wilkinson. East Side registered both of its touchdowns in the final quarter.

Virginia Court To Hear Morgan Case On Oct. 24

Southern Conference Is Named Defendant

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 9 (AP)—In a move unprecedented in college athletics, John J. Wicker, local attorney and prominent University of Richmond alumnus, today took the Vernon Morgan case to court.

Acting as a friend of the University of Richmond freshman who was officially declared ineligible for Southern Conference competition over the weekend because of a contract he had signed with the New York Giant farm system more than three years ago, Wicher said he would ask Judge Julien Gunn of the Richmond and Henrico County Circuit Court to:

(1)—Declare the "so-called" contract of April 1, 1944, null and void

(2)—Direct the Southern Conference to rescind its action barring Morgan, and to recognize him as being eligible to compete for the University of Richmond.

(3)—Direct the University of Richmond to allow Morgan to play, subject to his "being good enough to make the team and maintaining his scholastic status."

The case is scheduled to be heard by Judge Gunn two weeks from today, October 24.

Wicker said petitions had been served on the Southern Conference, through President William H. Couper, and the University of Richmond to appear as defendants in the action. The conference is named because of the ruling barring Morgan; the University of Richmond because it is abiding by that decision.

At Lexington, Colonel Couper admitted he had been served papers. He said he would appear, but that the conference would probably take no action to defend the unanimous stand of Couper and the three-man executive committee in banning Morgan.

Wicker said he would charge the contract Morgan signed when he was 15 with the Springfield, Ohio, Ohio State League link of the Giant chain, and which is now on file at minor league headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, has never had any validity. Morgan is now carried on the voluntarily retired list of the Springfield team.

Major League Draft Meeting Is Scheduled Nov. 10 In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9. (AP)—The annual major league draft meeting will be held in Cincinnati at 11 a. m., Nov. 10, Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler announced late today.

Walter W. Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said notices of the meeting were sent to National and American League officials today.

Mulbry said it would be "possibly three weeks" before the lists of "several hundred" minor league players eligible for draft by major league clubs would be announced. The lists are being prepared in the commissioner's office, he added.

Under rules, the St. Louis Browns, last-place club in the American League in 1947, would get the first "pick" as the New York Giants, who finished last in the National League in 1946, got first choice at last year's draft meeting.

In accordance with rules, Mulbry said, the club getting second choice will be "determined by lot" in some manner, to be announced by the commissioner, between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh since they finished in a tie for eighth place in the National League.

Williams Reported Signed By Red Sox

BOSTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—The Boston Traveler said today that Ted Williams, Red Sox outfielder and American League batting champion, was secretly signed to a contract about two weeks ago which may make him the highest paid player of 1948.

The Traveler said a "casual guess" was that Williams would receive between $75,000 and $80,000.

To this speculation, the Red Sox replied: "No comment. We never reveal salaries."

Brooklyn Will Train In Central America

BROOKLYN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Brooklyn's baseball Dodgers announced today that they will train at Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, next spring, with their Montreal farm team from the International League training at San Cristobal, a smaller city about 20 miles away.

Dodger President Branch Rickey said the entire squad would arrive in the Caribbean city March 1 and remain until April 1. The Dodgers will play a minimum of 20 games at Normal school stadium, a modern plant with a fine playing field and seating capacity of 4,000.

Yankees Purchase Four Farm Hands

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP) (INS)—George Weiss, new general manager of the world's champion New York Yankees, announced the purchase of four farm hands today.

They are infielders Jos Collins and Jim Dyck, up from Newark, and Ed Stewart and Gerry Coleman, up from Kansas City. Stewart is an outfielder, and Coleman comes highly recommended as an exceptional fielding first baseman.

Collins batted 366 at Birmingham before reporting to Newark. Stewart paced Kansas City clouters with a .349 average.

Kuhel Appointed Manager Of Nats For 1948 Season

Former First Sacker Gets 1-Year Contract

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Washington Senators today sought a way out of their seventh-place troubles by hiring a magician for their manager.

Joe Kuhel, who does card tricks and is a member of the Society of American Magicians, signed a one-year contract.

He follows Ossie Bluege, who this week was given the job of running the Senators' farm clubs.

In the 17 years Kuhel was in the majors he established himself as one of the finest fielding first basemen in baseball. And he isn't entirely without managerial experience.

He spent four months last summer managing the Hot Springs, Ark., Club in the Class C Cotton States League. He took over the club on May 28, when it was sixth and last in the league, and managed to pull it up a notch higher, to fifth place.

Kuhel divided his big league time between the Senators and the Chicago White Sox.

The Senators saw him first, in 1930, when he hit .372 for Kansas City. They were so impressed they worked out $65,000 for Kuhel. That's the most the Senators ever paid for a player.

In 1938, he was swapped to the White Sox for slow-footed Zeke Bonura.

But he came back to Washington in 1944, and then returned to the White Sox last year.

They sent him down to manage their Hot Springs club, but released him when Clark Griffith, Senator president, said he wanted Kuhel to be head man here.

And so Griffith keeps his old policy. There was talk that Griffith might go after an established manager—such as Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians. But in the end Griffith decided, as he always has, that a former Washington player makes a good Washington manager.

Bucky Harris, Joe Cronin, Walter Johnson, Clyde Milan and Bluege all moved up from player to manager here.

Jones Stops Wall

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 9 (AP)—Mad Anthony Jones, 176, Boston, scored a seven round technical knockout over Bunky Wall, 170, of New Haven, Conn., in tonight's featured bout at the casino.

The referee stopped the bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, because of Wall's helpless condition.

Babe Zaharias Is Upset Victim In Texas Open

Bettye White Spills Top Feminine Player

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP)—Tiny Bettye Mims White of Dallas exploded one of the year's biggest links upsets in the face of Mrs. Babe Zaharias here today, eliminating the world's top feminine player in the Texas women's open quarter finals, 1 up.

The straight-shooting little Dallas amateur climaxed her startling triumph on the 18th green in a thrill-packed struggle.

Mrs. White, a 106-pounder, clinched her victory by calmly stroking in a six-foot birdie putt while 500 spectators tinged the green in absolute quiet.

She qualified for a semifinals match tomorrow with Carol Diringer, Tuffin, O., who defeated Polly Riley, Fort Worth, 1 up.

Peggy Kirk, Findlay, O., fired one of the day's hottest rounds in ousting another pro and former national champion, Patty Berg, Minneapolis, 4-2.

Maryland Plays Spiders Tonight

Terps Seek 3rd Win At College Park

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 9 (AP)—A University of Maryland team seeking again to vault into football's big time will be out for revenge when they meet the University of Richmond Spiders at Byrd Stadium here Friday night (at 8:15).

Richmond derailed the Terrapin Express last year as it sought to make a post-war comeback. Maryland was breezing along on the clouds after a lop-sided first game win over Baltimore naval training station, but Richmond brought them down to earth with a 37-7 thumping. The Terps never quite got back on the track.

Maryland is rolling again this year, with a 19-13 win over South Carolina and a 43-19 victory over Delaware.

Richmond doesn't look nearly so good on the record. The Spiders started off all right with a 28-7 verdict over Randolph-Macon, but since then they have absorbed a 16-3 loss to Washington and Lee and a 20-6 setback last week against Rollins College.

But Maryland was favored to win last year, too.

Richmond is coming back with about the same team that wrecked Maryland in 1946. Coach Johnny Fenlon has two fast backs in Joe LaLuna and Eddie Ralston and his forward wall averages heavier than the Terps.

Maryland has a new coach—Big Jim Tatum, who guided Oklahoma to a Big Six co-championship last year—and there are a lot of other new faces.

Extra seats have been installed and the crowd may exceed last week's Byrd Stadium record of 16,400.

Bruce At Flintstone, Central Plays Barton

Bruce High School will play Flintstone High on the latter's field and Barton High School will meet Central at Lonaconing in a pair of W.M.I. Soccer League contests today.

Both contests will get under way at 3:30 o'clock.

Today's games will mark completion of half of the eight-game schedule for each team.

Martinsburg Will Play Sentinels, Blackhawks To Test Keyser Eleven

HEADS YANKEES — George Weiss, who visited Cumberland in the days when the Colts were a Yankee "farm" team, is the new general manager of the New York American League club. Weiss, former vice president in charge of minor league operations of the club, succeeds Larry MacPhail, who resigned.

Berkeley At Beall, AHS At Hagerstown

Romney-Moorefield Meet In PVC Game

District scholastic football teams will engage in eight games today.

Three of the contests will be staged at night—Fort Hill-Martinsburg game in Fort Hill stadium, the Hagerstown-Allegany tilt at the Hagerstown Baseball Park and the conference tussle between Bruce Fisher's Bedford (Pa.) Bisons and Barnesboro High School on the latter's field in Cambria county. The starting time for these games is 8 o'clock.

Keyser Invades Ridgeley

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks will be gunning for their third straight victory when they meet Keyser High School today at 3:30 o'clock on the Ridgeley High School field.

Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High eleven will play its first Friday game of the season when it faces Coach Gerard Calhoun's Berkeley Springs High School eleven in the Mountain City at 3:15 p. m.

Undefeated in three starts, Romney High School's Pioneers, coached by Dick McElwee will tackle a worthy foe in meeting the Moorefield Yellow Jackets, defending champions, in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Moorefield this afternoon.

Tucker Rivals Tangle

The "Battle of Tucker County" brings together Homer Brooks' Parsons Panthers and Emil Suder's Thomas High School eleven on the latter's field.

In another afternoon game Franklin (W. Va.) High School will play host to Greenbank.

Bill Hahn's Sentinels will be out to annex their fourth straight victory when they face the Bulldogs of Coach John Cobourne tonight at the local stadium. Fort Hill has brushed aside Moorefield, Keyser and LaSalle in its last three starts and is conceded the edge over Martinsburg as the schools meet on the gridiron for the eleventh time. The Hilltoppers hold a 6-1 edge in wins. Three games ended in tie scores.

Martinsburg holds decisions over Roosevelt High (Washington, D. C.) and Waynesboro and lost to Hagerstown.

Tickets for tonight's game at the stadium may be purchased at Truitt's, Wilson Hardware Company, the Sports Center and Fort Hill High School.

A.H.S. Is Underdog

Defeated twice in three starts, Allegany will be the underdog when it meets Hagerstown for the 24th time tonight in the Hub City. The Campers hold a 14-8 edge in wins. One game ended in a tie. Eddie Semler's eleven is fresh from a victory over Martinsburg. Baltimore officials—Gadziola of Hardwick, Anderson of St. John's (Md.) and Bolz of Johns Hopkins—will handle the game.

Charles Asks Shot At Gus Lesnevich

Mintz Seeks Support Of Ring Commissions

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Jake Mintz, manager of Ezzard Charles, today fired several thousand shots in the opening phase of a "word war" to get his Cincinnati Clouter a chance at Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich's crown.

He claimed support from Pennsylvania Boxing Commissioner John Montgomery.

Montgomery has agreed to seek support from the other two Pennsylvania commissioners for Charles' prior claims on Lesnevich on any title appearance by the champ in this state.

("We've already recognized Charles as logical contender," Montgomery said. "I merely told Mintz that I would seek to have Charles' interests honored").

Mintz also said that, on Montgomery's advice, he would write to Abe Green, boss of the NBA of which Pennsylvania is a member, asking that the NBA give Charles first claim to a title fight in any state in which the NBA has jurisdiction.

BEAU JACK PLANS RETURN TO RING

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Beau Jack, one-time lightweight boxing champion of the world, has resumed ring training and will campaign in the future as a welterweight, Manager Chick Wergeles said today.

Jack, whose fistic career twice was interrupted by broken kneecaps, underwent an operation for the removal of the left kneecap last February and during training workouts the past week has shown his old time speed, Wergeles said.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, New York State Athletic Commission physician, performed the operation and has approved Jack's return to the ring.

Boric acid, which in its dilute form is used as an eyewash, contains boron, a non-metalic element used to help increase the hardenability of certain alloy steels.

Topeka Club Prexy Suspended For Year

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9 (AP)—Raymond Murphy, president of the Topeka, Kan., Club of the Western Association, was suspended from baseball for one year today by George M. Trautman, head of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

In addition, the Topeka club was fined $500 after Murphy admitted entering into a "side agreement" on a bonus arrangement with player Lee Dodson.

Murphy was suspended for violation of the "club president's affidavit" which stipulates that all compensation of any nature which a player is to receive must be incorporated in the player's contract.

OFF TO GOOD START—Veterans, like these pictured with Coach Bill Kern, carry West Virginia University hopes on the gridiron this season. The Mountaineers, facing a tough schedule which includes games with Penn State, Kentucky, Temple and Pitt, started off on the right foot by crushing Otterbein (59-0) and Washington and Lee (35-6). The players with Coach Kern above are (from left) Bud Freese, Russ Combs, Jimmy Walthall and Rex Bumgardner. Kneeling are Charley Schrader and Alva Richmond.

Fort Hill, Ridgeley And Beall Will Play Home Games Today

Beall Cops 6th In Row, Farrady Gets Nine Goals

Frostburg Defeats Grantsville, 10-3

FROSTBURG, Oct. 9.—Beall High School's soccer team extended its winning streak to six games today by trouncing Grantsville High School of Garrett county at Grantsville by the score of 10 to 3.

The victory gave Ed Finzel's eleven a clean sweep of the series, having won the opener 7 to 0. Beall has won four games in the W. M. I. League.

Bill Farrady, Beall's sharpshooting center forward, accounted for nine points in today's game. In the first period he booted three field goals and one penalty goal. He scored twice from the field in the second quarter, one field and one penalty goal in the third stanza and one fielder in the final canto. Jack Starkey made Beall's other point, a field goal in the opening quarter.

Grantsville scored three points in the third quarter on two field goals by Jenkins and one by Keister.

Gracie, Williams, Dawson and Farrady were outstanding for Beall while Minick, Keister and Jenkins played best for Grantsville. Lineups:

Pos.	Beall (10)	Grantsville (3)
Goal	Lemmert	Brenneman
FB	Pramm	Yommer
FB	Gracie	Crowe
LHB	Catherman	Stahl
CHB	Williams	Minick

IR	Witt	Colean
OR	Souders	Keister

Score by periods:

BEALL	5	2	2	1	—10
GRANTSVILLE	0	0	3	0	— 3

Field goals scored by Farrady 8, Starkey, Jenkins 2, Keister.

Penalty goal scored by Farrady.

Substitutes: Grantsville—Jenkins. Beall—Cosgrove, Matese, O'Rourke, McClintock, Hawkins, Adams, Duncan.

Newark Loses Pants Before Football Game

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9 (AP)—The Nutley-West Side (Newark) high school football game Saturday may have to be called off to avoid embarrassment to West Side, which lost its pants two days before the contest.

Irvin S. Rosenberg, athletic faculty adviser at the Newark school, reported that 50 pairs of football pants and other equipment were stolen from the school locker this morning.

"It's the fourth time in two years that someone has helped himself to the school's equipment," he said sadly.

Helis And Mori Buy Tanforan Race Track

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (AP)—Sale of Tanforan race track, California's oldest, to William G. Helis, New Orleans, and Eugene Mori, president of Garden State track at Camden, N. J. was announced today.

Attorney Thomas Dahlquist of San Francisco said the transaction involved transfer of stock valued at $2,187,500. He declined to disclose the track's liabilities, reported unofficially as more than $1,000,000. Major stockholders in Tanforan were Joseph Reinfeld of New York and Harry Robinson of Philadelphia.

BASEBALL BOOKIE'S CONVICTION AFFIRMED BY APPELLATE COURT

ATLANTA, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Georgia Court of Appeals affirmed today the conviction of Thomas Lee Grant on a charge of making books on bleacher bets during Atlanta Cracker baseball games. Grant was fined $500 and given 12 months on the public works.

It was charged that Grant offered bets of $4 to $1 that players who came to bat would not fly to the outfield. George Mauldin, former Atlanta Cracker, testified the chances against a fly ball to outfield were nine to one.

Armed Becomes Turf's Leading Money Winner

Takes Sysonby Mile And $18,600 Purse

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Armed became the world's leading money winner of the turf today when the six-year-old brown gelding beat With Pleasure by a length and a half in the $25,000 added Sysonby Mile before 20,611 fans at Belmont Park. Ensueno finished third, 15 lengths behind the winner, in the three-horse race.

Armed picked up a fast $18,600 by his triumph and now has earned $761,500 as compared against Stymie's $754,710. Stymie, however, will have a chance to regain the money winning lead on Saturday when he goes after the $100,000 New York Handicap at two miles and a quarter.

Perfectly ridden by Albert Snider, Armed covered the mile in the sparkling time of 1:36 with 126 pounds on his back. The fractions were :23 2/5 for the quarter, :46 1-5 for the half and 1:10 4-5 for six furlongs.

The odds-on son of Bull Lea-Armful by Chance Shot returned $2.70. There was no place or show wagering.

Armed and With Pleasure, Oscar E. Breaule's 4-year-old son of He Aid-Seldina by Insco, shot out of the starting gate simultaneously with the latter taking a lead of a head for a few fleeting moments. Armed then pulled even and the two sailed along head and head until turning into the stretch with Armed saving ground all the way along the inside.

As the two western horses straightened out after the turn for home, Jockey Snider hit Armed twice with the whip and the champion responded like the game thoroughbred that he is. Jackie Westrope, aboard With Pleasure, also applied the whip but Snider had made his move first and there was no catching Calumet's gelding.

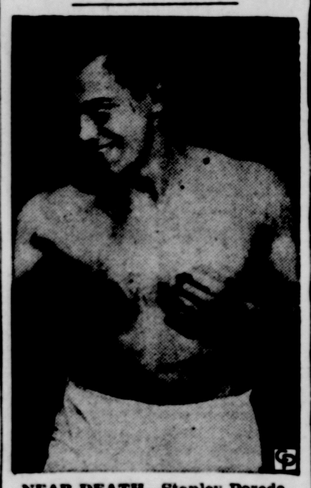
The race marked the resumption of a duel that started in Chicago where Armed and With Pleasure raced six times during the summer, each scoring three victories. However, today was the first time that Armed tacked it on With Pleasure over the mile distance.

With Pleasure, 9 to 5 second choice, also carried 126 pounds as did the South American Ensueno, $8.75 to 1 chance. The latter, owned by Nelson Seabra of Brazil, never was in serious contention.

Soccer Replaces Boxing At North Carolina

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—The University of North Carolina announced today it was replacing college boxing in its athletic program by soccer and made public a schedule for the first soccer team.

The schedule opens with a contest against Loyola of Baltimore at Baltimore, October 17. Other dates include Oct. 18, Navy at Annapolis.



NEAR DEATH—Stanley Poreda, Polish-American heavyweight, who was one of the leading ring campaigners in 1929-1934, is near death in a Jersey City hospital. Poreda held decisions over the late Ernie Schaaf, Johnny Risko, Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran. Before he retired from the ring, however, he was kayoed by Tom Heeney, Schaaf, Steve Dudas and Joe Louis.

It also is generally agreed that he is the best judge of a diamond in the rough, and his judgment on any ballplayer is readily accepted.

Therefore, when Rickey says that Joe DiMaggio of the Yanks is not only the greatest baseball player in the game today but must rank with the great of any age, one is inclined to agree with him without question.

Several of us were sitting around a table with Rickey after Bill Bevens of the Yanks had pitched and lost that one-hitter to the Dodgers on Cookie Lavagetto's pinch hit.

You would naturally suppose that Rickey would have been talking about Bevens or Lavagetto. Instead he gave those a quick brush-off.

Actually, that one-hitter was not nearly so good as it looks on paper. It was in fact a poorly pitched game. Three or four sensational catches had saved him up to that point despite the 10 bases on balls he gave.

Instead, Rickey was bubbling over with enthusiasm about DiMaggio.

"That catch Joe made today," said Branch, "was pure art. We should keep a motion picture camera on him all the time, for future generations of young ballplayers to study. He is as near perfection as it is possible for a human being to be."

I suggested that perhaps DiMaggio should be rated with Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Babe Ruth as an all-time great outfielder. I hinted that maybe we'd have to drop Speaker and insert DiMaggio in that generally accepted trio.

"Why just Speaker?" Rickey retorted, indicating that he thought DiMaggio had to have a place on an all-star team no matter who else had to be supplanted to make room for him.

Only Speaker could compare with Joe as a fielder. Ruth and Cobb were very good, of course, but neither rated with Tris and Joe as fielders.

Cobb was a marvelous hitter and the greatest base runner baseball has yet developed but he had a poor arm. Ruth gets his rating on his home run hitting rather than his fielding.

"But DiMaggio hasn't a fault," Rickey pointed out. "Just think of the things he can do. He has speed, far more speed than you'd think because he runs so easily and gracefully.

"His throwing has been powerful and accurate although he was bothered this year with a chipped elbow. He is a truly great hitter. Tremendous.

"He is a grand base runner and would steal the catchers' shirts if we played the old-time style of game these days."

"As for his fielding," Rickey concluded, "he can go back or come in or to either side and he makes the most difficult chances look easy.

"It's a pleasure to watch him. Take a good look at him any chance you get because he's like Man O' War, a very rare individual indeed."

You may judge from all this that DiMaggio is quite a ball player. And if you need further confirmation, just ask any other ballplayer about DiMaggio.

Gephart Eleven Wins

The Gephart Campers defeated the East Side Blue Devils football team by the score of 30 to 14 at Gephart Field.

Gephart's touchdowns were scored by Combs, Beall and Wilkinson. East Side registered both of its touchdowns in the final quarter.

Virginia Court To Hear Morgan Case On Oct. 24

Southern Conference Is Named Defendant

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 9 (AP)—In a move unprecedented in college athletics, John J. Wicker, local attorney and prominent University of Richmond alumnus, today took the Vernon Morgan case to court.

Acting as a friend of the University of Richmond freshman who was officially declared ineligible for Southern Conference competition over the weekend because of a contract he had signed with the New York Giant farm system more than three years ago, Wicher said he would ask Judge Julien Gunn of the Richmond and Henrico County Circuit Court to:

(1)—Declare the "so-called" contract of April 1, 1944, null and void

(2)—Direct the Southern Conference to rescind its action barring Morgan, and to recognize him as being eligible to compete for the University of Richmond.

(3)—Direct the University of Richmond to allow Morgan to play, subject to his "being good enough to make the team and maintaining his scholastic status."

The case is scheduled to be heard by Judge Gunn two weeks from today, October 24.

Wicker said petitions had been served on the Southern Conference, through President William H. Couper, and the University of Richmond to appear as defendants in the action. The conference is named because of the ruling barring Morgan; the University of Richmond because it is abiding by that decision.

At Lexington, Colonel Couper admitted he had been served papers. He said he would appear, but that the conference would probably take no action to defend the unanimous stand of Couper and the three-man executive committee in banning Morgan.

Wicker said he would charge the contract Morgan signed when he was 15 with the Springfield, Ohio, Ohio State League link of the Giant chain, and which is now on file at minor league headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, has never had any validity. Morgan is now carried on the voluntarily retired list of the Springfield team.

Major League Draft Meeting Is Scheduled Nov. 10 In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9. (AP)—The annual major league draft meeting will be held in Cincinnati at 11 a. m., Nov. 10, Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler announced late today.

Walter W. Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said notices of the meeting were sent to National and American League officials today.

Mulbry said it would be "possibly three weeks" before the lists of "several hundred" minor league players eligible for draft by major league clubs would be announced. The lists are being prepared in the commissioner's office, he added.

Under rules, the St. Louis Browns, last-place club in the American League in 1947, would get the first "pick" as the New York Giants, who finished last in the National League in 1946, got first choice at last year's draft meeting.

In accordance with rules, Mulbry said, the club getting second choice will be "determined by lot" in some manner, to be announced by the commissioner, between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh since they finished in a tie for eighth place in the National League.

Williams Reported Signed By Red Sox

BOSTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—The Boston Traveler said today that Ted Williams, Red Sox outfielder and American League batting champion, was secretly signed to a contract about two weeks ago which may make him the highest paid player of 1948.

The Traveler said a "casual guess" was that Williams would receive between $75,000 and $80,000.

Brooklyn Will Train In Central America

BROOKLYN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Brooklyn's baseball Dodgers announced today that they will train at Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, next spring, with their Montreal farm team from the International League training at San Cristobal, a smaller city about 20 miles away.

Dodger President Branch Rickey said the entire squad would arrive in the Caribbean city March 1 and remain until April 1. The Dodgers will play a minimum of 20 games at Normal school stadium, a modern plant with a fine playing field and seating capacity of 4,000.

Yankees Purchase Four Farm Hands

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP) (INS)—George Weiss, new general manager of the world's champion New York Yankees, announced the purchase of four farm hands today.

They are infielders Jos Collins and Jim Dyck, up from Newark, and Ed Stewart and Gerry Coleman, up from Kansas City. Stewart is an outfielder, and Coleman comes highly recommended as an exceptional fielding first baseman.

Collins batted 366 at Birmingham before reporting to Newark. Stewart paced Kansas City clouters with a .349 average.

Kuhel Appointed Manager Of Nats For 1948 Season

Former First Sacker Gets 1-Year Contract

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Washington Senators today sought a way out of their seventh-place troubles by hiring a magician for their manager.

Joe Kuhel, who does card tricks and is a member of the Society of American Magicians, signed a one-year contract.

He follows Ossie Bluege, who this week was given the job of running the Senators' farm clubs.

In the 17 years Kuhel was in the majors he established himself as one of the finest fielding first basemen in baseball. And he isn't entirely without managerial experience.

He spent four months last summer managing the Hot Springs, Ark., Club in the Class C Cotton States League. He took over the club on May 28, when it was sixth and last in the league, and managed to pull it up a notch higher, to fifth place.

Kuhel divided his big league time between the Senators and the Chicago White Sox.

The Senators saw him first, in 1930, when he hit .372 for Kansas City. They were so impressed they worked out $65,000 for Kuhel. That's the most the Senators ever paid for a player.

In 1938, he was swapped to the White Sox for slow-footed Zeke Bonura.

But he came back to Washington in 1944, and then returned to the White Sox last year.

They sent him down to manage their Hot Springs club, but released him when Clark Griffith, Senator president, said he wanted Kuhel to be head man here.

And so Griffith keeps his old policy. There was talk that Griffith might go after an established manager—such as Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians. But in the end Griffith decided, as he always has, that a former Washington player makes a good Washington manager.

Bucky Harris, Joe Cronin, Walter Johnson, Clyde Milan and Bluege all moved up from player to manager here.

Jones Stops Wall

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 9 (AP)—Mad Anthony Jones, 176, Boston, scored a seven round technical knockout over Bunky Wall, 170, of New Haven, Conn., in tonight's featured bout at the casino.

The referee stopped the bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, because of Wall's helpless condition.

Babe Zaharias Is Upset Victim In Texas Open

Bettye White Spills Top Feminine Player

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP)—Tiny Bettye Mims White of Dallas exploded one of the year's biggest links upsets in the face of Mrs. Babe Zaharias here today, eliminating the world's top feminine player in the Texas women's open quarter finals, 1 up.

The straight-shooting little Dallas amateur climaxed her startling triumph on the 18th green in a thrill-packed struggle.

Mrs. White, a 106-pounder, clinched her victory by calmly stroking in a six-foot birdie putt while 500 spectators tinged the green in absolute quiet.

She qualified for a semifinals match tomorrow with Carol Diringer, Tuffin, O., who defeated Polly Riley, Fort Worth, 1 up.

Peggy Kirk, Findlay, O., fired one of the day's hottest rounds in ousting another pro and former national champion, Patty Berg, Minneapolis, 4-2.

Maryland Plays Spiders Tonight

Terps Seek 3rd Win At College Park

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 9 (AP)—A University of Maryland team seeking again to vault into football's big time will be out for revenge when they meet the University of Richmond Spiders at Byrd Stadium here Friday night (at 8:15).

Richmond derailed the Terrapin Express last year as it sought to make a post-war comeback. Maryland was breezing along on the clouds after a lop-sided first game win over Baltimore naval training station, but Richmond brought them down to earth with a 37-7 thumping. The Terps never quite got back on the track.

Maryland is rolling again this year, with a 19-13 win over South Carolina and a 43-19 victory over Delaware.

Richmond doesn't look nearly so good on the record. The Spiders started off all right with a 28-7 verdict over Randolph-Macon, but since then they have absorbed a 16-3 loss to Washington and Lee and a 20-6 setback last week against Rollins College.

But Maryland was favored to win last year, too.

Richmond is coming back with about the same team that wrecked Maryland in 1946. Coach Johnny Fenlon has two fast backs in Joe LaLuna and Eddie Ralston and his forward wall averages heavier than the Terps.

Maryland has a new coach—Big Jim Tatum, who guided Oklahoma to a Big Six co-championship last year—and there are a lot of other new faces.

Extra seats have been installed and the crowd may exceed last week's Byrd Stadium record of 16,400.

Bruce At Flintstone, Central Plays Barton

Bruce High School will play Flintstone High on the latter's field and Barton High School will meet Central at Lonaconing in a pair of W.M.I. Soccer League contests today.

Both contests will get under way at 3:30 o'clock.

Today's games will mark completion of half of the eight-game schedule for each team.

Martinsburg Will Play Sentinels, Blackhawks To Test Keyser Eleven

HEADS YANKEES — George Weiss, who visited Cumberland in the days when the Colts were a Yankee "farm" team, is the new general manager of the New York American League club. Weiss, former vice president in charge of minor league operations of the club, succeeds Larry MacPhail, who resigned.

Berkeley At Beall, AHS At Hagerstown

Romney-Moorefield Meet In PVC Game

District scholastic football teams will engage in eight games today.

Three of the contests will be staged at night—Fort Hill-Martinsburg game in Fort Hill stadium, the Hagerstown-Allegany tilt at the Hagerstown Baseball Park and the conference tussle between Bruce Fisher's Bedford (Pa.) Bisons and Barnesboro High School on the latter's field in Cambria county. The starting time for these games is 8 o'clock.

Keyser Invades Ridgeley

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks will be gunning for their third straight victory when they meet Keyser High School today at 3:30 o'clock on the Ridgeley High School field.

Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High eleven will play its first Friday game of the season when it faces Coach Gerard Calhoun's Berkeley Springs High School eleven in the Mountain City at 3:15 p. m.

Undefeated in three starts, Romney High School's Pioneers, coached by Dick McElwee will tackle a worthy foe in meeting the Moorefield Yellow Jackets, defending champions, in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Moorefield this afternoon.

Tucker Rivals Tangle

The "Battle of Tucker County" brings together Homer Brooks Parsons Panthers and Emil Suder's Thomas High School eleven on the latter's field.

In another afternoon game Franklin (W. Va.) High School will play host to Greenbank.

Bill Hahn's Sentinels will be out to annex their fourth straight victory when they face the Bulldogs of Coach John Cobourne tonight at the local stadium. Fort Hill has brushed aside Moorefield, Keyser and LaSalle in its last three starts and is conceded the edge over Martinsburg as the schools meet on the gridiron for the eleventh time. The Hilltoppers hold a 6-1 edge in wins. Three games ended in tie scores.

Martinsburg holds decisions over Roosevelt High (Washington, D. C.) and Waynesboro and lost to Hagerstown.

Tickets for tonight's game at the stadium may be purchased at Truitt's, Wilson Hardware Company, the Sports Center and Fort Hill High School.

A.H.S. Is Underdog

Defeated twice in three starts, Allegany will be the underdog when it meets Hagerstown for the 24th time tonight in the Hub City. The Campers hold a 14-8 edge in wins. One game ended in a tie. Eddie Semler's eleven is fresh from a victory over Martinsburg. Baltimore officials—Gadziola of Hardwick, Anderson of St. John's (Md.) and Bolz of Johns Hopkins—will handle the game.

Charles Asks Shot At Gus Lesnevich

Mintz Seeks Support Of Ring Commissions

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Jake Mintz, manager of Ezzard Charles, today fired several thousand shots in the opening phase of a "word war" to get his Cincinnati Clouter a chance at Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich's crown.

He claimed support from Pennsylvania Boxing Commissioner John Montgomery.

Montgomery has agreed to seek support from the other two Pennsylvania commissioners for Charles' prior claims on Lesnevich on any title appearance by the champ in this state.

("We've already recognized Charles as logical contender," Montgomery said. "I merely told Mintz that I would seek to have Charles' interests honored").

Mintz also said that, on Montgomery's advice, he would write to Abe Green, boss of the NBA of which Pennsylvania is a member, asking that the NBA give Charles first claim to a title fight in any state in which the NBA has jurisdiction.

BEAU JACK PLANS RETURN TO RING

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Beau Jack, one-time lightweight boxing champion of the world, has resumed ring training and will campaign in the future as a welterweight, Manager Chick Wergeles said today.

Jack, whose fistic career twice was interrupted by broken kneecaps, underwent an operation for the removal of the left kneecap last February and during training workouts the past week has shown his old time speed, Wergeles said.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, New York State Athletic Commission physician, performed the operation and has approved Jack's return to the ring.

Boric acid, which in its dilute form is used as an eyewash, contains boron, a non-metalic element used to help increase the hardenability of certain alloy steels.

OFF TO GOOD START—Veterans, like these pictured with Coach Bill Kern, carry West Virginia University hopes on the gridiron this season. The Mountaineers, facing a tough schedule which includes games with Penn State, Kentucky, Temple and Pitt, started off on the right foot by crushing Otterbein (59-0) and Washington and Lee (35-6). The players with Coach Kern above are (from left) Bud Freese, Russ Combs, Jimmy Walthall and Rex Bumgardner. Kneeling are Charley Schrader and Alva Richmond.

Topeka Club Prexy Suspended For Year

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9 (AP)—Raymond Murphy, president of the Topeka, Kan., Club of the Western Association, was suspended from baseball for one year today by George M. Trautman, head of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

In addition, the Topeka club was fined $500 after Murphy admitted entering into a "side agreement" on a bonus arrangement with player Lee Dodson.

Murphy was suspended for violation of the "club president's affidavit" which stipulates that all compensation of any nature which a player is to receive must be incorporated in the player's contract.

GRANDPA'S FULL OF PEP

How He's Found Fast Help From Getting Up Nights

o Here's good news for you folks who have to get up at night to pass water, have backache, too, because of minor functional kidney disorders.

Three generations ago, a famous doctor developed a medicine for this very trouble. Now millions have used it, often with amazingly fast, effective results. The medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, made of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, and balsams — truly nature's own way to relief. Instantly you take it, it starts to work flushing out kidneys . . . increases the flow of urine, helping to relieve excess acidity . . . so irritated bladder gets a good flushing out, too. Caution: Take as directed. You'll say it's marvelous.

For free trial supply, write Dept. F, Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1255, Stamford, Conn. Or — get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your druggist.

The name Ignatius has associations with the Eastern Church, but occurs at a time when the Latin names prevailed as much as Greek ones in the Asiatic portions of the Roman empire. It is thought that the Latin word "ignis" (fire) is the most satisfactory derivation of the name.

Did you know that if one of your wheels is as little as one-eighth inch out of line, your tire is dragged sideways approximately 85 feet in every mile? It is easy to see from this fact, how much unnecessary wear your tires receive if your wheels are out of line.

Faulty wheel alignment, like faulty brakes, also makes driving hazardous. Play safe—drive in today and let us check your wheel alignment with our Bennett-Feragen Chassis Analyzer. In a matter of minutes we can give you accurate, visual proof of the exact alignment condition of your wheels. If correction is necessary, we can put your wheels in perfect alignment quickly and at a surprisingly low cost.

The name Ignatius has associations with the Eastern Church, but occurs at a time when the Latin names prevailed as much as Greek ones in the Asiatic portions of the Roman empire. It is thought that the Latin word "ignis" (fire) is the most satisfactory derivation of the name.

A "bounty jumper" in the U. S. Civil war was one who, upon payment of bounty, enlisted in the army and afterwards deserted the service. A man who did this successfully once, usually repeated the performance until he had accumulated quite a sum of money or was caught at the game.

Did you know that if one of your wheels is as little as one-eighth inch out of line, your tire is dragged sideways approximately 85 feet in every mile? It is easy to see from this fact, how much unnecessary wear your tires receive if your wheels are out of line.

Faulty wheel alignment, like faulty brakes, also makes driving hazardous. Play safe—drive in today and let us check your wheel alignment with our Bennett-Feragen Chassis Analyzer. In a matter of minutes we can give you accurate, visual proof of the exact alignment condition of your wheels. If correction is necessary, we can put your wheels in perfect alignment quickly and at a surprisingly low cost.

American Voters Ready To Match Russians In Spending For Science

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9—Americans are willing to match the Russians in expenditures for scientific research.

Not only does a huge majority approve doubling this nation's scientific research budget but a majority of those with opinions express a willingness to pay higher taxes to make the expanded program possible.

Representative voters in a coast-to-coast survey were asked:

"It has been suggested that the U. S. spend two billion dollars a year for various kinds of scientific and military research. Do you think this is a good idea or a poor idea?"

The response:

Good idea	76%
Poor	13
No Opinion	11

The enlarged research program was drafted by a Presidential advisory board, which advised the government to double expenditures in this field by 1957. The issue enters the international arena, since the Board points out that Russia this year is spending $100,000,000 more than the U. S. on scientific development. In terms of Soviet national income this means that their expenditures are relatively far higher than this country's.

Of the persons interviewed those with most education tend to give much stronger approval than those with less formal training. Professional and business people give above-average support; while manual workers and farmers are the least enthusiastic. Younger voters like the idea more than their elders.

In the same survey a second question was asked:

"Would you be willing to pay more taxes to make this (the increased expenditure) possible?"

Yes	50%
No	38
No Opinion	12

Of the 77 per cent who favored spending the 2 billion dollars in the first question 63 per cent indicated a willingness to pay more taxes.

Further analysis of the answers reveals that people who most strongly favor higher taxes for this purpose are already in the higher income tax brackets.

By occupations the results were:

	Willing To Pay More Taxes	Not Willing	No Opin.
Professional and Business	60%	32%	8%
White Collar Workers	55	36	9
Farmers	54	32	14
Manual Workers	43	42	15

Americans have been past masters in applying basic discoveries of foreign scientists to practical purposes. The broader research activity now recommended is designed in part to increase this nation's fund of basic scientific knowledge so that we will no longer be dependent on other countries.

The United States is now spending about $1,160,000,000 for scientific research, or half of one per cent of the national income. Leading scientists believe this should be increased to $2,240,000,000 within the next decade, if the United States is to stay in the race for scientific supremacy.

Under the recommendations military development would receive slightly more money, while non-military research would be more than doubled. Expenditures for basic, as contrasted with applied research would be tripled as would be the funds allotted to research in the health fields.

West Virginia Law Aids Legal Profession

A new West Virginia law governing and protecting the state's legal profession will not affect the "courtesy" arrangement whereby Maryland lawyers may represent clients in specific West Virginia cases, according to Attorney Harry Drane, Keyser.

Under the new law, passed to prevent illegal practice by laymen, October 1 was the deadline for all persons practicing law in West Virginia to become a member of the State Bar.

To be a member, a person must either be a graduate of West Virginia University Law School or must have passed an examination conducted by the State Board of Law Examiners.

Theft Is Reported

Police said a man who identified himself as Harold M. Itynce, Brunswick, reported yesterday that his room at the B. and O. "Y" was entered during the night and his wallet and $2.60 taken.

Itynce said he found his trousers and papers from the wallet under the mattress of a bed in a nearby room.

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9—Americans are willing to match the Russians in expenditures for scientific research.

Not only does a huge majority approve doubling this nation's scientific research budget but a majority of those with opinions express a willingness to pay higher taxes to make the expanded program possible.

Representative voters in a coast-to-coast survey were asked:

"It has been suggested that the U. S. spend two billion dollars a year for various kinds of scientific and military research. Do you think this is a good idea or a poor idea?"

The response:

Good idea	76%
Poor	13
No Opinion	11

The enlarged research program was drafted by a Presidential advisory board, which advised the government to double expenditures in this field by 1957. The issue enters the international arena, since the Board points out that Russia this year is spending $100,000,000 more than the U. S. on scientific development. In terms of Soviet national income this means that their expenditures are relatively far higher than this country's.

Of the persons interviewed those with most education tend to give much stronger approval than those with less formal training. Professional and business people give above-average support, while manual workers and farmers are the least enthusiastic. Younger voters like the idea more than their elders.

In the same survey a second question was asked:

"Would you be willing to pay more taxes to make this (the increased expenditure) possible?"

Yes	50%
No	38
No Opinion	12

Of the 77 per cent who favored spending the 2 billion dollars in the first question 63 per cent indicated a willingness to pay more taxes.

Further analysis of the answers reveals that people who most strongly favor higher taxes for this purpose are already in the higher income tax brackets.

By occupations the results were:

	Willing To Pay More Taxes	Not Willing	No Opin.
Professional and Business	60%	32%	8%
White Collar Workers	55	36	9
Farmers	54	32	14
Manual Workers	43	42	15

Americans have been past masters in applying basic discoveries of foreign scientists to practical purposes. The broader research activity now recommended is designed in part to increase this nation's fund of basic scientific knowledge so that we will no longer be dependent on other countries.

The United States is now spending about $1,160,000,000 for scientific research, or half of one per cent of the national income. Leading scientists believe this should be increased to $2,240,000,000 within the next decade, if the United States is to stay in the race for scientific supremacy.

Under the recommendations military development would receive slightly more money, while non-military research would be more than doubled. Expenditures for basic, as contrasted with applied research would be tripled as would be the funds allotted to research in the health fields.

West Virginia Law Aids Legal Profession

A new West Virginia law governing and protecting the state's legal profession will not affect the "courtesy" arrangement whereby Maryland lawyers may represent clients in specific West Virginia cases, according to Attorney Harry Drane, Keyser.

Under the new law, passed to prevent illegal practice by laymen, October 1 was the deadline for all persons practicing law in West Virginia to become a member of the State Bar.

To be a member, a person must either be a graduate of West Virginia University Law School or must have passed an examination conducted by the State Board of Law Examiners.

Theft Is Reported

Police said a man who identified himself as Harold M. Itynce, Brunswick, reported yesterday that his room at the B. and O. "Y" was entered during the night and his wallet and $2.60 taken.

Itynce said he found his trousers and papers from the wallet under the mattress of a bed in a nearby room.

Unions To Ask Doctors For Emergency Service

The Western Maryland Unity Conference reported yesterday that it will seek a meeting with the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society concerning a plan whereby a physician would always be available in local hospitals for emergency cases, William Boyd Coleman, vice president, said yesterday.

He said the labor group asked the legislative committee to act upon the matter. The group, Coleman said, suggested a schedule be arranged so that a doctor would always be available.

The conference, through its legislative committee, has also asked members of the Allegany County delegation to the state legislature to seek repeal of the sales tax if Governor Lane calls a special session of the General Assembly.

Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November, 1863 as the first annual national Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Anderson Dies At Home Of Her Daughter

Funeral Service To Be Held Tomorrow

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

Mrs. Viola Anderson, 77, widow of Reed Anderson, died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kirkwood Jones, 156 Bowery Street, after a long illness.

Besides Mrs. Jones, survivors include four other daughters, Mrs. Ethel Groter, Mrs. Carrie Byers and Mrs. Althea Martin, all of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Jennie Fuller, this city; one sister, Mrs. Rose Garlitz, Grantsville, and a brother, Edward Fazenbaker, this city.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., at the residence, with Rev. Watson E. Holley, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Blocher Cemetery, Garrett County.

Mrs. Cosgrove Dies

Mrs. Dorothy Porter Cosgrove, 47, wife of Joseph Cosgrove, 67 Frost Avenue, died yesterday afternoon at her home. She had been in failing health for the past year.

A native of Frostburg, Mrs. Cosgrove was a daughter of the late Owen L. Porter and Mrs. Anna Jones Porter. Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Miss Ruth Ann Cosgrove, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Raymond McGuire, Hagerstown, and Mrs. Francis Brady, this city; and a brother, Owen L. Porter, Savannah, Ga.

Her father died last May while serving as a magistrate of the local Trail Magistrate's Court. Her mother died many years ago.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Michael's Catholic Church. Interment will be in St. Michael's cemetery.

Sorority Holds Banquet

The semi-annual banquet of Phi Omicrom Delta Sorority of Frostburg State Teachers College was held Wednesday at Big Savage Inn, with 16 members and 12 pledges attending. The pledges were Norma Schulte, Rose Marie Stakem, Ann and Virginia Shireman, Peggy Ann Carter, Christine Smith, Dorothea Yates, Dorothea Creek, Ruth Robinson, Mary Frances Comer, Eleanor Pinault and Phyllis Burley.

Faculty members present were Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson, advisors; Miss Lillian Compton, president of the college; Dr. and Mrs. Carl Garrison, Dr. Howard Briggs, Dr. Dorothy Howard, Mrs. Lucille Play, Miss Louise Shaffer and Mrs. Frances Lawlor.

The toast to the members was given by Betty McDonough, who acted as toastmistress. The responses were: fellowship, Norma Schulte; education, Dorothea Yates, and music, Mary Frances Comer. Greetings from the faculty to the sorority members were given by Dr. Garrison.

Crowe Heads Cyclists

Clifford Crowe was elected president of the Frostburg Motorcycle Club at its organization meeting recently at the Crowe-Pontiac Garage. Rules and regulations of the American Motorcycle Association were read and accepted and an application will be filed with the A.M.A. for a charter. Tri-Towns Police Radio Equipment Is Presented

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT—A large crowd witnessed the presentation of the two-way FM shortwave communication system for the police cruiser cars of Westernport and Piedmont by William Phelps, president of the Westernport and Luke Lions Club, in front of the Piedmont Opera House Wednesday night.

Mayor Harold Fredlock accepted for the city of Piedmont and Mayor J. Milton McIntyre for Westernport.

Mayor John C. Freeland of Keyser, was the guest speaker, and he said these facilities connect the Tri-Towns with the entire continent within a short time.

William Beck, who was president of the Lion's Club when the house to house canvass was made to purchase the apparatus, presided.

A demonstration was held with James Harrison, chief of police of Piedmont, speaking from the Piedmont police car, parked in front of the speaker's stand, to Chief Burza Hanlin of Westernport. Clyde Trent, of the Lion's Club, called the Keyser Police Station, the master station, to have Chief Hanlin told to report to Piedmont; within two minutes he reported although held up in traffic.

The telephone number of the Keyser Police station for Tri-Towns residents is 9-4321. Anyone needing an officer should dial this number. The police cruiser car of Keyser is also equipped. Keyser's share was sponsored by the Keyser Lion's Club.

The American Legion band of Victory Post No. 155, Westernport, directed by Miles T. Haran, played several numbers.

Preceding the program a street parade was held which was led by the drum and bugle corps of Kelly-Mansfield Post No. 52, American Legion, Piedmont, followed by Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1 and truck of Piedmont; Beryl Fire Company and truck; Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, and truck, and American Legion Band of Victory Post No. 155, Westernport.

The Westernport and Luke Lions Club is sponsoring a drive for street signs and safety signs to be placed near the Piedmont, Westernport and Luke schools, and raincoats and caps bearing the Lion's club emblem for the school patrols of the schools of Westernport and Piedmont.

The house to house solicitation began yesterday.

The project is in charge of the civic improvement and safety committees of the club which met at the Piedmont Council Chamber last Wednesday night.

The signs and clothing were ordered last night at an approximate cost of $1,500.

The 100 signs will be embossed with rust-proof steel.

The two committees will name assistants to conduct the drive. The civic improvement committee is composed of Robert Myabury, chairman, Norris Bruce, Heber Poland and Richard Chaney. Safety committee includes George Lincoln, chairman, Clyde Trent, Burza Hanlin, Joseph Alongi and Ervin Marsh.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE RECONVERTED, FORGETTING BOMBS

AP Newsfeatures

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco school teachers conclude that pupils have all been reconverted to peacetime childhood, complete with zoos.

"They no longer draw Japanese Zeroes going down, or men parachuting," says Miss Doris Sinclair, kindergarten teacher. "They still draw planes and they still play war, but not with the vengeance that children did in war years."

All teachers agree that childhood art is back to pictures of people without uniforms and houses without bombs falling on them.

Miss Elizabeth Chapman said her beginning first graders this fall seemed "more worldly," perhaps because parents traveled more in wartime. Miss Sinclair said parents still must be taking children around more, because "they all know what I mean when I talk about parks and zoos."

Teachers agreed that the warborn babies are as healthy as any other crop, and much more numerous.

U. S. Helps Greeks To Winterize Airfields

ATHENS (AP) — The American Mission for Aid to Greece will assist the Greek government in winterizing five military airfields in northern Greece at Salonika, Larissa, Cozane, Kavalla, and Yannina.

The mission has ordered 2,100,000 square feet of pierced steel planking from the United States, 500,000 square feet of which is already here. The balance is expected within several weeks, says Lt. Col. Frank J. Novak of Chicago, chief of air corps supply, military division of the AMAG.

Runways will be 105 feet wide and about 800 yards long.

2 New Teachers Are Appointed At Central High

Sophomores Plan Dance For Oct. 29

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING — Donald A. Ruckle and Edward J. Lewicki, Pennsylvania, have been added to Central High School's faculty for the 1947-48 term.

Ruckle is assigned to the Commercial department and began teaching at the Lonaconing high school last week. His subjects are typewriting, office practice and bookkeeping.

His wife, Mrs. Edna Ruckle, his daughter, Alice Jane, and twin daughters, Bonnie and Barbara, reside in Pennsylvania at present.

He was graduated from the State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, Pa., in 1935 with a bachelor of science degree in Commerce. Since that time he has been associated with the Trafford High School, Trafford, Pa., teaching bookkeeping, commercial law, typewriting and junior business training.

In addition to these subjects he was head wrestling coach and assisted with football. In the past three years his wrestling teams won 56 of 61 dual meets. He was acting secretary to the Trafford Realty Company, Trafford, Pa., and manager of the Blue Dell Swimming Pool during the summer months.

He is also instructor this year in typewriting for the Adult Education program night school classes that are held each Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m. at Central school.

Lewicki, Dickson City, Pa., is appointed to the History Department of the high school. He teaches social studies, world history and democracy.

He is a graduate of University of Scranton, Scranton, Pa., with magna cum laude honors in the class of 1946, and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree. He taught at Tuckerton, New Jersey, high school. He is at present residing in Lonaconing.

The sophomore class chose Mr. Lewicki as the sponsor of their class. The class is planning a dance on October 29 at the school.

SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE RECONVERTED, FORGETTING BOMBS

AP Newsfeatures

SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco school teachers conclude that pupils have all been reconverted to peacetime childhood, complete with zoos.

"They no longer draw Japanese Zeroes going down, or men parachuting," says Miss Doris Sinclair, kindergarten teacher. "They still draw planes and they still play war, but not with the vengeance that children did in war years."

All teachers agree that childhood art is back to pictures of people without uniforms and houses without bombs falling on them.

Miss Elizabeth Chapman said her beginning first graders this fall seemed "more worldly," perhaps because parents traveled more in wartime. Miss Sinclair said parents still must be taking children around more, because "they all know what I mean when I talk about parks and zoos."

Teachers agreed that the war-born babies are as healthy as any other crop, and much more numerous.

U. S. Helps Greeks To Winterize Airfields

ATHENS (AP) — The American Mission for Aid to Greece will assist the Greek government in winterizing five military airfields in northern Greece at Salonika, Larissa, Cozane, Kavalla, and Yannina.

The mission has ordered 2,100,000 square feet of pierced steel planking from the United States, 500,000 square feet of which is already here. The balance is expected within several weeks, says Lt. Col. Frank J. Novak of Chicago, chief of air corps supply, military division of the AMAG.

Runways will be 105 feet wide and about 800 yards long.

2 New Teachers Are Appointed At Central High

Sophomores Plan Dance For Oct. 29

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING — Donald A. Ruckle and Edward J. Lewicki, Pennsylvania, have been added to Central High School's faculty for the 1947-48 term.

Ruckle is assigned to the Commercial department and began teaching at the Lonaconing high school last week. His subjects are typewriting, office practice and bookkeeping.

His wife, Mrs. Edna Ruckle, his daughter, Alice Jane, and twin daughters, Bonnie and Barbara, reside in Pennsylvania at present.

He was graduated from the State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, Pa., in 1935 with a bachelor of science degree in Commerce. Since that time he has been associated with the Trafford High School, Trafford, Pa., teaching bookkeeping, commercial law, typewriting and junior business training.

In addition to these subjects he was head wrestling coach and assisted with football. In the past three years his wrestling teams won 56 of 61 dual meets. He was acting secretary to the Trafford Realty Company, Trafford, Pa., and manager of the Blue Dell Swimming Pool during the summer months.

He is also instructor this year in typewriting for the Adult Education program night school classes that are held each Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m. at Central school.

Lewicki, Dickson City, Pa., is appointed to the History Department of the high school. He teaches social studies, world history and democracy.

He is a graduate of University of Scranton, Scranton, Pa., with magna cum laude honors in the class of 1946, and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree. He taught at Tuckerton, New Jersey, high school. He is at present residing in Lonaconing.

The sophomore class chose Mr. Lewicki as the sponsor of their class. The class is planning a dance on October 29 at the school.

Washington County Imposes Youth Curfew

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 9 (AP) —The Washington County sheriff's office will impose a midnight curfew on youths under 16 years of age found roaming the streets.

Deputy Sheriff Lester Isanogle said youths would be taken into custody unless accompanied by adults.

Isanogle said the decision came after police learned that juveniles had been responsible for a number of recent depredations and cases of breaking and entering during the early morning hours.

Westernport Man Arrested In Case Involving Girl, 14

Police Say Trio Found In Auto

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va.—One man was held for grand jury action, another was being sought, and a 14-year-old girl was ordered held in Keyser yesterday, after police said they found the trio in a parked car at 2:30 a. m. recently.

Authorities identified the man being held as Robert Wolfe, Westernport, and said he was committed to jail in default of $500 bond by Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle who ordered him held for action of the grand jury, on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Officer Paul Houdyshell said the second man, whom he did not identify, is still being sought, and said a warrent has been issued for his arrest.

Judge Ernest A. See, Mineral County Circuit Court, ordered the girl held in jail, pending the outcome of the case.

Sorority Entertains

Members of the Sigma Epsilon Chi Sorority of Potomac State School assisted by the alumni and patronesses of the sorority entertained their rushees with a formal reception Wednesday night at the home of Attorney and Mrs. E. L. Tyler.

The home was decorated with purple and gold asters, the sorority colors. The group was entertained with piano selections by Charles McCulloly, Cumberland.

Officers of the sorority served in the receiving line. Mrs. E. E. Church and Mrs. Leslie Yost presided at the coffee urn.

Tasker Rites Planned

A funeral service for Lewis Wesley Tasker, 77, who died at his home, Maryland Street, Wednesday afternoon, will be held at the home this afternoon at 2:30, with Rev. L. G. Bridgers, pastor of Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating, assisted by Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Interment will be in Meadow Point Cemetery.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Mixon, 59 James Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna Ruth, to Allan M. Rotruck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Rotruck, 262 South Street.

Miss Mixon is a graduate of Keyser High School and attended Potomac State School. She is now employed at the local Atlantic and Pacific Tea Store as cashier.

Mr. Rotruck, a World War II veteran, served with the Army 20 months, 18 months in the European Theater of Operations. He is a graduate of Keyser High School and attended Potomac State School. He is now associated with the N. L. Rogers Funeral Home.

No wedding date has yet been set.

Additional Tucker County Veterans Enroll In Related Training Classes

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mrs. E. B. Olson, clerk of the Related Instructional program in Tucker County, states that more veterans have enrolled in the two training programs for the month of October.

Two series of classes are being given in Parsons High School each week on Monday and Tuesday evenings and in Thomas High School on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

There are 69 veterans enrolled in the institutional-on the farm training in agriculture in Tucker County with four instructors, Bruce Auvil, William G. Smith, former teachers of this county, Robert A. Felton and Harry Eakin.

Veterans are taking shop theory classes in Parsons High School under the supervision of Glen K. Henry, and the business relations class under the supervision of Mrs. Nelle McVicker.

In Thomas, veterans taking shop theory are under the supervision of Ira B. Harris. The business relations class is under Miss Lucille Dumire.

New Teacher Hired

Miss Dorothy McKinney was hired as a teacher in the Coketon colored school to replace Mrs. Jeannette Simms, Cumberland, Md., who resigned due to ill health.

Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, stated that the board also set the Thanksgiving holidays to start with the close of schools on Wednesday, November 26, to resume on Monday, December 1

The board announced that the one-room school at Close Mountain, closed since 1943, had been purchased by Tilden VanMeter who also purchased the lands around the building.

A commendation was sent to Parsons High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America for their efforts in publishing the Vo-Ag News at the school last month.

The board also signed a rental agreement with the State Road Commission for the use of their power shovel October 15 to November 15 in grading and leveling the new Thomas playground.

Several teachers in this county will leave today to attend the state meeting of the Classroom Teachers Association to be held in Charleston over the weekend.

Enrollment Shows Slight Decrease

The enrollment in the high and elementary schools of this county shows a slight decrease since last year, according to Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent, who stated that 2,678 students were enrolled in the first month of the school this year or 12 less than for the same period last year when 2,690 students were enrolled.

Hot Lunch Programs Start

Twelve schools of Tucker County were approved and will have hot lunches during the coming winter. Two more schools, Limestone and Cosner, have been added this year but did not start until October 1. Other schools which started their program on October 1 include Laneville, Wolford, Mill Run, Cosner and Davis high and grade schools, and Porterwood.

Schools which had their hot lunch program during the month of September included Flanagan Hill, Hamrick, Parsons Grade School, and Parsons High School.

Bible Class Starts

Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Parsons, and chairman of the Religious Educational Program for the Tucker County Council of Churches, started his course in Parsons High School this week at which time 37 students enrolled in the two classes.

Wildey Rebekah Lodge Marks 96th Anniversary

By MRS. ROSE O'ROURKE

Wildey Rebekah Lodge No. 4 celebrated the 86th anniversary of the Rebekah Degree on Friday evening with a covered dish supper; it was largely attended. Guests included five members from Adam Thompson Lodge, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Emma Cessna, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Maryland, and member of Calfax Lodge, No. 1, Cumberland. The regular meeting followed.

Wildey Rebekah Lodge No. 4 will attend the Methodist Church in a body on Sunday evening, October 12, at 7:30. Rev. Lee H. Richcreek will give the address. This service is in connection with the 96th anniversary. The members are to be guests of Wicomico Lodge, No. 28, Paw Paw, W. Va., tonight, at which time the degree staff of Wildey Rebekah Lodge will confer the degree on candidates.

Personal Items

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Blank was baptized Sunday afternoon by Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, pastor of the Methodist Church. The child was given the name of Sharon Lynn. Mrs. Blank is the former Miss Thelma Wright, Eckhart.

Mrs. Howard Rizer returned from two weeks' visit with her sons in Clifton Forge, Va. She also visited friends in Roanoke and Richmond.

Additional Tucker County Veterans Enroll In Related Training Classes

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mrs. E. B. Olson, clerk of the Related Instructional program in Tucker County, states that more veterans have enrolled in the two training programs for the month of October.

Two series of classes are being given in Parsons High School each week on Monday and Tuesday evenings and in Thomas High School on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

There are 69 veterans enrolled in the institutional-on the farm training in agriculture in Tucker County with four instructors, Bruce Auvil, William G. Smith, former teachers of this county, Robert A. Felton and Harry Eakin.

Veterans are taking shop theory classes in Parsons High School under the supervision of Glen K. Henry, and the business relations class under the supervision of Mrs. Nelle McVicker.

In Thomas, veterans taking shop theory are under the supervision of Ira B. Harris. The business relations class is under Miss Lucille Dumire.

New Teacher Hired

Miss Dorothy McKinney was hired as a teacher in the Coketon colored school to replace Mrs. Jeannette Simms, Cumberland, Md., who resigned due to ill health.

Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, stated that the board also set the Thanksgiving holidays to start with the close of schools on Wednesday, November 26, to resume on Monday, December 1.

The board announced that the one-room school at Close Mountain, closed since 1943, had been purchased by Tilden VanMeter who also purchased the lands around the building.

A commendation was sent to Parsons High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America for their efforts in publishing the Vo-Ag News at the school last month.

The board also signed a rental agreement with the State Road Commission for the use of their power shovel October 15 to November 15 in grading and leveling the new Thomas playground.

Several teachers in this county will leave today to attend the state meeting of the Classroom Teachers Association to be held in Charleston over the weekend.

Enrollment Shows Slight Decrease

The enrollment in the high and elementary schools of this county shows a slight decrease since last year, according to Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent, who stated that 2,678 students were enrolled in the first month of the school this year or 12 less than for the same period last year when 2,690 students were enrolled.

Hot Lunch Programs Start

Twelve schools of Tucker County were approved and will have hot lunches during the coming winter. Two more schools, Limestone and Cosner, have been added this year but did not start until October 1. Other schools which started their program on October 1 include Laneville, Wolford, Mill Run, Cosner and Davis high and grade schools, and Porterwood.

Schools which had their hot lunch program during the month of September included Flanagan Hill, Hamrick, Parsons Grade School, and Parsons High School.

Bible Class Starts

Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Parsons, and chairman of the Religious Educational Program for the Tucker County Council of Churches, started his course in Parsons High School this week at which time 37 students enrolled in the two classes.

Insulin Need Doubles Every Seven Years

GENEVA, Switzerland—The interim commission of the World Health Organization is sizing up the insulin situation.

All governments have been asked to report their countries' likely supplies and needs for the next ten years.

"Information now availible indicates that the demand for insulin is doubling every seven years," said Dr. Brock Chisholm, executive secretary of the commission. "Source is the pancreatic gland of certin domestic animals, and this supply is limited. Scientists are not too hopeful on attempts to produce synthetic insulin.

With insulin, diabetics can be kept perfectly healthy, but demand may increase beyond available supplies."

If the world survey shows that the danger point is approaching, Dr. Chisholm added, the interim commission and the Food and Agriculture Organization will be asked to take measures.

Film Producer Held

WARSAW, Poland—(AP)—Security police arrested Jan Foethke, film producer and stage manager, accused of having worked in the German propaganda division in Warsaw during the occupation. Police charged that he obtained employment after the war with the government's "Film Polski."

'Casey Jones' Goossens Mounted To The Cabin

SYDNEY, Austraia—(AP)—Eugene Goossens, former conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, rode in a locomotive cabin of a passenger express train 100 miles from Sydney to Newcastle.

Now conductor of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra, Goossens was scheduled to conduct a concert at Newcastle.

Before he left Sydney in the cabin of the "Newcastle Flyer," Goossens put on a pair of blue overalls a crumpled jacket and a gray engine-driver's cap, but expressed regret that he would not be taking the controls, because it was a passenger train.

Goossens said he studied engines and has driven them or ridden in them more than 40 times, adding:

"Every engine that can develop incredible power and at the same time be controlled and restrained by the slightest pressure on a small lever is a perfect example of brute and minute accuracy. The only thing in the world like it is an orchestra."

World Church Envoy

Part Of Alexander's Tomb Identified

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — The only known existing part of the enclosure of the great mausoleum of Alexander the Great has been identified, archeologists announce.

A fragment of a limestone column found many years ago and now lying in the garden of the Greco-Roman museum has been identified by Director Alan Rowe of the museum and Prof. A. Blackman of Liverpool University as coming from the tomb of Pharoah Ptolemy VI. Some other authorities suggest it came from the Alexandria temple of the ancient Egyptian god Osiris.

If Rowe and Blackman are correct, the announcement said, it is the only existing part of the enclosure of Alexander's mausoleum since the tombs of the Ptolemies were included in that enclosure.

Insulin Need Doubles Every Seven Years

GENEVA, Switzerland—The interim commission of the World Health Organization is sizing up the insulin situation.

All governments have been asked to report their countries' likely supplies and needs for the next ten years.

"Information now availible indicates that the demand for insulin is doubling every seven years," said Dr. Brock Chisholm, executive secretary of the commission. "Source is the pancreatic gland of certin domestic animals, and this supply is limited. Scientists are not too hopeful on attempts to produce synthetic insulin.

With insulin, diabetics can be kept perfectly healthy, but demand may increase beyond available supplies."

If the world survey shows that the danger point is approaching, Dr. Chisholm added, the interim commission and the Food and Agriculture Organization will be asked to take measures.

Film Producer Held

WARSAW, Poland—(AP)—Security police arrested Jan Foethke, film producer and stage manager, accused of having worked in the German propaganda division in Warsaw during the occupation. Police charged that he obtained employment after the war with the government's "Film Polski."

'Casey Jones' Goossens Mounted To The Cabin

SYDNEY, Australia—(AP)—Eugene Goossens, former conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, rode in a locomotive cabin of a passenger express train 100 miles from Sydney to Newcastle.

Now conductor of the Sydney Symphony Orchestra, Goossens was scheduled to conduct a concert at Newcastle.

Before he left Sydney in the cabin of the "Newcastle Flyer," Goossens put on a pair of blue overalls a crumpled jacket and a gray engine-driver's cap, but expressed regret that he would not be taking the controls, because it was a passenger train.

Goossens said he studied engines and has driven them or ridden in them more than 40 times, adding:

"Every engine that can develop incredible power and at the same time be controlled and restrained by the slightest pressure on a small lever is a perfect example of brute and minute accuracy. The only thing in the world like it is an orchestra."

World Church Envoy

Part Of Alexander's Tomb Identified

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — The only known existing part of the enclosure of the great mausoleum of Alexander the Great has been identified, archeologists announce.

A fragment of a limestone column found many years ago and now lying in the garden of the Greco-Roman museum has been identified by Director Alan Rowe of the museum and Prof. A. Blackman of Liverpool University as coming from the tomb of Pharoah Ptolemy VI. Some other authorities suggest it came from the Alexandria temple of the ancient Egyptian god Osiris.

If Rowe and Blackman are correct, the announcement said, it is the only existing part of the enclosure of Alexander's mausoleum since the tombs of the Ptolemies were included in that enclosure.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9—(INS)—Sam Goldwyn isn't letting the fact that "Gentleman's Agreement" reaches the screen first, down him.

Beryl Weismuller

After calling off "Earth and High Heaven" because it was too similar in theme, Sam has changed his mind and will make it.

Furthermore Gregory Peck, who stars in "Gentleman's Agreement" will be the star of Sam's Picture!

Elmer Rice, whose name has been magic on Broadway for years and who had two hits last year in a musical version of his "Street Scene" and "Dream Girl"—will adapt Gwethalyn Graham's novel. It is a story about a Canadian girl whose family objects to her marriage to a young Jew.

Aunt Birdie, the wistful dipsomaniac in "Another Part of the Forest," (my pet character in that unscrupulous story) will be played by Betsy Blair who is Mrs. Gene Kelly in private life.

By the way, Freddie and Florence March get here next week to star in the picture for Universal-International.

Van Heflin, whose nose was a little out of joint when he returned from the service because MGM loaned him out so much and didn't use him in their pictures, has nothing to cry about now.

He has a great part in "Green Dolphin Street" and has plenty of good roles coming up on the home lot, among them, "Upward to the Stars" with Ava Gardner, who gets prettier and prettier.

While I was on the Ingrid Bergman set, I met Father Paul Doncoeur, who came all the way from France to act as technical advisor on "Joan."

He told me he has written to France to recommend "The Fugitive," John Ford's picture, because he felt his countrymen would feel as he does about it.

Father Doncoeur said that Ingrid Bergman is a perfect Joan, because she looks like a peasant girl and yet has a spiritual face. He suggested to Victor Fleming that the colors in the picture be soft pastel, which they are, both in costume and decoration.

"I am sure that 'Joan' will be as fine a picture as 'Henry V' which is one of the great motion pictures," he said.

Ingrid told me how Father Doncoeur happened to be their technical advisor. A priest who lived in the town of Domremy, Joan of Arc's birthplace, wrote and offered his services.

After Walter Wanger inquired about him, Father Doncoeur was recommended as France's greatest authority on St. Joan.

Chatter in Hollywood: Johnny Weissmuller and his wife, Beryl, are about to end their long alimony battle, with Beryl asking for an immediate divorce.

The papers, which have been drawn up but which have not yet been signed, agree that Johnny pay her 25 per cent of his annual income for life. Roughly this will give Beryl an income of about $25,000 a year. She had originally asked for $600 a month and 25 per cent of all Weissmuller's earning.

Mrs. Weissmuller said today she hoped it was all settled, and if it was she would file for an immediate divorce.

Brian Donlevy, who has been in the newspapers frequently of late with the legal battle he is having with his wife, has been asked to play George Washington.

Al Gershenson flew to Detroit to get the Donlevy name on a contract to play "First In Peace," the first of a serial which covers Washington's career as a soldier and statesman.

The whole feature is to cost $3,000,000 and will be told serially with the first half titled "Young George." The government has given permission to shoot Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Marie Windsor and John Champion, who was engaged to Cathy Downs for five months, at a table for two at the Somerset.

Joan Bennett had a bad three hours today hunting for a valuable diamond ring. She finally found it on the finger of Stephanie's doll.

Janis Paige announced that she will marry Frank Martinelli, Jr., on New Year's Day. We first printed that young Martinelli had come to Hollywood to ask her hand in marriage. His dad owns the Bal Tabarin in San Francisco.

That's all today.

SENSATION! THAT'S THE WORD FOR THIS NEW MOUNT VERNON

Its taste and price win new popularity

Its name has been world-famous for generations. But never before have so many people praised the taste of Mount Vernon. It's light on the palate—lighter than ever before. That means it is smooth and mild—just what millions are looking for. But the biggest sensation is the price—now the lowest we've ever put on this famous brand. Get some today.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9—(INS)—Sam Goldwyn isn't letting the fact that "Gentleman's Agreement" reaches the screen first, down him.

Beryl Weissmuller

After calling off "Earth and High Heaven" because it was too similar in theme, Sam has changed his mind and will make it.

Furthermore Gregory Peck, who stars in "Gentleman's Agreement" will be the star of Sam's Picture!

Elmer Rice, whose name has been magic on Broadway for years and who had two hits last year in a musical version of his "Street Scene" and "Dream Girl"—will adapt Gwethalyn Graham's novel. It is a story about a Canadian girl whose family objects to her marriage to a young Jew.

Aunt Birdie, the wistful dipsomaniac in "Another Part of the Forest," (my pet character in that unscrupulous story) will be played by Betsy Blair who is Mrs. Gene Kelly in private life.

By the way, Freddie and Florence March get here next week to star in the picture for Universal-International.

Van Heflin, whose nose was a little out of joint when he returned from the service because MGM loaned him out so much and didn't use him in their pictures, has nothing to cry about now.

He has a great part in "Green Dolphin Street" and has plenty of good roles coming up on the home lot, among them, "Upward to the Stars" with Ava Gardner, who gets prettier and prettier.

While I was on the Ingrid Bergman set, I met Father Paul Doncoeur, who came all the way from France to act as technical advisor on "Joan."

He told me he has written to France to recommend "The Fugitive," John Ford's picture, because he felt his countrymen would feel as he does about it.

Father Doncoeur said that Ingrid Bergman is a perfect Joan, because she looks like a peasant girl and yet has a spiritual face. He suggested to Victor Fleming that the colors in the picture be soft pastel, which they are, both in costume and decoration.

"I am sure that 'Joan' will be as fine a picture as 'Henry V' which is one of the great motion pictures," he said.

Ingrid told me how Father Doncoeur happened to be their technical advisor. A priest who lived in the town of Domremy, Joan of Arc's birthplace, wrote and offered his services.

After Walter Wanger inquired about him, Father Doncoeur was recommended as France's greatest authority on St. Joan.

Chatter in Hollywood: Johnny Weissmuller and his wife, Beryl, are about to end their long alimony battle, with Beryl asking for an immediate divorce.

The papers, which have been drawn up but which have not yet been signed, agree that Johnny pay her 25 per cent of his annual income for life. Roughly this will give Beryl an income of about $25,000 a year. She had originally asked for $600 a month and 25 per cent of all Weissmuller's earning.

Mrs. Weissmuller said today she hoped it was all settled, and if it was she would file for an immediate divorce.

Brian Donlevy, who has been in the newspapers frequently of late with the legal battle he is having with his wife, has been asked to play George Washington.

Al Gershenson flew to Detroit to get the Donlevy name on a contract to play "First In Peace," the first of a serial which covers Washington's career as a soldier and statesman.

The whole feature is to cost $3,000,000 and will be told serially with the first half titled "Young George." The government has given permission to shoot Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Marie Windsor and John Champion, who was engaged to Cathy Downs for five months, at a table for two at the Somerset.

Joan Bennett had a bad three hours today hunting for a valuable diamond ring. She finally found it on the finger of Stephanie's doll.

Janis Paige announced that she will marry Frank Martinelli, Jr., on New Year's Day. We first printed that young Martinelli had come to Hollywood to ask her hand in marriage. His dad owns the Bal Tabarin in San Francisco.

That's all today.

Bill Stern Night To Mark Eighth Year On Network

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—For 15 minutes at least on NBC it's to be Bill Stern night at 10:30. That's because up comes the eighth anniversary of his weekly sportscast. Besides the help of Gene Autry as brief-interview guest, there will be a review of some of Stern's past programs.

Another sporting event, the weekly fight on NBC, will put a couple of heavyweights before the 10 o'clock microphone of Don Dunphy and Bill Corum. Principals are Jack Crawford and Jimmy Carolio.

Food and high prices will comprise the general theme of Governor Thomas E. Dewey in an 11 a. m. broadcast via NBC. He is speaking at the dedication of Savage Hall, new home of the Cornell University's school of nutrition at Ithaca, N. Y. . . . Another talk time will be CBS at 11:15 p. m. by Ned H. Dearburn, president of the national safety council, with this subject "Operations Green Gross."

Bobby Hackett, who rates as a jazz trumpeter, is on the cards for guesting in the MBS Date Night time at 10:30. Alan Hale and Ruth Davey do the regular singing in this series.

Another MBS program, the ex-CBS and ex-NBC Information Please at 9:30, has picked Edward J. Flynn to guest-join its panel of answering experts. The Democratic leader is now the author of a book. . . . The American Novels series of NBC at 11:30 is turning next to "Diana of the Crossroads," the first part of which will comprise the weekly half-hour.

SPY TRAILS DAILY EVENTS IN POLAND

AP Newsfeatures

WARSAW—Spy trials are becoming an order of the day in Poland.

The government is bringing groups of men before military tribunals almost every day somewhere in Poland.

Military trials constitute one of the biggest mainstays for news in Polish papers. Almost invariably, defendants are accused of being members of underground bands engaged in espionage on "behalf of foreign powers" or expatriated Gen. Wladyslaw Anders and oppositionists to the Warsaw regime still in London.

Death sentences are frequent. Prison terms are long.

The regional military court in Warsaw, always busy, has just opened another big espionage trial.

Ten defendants are accused of being members of the "Committee of Western Territories," a branch of the illegal "National Party" and an instrument of the London emigre government.

The military prosecutor charges the committee conducted an "anti-state propaganda," collected intelligence information on the political, economic and social life in Poland, in the western territories and in the Soviet Union. It is charged that the committee sought by force to overthrow the Warsaw regime.

The accused are Stanislaw Zielinski, chairman of the committee; Wladyslaw Tarnawski, vice-chairman; Zbigniew Nowosad, secretary-general; Kazimierz Prochnik, propaganda chief; Zygmunt Domanski, Boleslaw Grudzinski, Josef Zielinski, Stanislaw Nowotynski, Kazimierz Bronczyk, and a woman, Ewa Gorka, a chief liaison agent.

Military trials constitute one of the biggest mainstays for news in Polish papers. Almost invariably, defendants are accused of being members of underground bands engaged in espionage on "behalf of foreign powers" or expatriated Gen. Wladyslaw Anders and oppositionists to the Warsaw regime still in London.

Death sentences are frequent. Prison terms are long.

The regional military court in Warsaw, always busy, has just opened another big espionage trial.

Ten defendants are accused of being members of the "Committee of Western Territories," a branch of the illegal "National Party" and an instrument of the London emigre government.

The military prosecutor charges the committee conducted an "anti-state propaganda," collected intelligence information on the political, economic and social life in Poland, in the western territories and in the Soviet Union. It is charged that the committee sought by force to overthrow the Warsaw regime.

The accused are Stanislaw Zielinski, chairman of the committee; Wladyslaw Tarnawski, vice-chairman; Zbigniew Nowosad, secretary-general; Kazimierz Prochnik, propaganda chief; Zygmunt Domanski, Boleslaw Grudzinski, Josef Zielinski, Stanislaw Nowotynski, Kazimierz Bronczyk, and a woman, Ewa Gorka, a chief liaison agent.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Estella A. Hansel, who passed away two years ago, October 9, 1945.

There's music in the laughter,
Of those we loved when here,
It echoes back from Heaven,
And keeps them ever near.

Sadly missed by
Her Daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Hiner and Granddaughters, Angeline and Alma.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Estella A. Hansel, who passed away two years ago, October 9, 1945.

There's music in the laughter,
Of those we loved when here,
It echoes back from Heaven,
And keeps them ever near.

Sadly missed by
Her Daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Hiner and Granddaughters, Angeline and Alma.

Motors, Steels, Special Issues Get Stock Market Back On Feet

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Motors, steels and a wide assortment of special issues got the stock market back on its feet today after Wednesday's first stumble in nine sessions.

Dull dealings and mild irregularity ruled in the forenoon. There was a flurry of activity in the fourth hour as prices hardened. Gains of fractions to two or more points were widely distributed at the close. Volume of 790,000 shares compared with 1,130,000 the day before and was the smallest for full stretch since September 29.

Peaks for 1947 were recorded by Virginia-Carolina Chemical common and preferred which finished up one-fourth at 10 1-8 and three at 108 1-2, respectively; J. P. Stevens, five-eighths at 35 1-8, Hayes Manufacturing five-eighths at 8 3-4, United States Leather seven-eighths at 8 3-4 and International Paper 1 3-4 at 56 1-2, Continental Oil 1 1-4 at 48 1-4 and Warren Petroleum 1 1-2 at 41 1-2.

Allied Chemical added 3 1-2 at 190 1-2, Mission Corporation 2 3-8 at 48 7-8 and Chrysler 2 1-8 at 62. Ahead a point or so were United States Steel at 72 3-4, Youngstown Sheet 74 1-2, International Harvester 89 3-4, Caterpillar Tractor 57 5-8, American Smelting 64 and United States Gypsum 103.

On the offside were Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, North American, Deere, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Anaconda Wire and Cable, Southern Railway, Great Northern Railway and Baltimore and Ohio.

Better Curb movers were United Shoe, American Metal Products, Cities Service, American Writing Paper, Nachman Corporation and Raytheon Electric Bond and Share emerged with a slight loss notwithstanding the first dividend on this stock in 14 years. The aggregate here was 210,000 shares versus 190,000 Wednesday.

Demand for some low-priced rail issues provided the principal spot of resistance in a generally lower bond market.

Total sales of $3,995,000 compared with $5,422,000 Wednesday.

United States government obligations eased slightly on the exchange and also in over-the-counter dealings where The Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 closed off 3-32 of a point at 102 22-32 bid.

PARENTS CONFERENCE TO END EVANGELISTIC WEEK

A "Parents Conference" will be held all day, Sunday, at Pinto Mennonite Church, conducted by Rev. Paul Erb, Scottdale, Pa., and Mrs. Erb, Rev. Mr. Erb, who has been conducting the Evangelistic meetings at the church each evening this week, was professor of English at Goshen College, Goshen, Ind., before accepting the editorship of the church paper, "Gospel Herald." Both he and his wife have written a number of books on home and children.

Sunday morning at 10:30 Mrs. Erb will speak on, "Our Children's Reading," after which Rev. Erb will preach on "God's Plan for the Home."

The afternoon and evening topics will pertain to children, parents and home. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Erb will speak on "Christian Nurture," after which Rev. Mr. Erb's sermon will be on "Essentials for Success in Marriage." Evening services will be held at 7:30 when she will speak on "The Religious Life of the Child," and his sermon topic will be "Now."

Tonight, the service, beginning at 7:45, will be divided into two sections, the first to be a short talk on "Hymn Study," and the sermon will be on the topic, "The Second Coming of Christ."

Stole 30-Foot Derrick

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Emmitt Thompson, 37, said in court today he had a lot of trouble stealing a 30-foot steel derrick and after hearing his story Judge Thomas M. Marshall said he wouldn't send him to jail if he makes restitution.

The word shanty or chanty, meaning a song of labor, is thought to come from the French word "chanter," which means "to sing."

Chaplain Of U. S.

He said Americans must put aside all idea of the teachings of Karl Marx, such as "might is right," and "God doesn't exist." He said he firmly believes that the atomic bomb was developed by Americans, "by the will of God," because "He knew we would use it and its possibilities sensibly."

He appealed to veterans to remain the patriots they have proven themselves to be and urged that that all people of America learn, as the veteran learned in combat, that "next to love of God, is love of country."

Fr. Hally was presented by George M. Leib, national junior vice commander of the Purple Heart, who also installed officers of the local chapter. Leib called attention to the fact that most of the new officers are veterans of World War II, and said, "this is the first time I have had the privilege of installing a World War II man as commander of a chapter."

New officers installed include: Alvin R. Ingram, commander; John R. Mills, senior vice-commander; Herbert McFarland, junior vice-commander; John W. Pownall, finance officer; Earl E. Smith, sergeant-at-arms; George M. Lieb, adjutant; Abe Loundy, chaplain; Harry Isles, Jr., judge advocate; William Laurent, Americanism officer; and John Miller, welfare officer.

Mrs. Mary Walter, Baltimore, state president of the Purple Heart auxiliary installed officers as follows: Mrs. Anna McCarty, president; Mrs. Edith Reichert, senior vice-president; Mrs. Leona Harper, junior vice-president; Mrs. Berdella Leib, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Brinkman, secretary; Mrs. Juanita Loundy, chaplain; Mrs. Melvina Cubbage, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jane Russell, historian; Mrs. Eleanor Couters, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Ada Hamburg, patriotic instructress; Mrs. Genevieve Miller, hospital and rehabilitation officer; and Mrs. Hazel B. Burke, welfare officer.

Four Members Obligated

Four new members were obligated by State Department Commander Charles L. Gore, Baltimore, as follows: Lt. Edward H. Walker, 111 Union Street, wounded at Saipan; Garland S. McDonald, 1103 Virginia Avenue, wounded at the Battle of the Bulge; Chester S. Milka, 1100 Oldtown Road, wounded at the Rome-Arno battle in Italy; and Emmett W. Abell, Jr., 1123 Bedford Street, wounded at Rohr River, Germany.

Capt. Lawrence M. Bairstow, local Army recruiter and member of Mountain Chapter, presented 10 victory medals, to ten members of the Chapter, including, John Miller, Duke Iles, Stephen Milka, Emmett Abell, Garland McDonald, Herbert McFarland, Alvin Ingram, Abe Loundy, Raymond Whitehair, and Richard Mills.

Among guests introduced by toastmaster George A. Caswell were L. James Thrasher, commander Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Thomas J. Farrell, commander Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; Mrs. Violet Karns, president VFW auxiliary; Pauline Shaffer, representing Navy League Club; John W. Pownall, retiring commander Mountain Chapter; Mrs. Joy Effland, Amvets auxiliary; Mrs. Frances Anspach, Legion Auxiliary; Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Fr. Ervan, assistant pastor SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Following the dinner, a reception was held at Purple Heart Center for Fr. Hally.

Counterfeit Cigarette Ring Smashed In Java

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—Dutch police have smashed a ring which was selling thousands of packages of counterfeit American cigarettes in the Dutch East Indies. The cleanup was carried out after a complaint from the U. S. Consulate General.

Raiders found 30,000 packages of cigarettes with brand names spelled to resemble famous American makes. Both imitations were so good that only by careful reading of the brand name would the buyer realize he was not purchasing American brands.

Since 93 per cent of the native population can neither read nor write, the forged brands were being purchased widely in the belief they were standard brands. Two factories were devoting their entire production to the imitations.

8,000,000 DPs In Indonesia

JOGJAKARTA, Java—(AP)—Strife in Java has resulted in nearly 8,000,000 Indonesians becoming displaced persons, according to the Daily Nasional.

The paper estimated that in the six weeks after hostilities opened last July 493,468 persons left their homes and fled into Republican areas. Thousands of others went over to Dutch areas.

Nasional estimated that in the past eight months 1,946,555 persons have been displaced in Republican areas. It estimated that in Dutch-occupied areas, since the Japanese surrender, 6,000,000 persons have been displaced although many of these merely evacuated to neighboring villages.

Surplus Not "Surplus," Maryland GOP Says

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Maryland Federation of Republicans said today the more than $11,000,000 in state funds designated as surplus by former Gov. O'Conor couldn't be called a "surplus" in the "common accepted sense."

Replying to the Senator's pronouncement a few days ago that he had left a treasury surplus on leaving office last December, the federation asked in a statement of its own:

"What good is the surplus which O'Conor clamis he left if Gov. Lane indicates it has either been spent or pledged so that it is now unavailable?

"The situation does not conform to the definition of 'surplus' in the common accepted sense which led people to believe that a surplus would mean tax reduction, not tax increases."

Motors, Steels, Special Issues Get Stock Market Back On Feet

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Motors, steels and a wide assortment of special issues got the stock market back on its feet today after Wednesday's first stumble in nine sessions.

Dull dealings and mild irregularity ruled in the forenoon. There was a flurry of activity in the fourth hour as prices hardened. Gains of fractions to two or more points were widely distributed at the close. Volume of 790,000 shares compared with 1,130,000 the day before and was the smallest for full stretch since September 29.

Peaks for 1947 were recorded by Virginia-Carolina Chemical common and preferred which finished up one-fourth at 10 1-8 and three at 108 1-2, respectively; J. P. Stevens, five-eighths at 35 1-8, Hayes Manufacturing five-eighths at 8 3-4, United States Leather seven-eighths at 8 3-4 and International Paper 1 3-4 at 56 1-2, Continental Oil 1 1-4 at 48 1-4 and Warren Petroleum 1 1-2 at 41 1-2.

Allied Chemical added 3 1-2 at 190 1-2, Mission Corporation 2 3-8 at 48 7-8 and Chrysler 2 1-8 at 62. Ahead a point or so were United States Steel at 72 3-4, Youngstown Sheet 74 1-2, International Harvester 89 3-4, Caterpillar Tractor 57 5-8, American Smelting 64 and United States Gypsum 103.

On the offside were Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, North American, Deere, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Anaconda Wire and Cable, Southern Railway, Great Northern Railway and Baltimore and Ohio.

Better Curb movers were United Shoe, American Metal Products, Cities Service, American Writing Paper, Nachman Corporation and Raytheon Electric Bond and Share emerged with a slight loss notwithstanding the first dividend on this stock in 14 years. The aggregate here was 210,000 shares versus 190,000 Wednesday.

Demand for some low-priced rail issues provided the principal spot of resistance in a generally lower bond market.

Total sales of $3,995,000 compared with $5,422,000 Wednesday.

United States government obligations eased slightly on the exchange and also in over-the-counter dealings where The Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 closed off 3-32 of a point at 102 22-32 bid.

PARENTS CONFERENCE TO END EVANGELISTIC WEEK

A "Parents Conference" will be held all day, Sunday, at Pinto Mennonite Church, conducted by Rev. Paul Erb, Scottdale, Pa., and Mrs. Erb, Rev. Mr. Erb, who has been conducting the Evangelistic meetings at the church each evening this week, was professor of English at Goshen College, Goshen, Ind., before accepting the editorship of the church paper, "Gospel Herald." Both he and his wife have written a number of books on home and children.

Sunday morning at 10:30 Mrs. Erb will speak on, "Our Children's Reading," after which Rev. Erb will preach on "God's Plan for the Home."

The afternoon and evening topics will pertain to children, parents and home. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Erb will speak on "Christian Nurture," after which Rev. Mr. Erb's sermon will be on "Essentials for Success in Marriage." Evening services will be held at 7:30 when she will speak on "The Religious Life of the Child," and his sermon topic will be "Now."

Tonight, the service, beginning at 7:45, will be divided into two sections, the first to be a short talk on "Hymn Study," and the sermon will be on the topic, "The Second Coming of Christ."

Stole 30-Foot Derrick

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP)—Emmitt Thompson, 37, said in court today he had a lot of trouble stealing a 30-foot steel derrick and after hearing his story Judge Thomas M. Marshall said he wouldn't send him to jail if he makes restitution.

The word shanty or chanty, meaning a song of labor, is thought to come from the French word "chanter," which means "to sing."

Chaplain Of U. S.

He said Americans must put aside all idea of the teachings of Karl Marx, such as "might is right," and "God doesn't exist." He said he firmly believes that the atomic bomb was developed by Americans, "by the will of God," because "He knew we would use it and its possibilities sensibly."

He appealed to veterans to remain the patriots they have proven themselves to be and urged that that all people of America learn, as the veteran learned in combat, that "next to love of God, is love of country."

Fr. Hally was presented by George M. Leib, national junior vice commander of the Purple Heart, who also installed officers of the local chapter. Leib called attention to the fact that most of the new officers are veterans of World War II, and said, "this is the first time I have had the privilege of installing a World War II man as commander of a chapter."

New officers installed include: Alvin R. Ingram, commander; John R. Mills, senior vice-commander; Herbert McFarland, junior vice-commander; John W. Pownall, finance officer; Earl E. Smith, sergeant-at-arms; George M. Lieb, adjutant; Abe Loundy, chaplain; Harry Isles, Jr., judge advocate; William Laurent, Americanism officer; and John Miller, welfare officer.

Mrs. Mary Walter, Baltimore, state president of the Purple Heart auxiliary installed officers as follows: Mrs. Anna McCarty, president; Mrs. Edith Reichert, senior vice-president; Mrs. Leona Harper, junior vice-president; Mrs. Berdella Leib, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Brinkman, secretary; Mrs. Juanita Loundy, chaplain; Mrs. Melvina Cubbage, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jane Russell, historian; Mrs. Eleanor Couters, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Ada Hamburg, patriotic instructress; Mrs. Genevieve Miller, hospital and rehabilitation officer; and Mrs. Hazel B. Burke, welfare officer.

Four Members Obligated

Four new members were obligated by State Department Commander Charles L. Gore, Baltimore, as follows: Lt. Edward H. Walker, 111 Union Street, wounded at Saipan; Garland S. McDonald, 1103 Virginia Avenue, wounded at the Battle of the Bulge; Chester S. Milka, 1100 Oldtown Road, wounded at the Rome-Arno battle in Italy; and Emmett W. Abell, Jr., 1123 Bedford Street, wounded at Rohr River, Germany.

Capt. Lawrence M. Bairstow, local Army recruiter and member of Mountain Chapter, presented 10 victory medals, to ten members of the Chapter, including, John Miller, Duke Iles, Stephen Milka, Emmett Abell, Garland McDonald, Herbert McFarland, Alvin Ingram, Abe Loundy, Raymond Whitehair, and Richard Mills.

Among guests introduced by toastmaster George A. Caswell were L. James Thrasher, commander Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Thomas J. Farrell, commander Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; Mrs. Violet Karns, president VFW auxiliary; Pauline Shaffer, representing Navy League Club; John W. Pownall, retiring commander Mountain Chapter; Mrs. Joy Effland, Amvets auxiliary; Mrs. Frances Anspach, Legion Auxiliary; Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Fr. Ervan, assistant pastor SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Following the dinner, a reception was held at Purple Heart Center for Fr. Hally.

Counterfeit Cigarette Ring Smashed In Java

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—Dutch police have smashed a ring which was selling thousands of packages of counterfeit American cigarettes in the Dutch East Indies. The cleanup was carried out after a complaint from the U. S. Consulate General.

Raiders found 30,000 packages of cigarettes with brand names spelled to resemble famous American makes. Both imitations were so good that only by careful reading of the brand name would the buyer realize he was not purchasing American brands.

Since 93 per cent of the native population can neither read nor write, the forged brands were being purchased widely in the belief they were standard brands. Two factories were devoting their entire production to the imitations.

8,000,000 DPs In Indonesia

JOGJAKARTA, Java—(AP)—Strife in Java has resulted in nearly 8,000,000 Indonesians becoming displaced persons, according to the Daily Nasional.

The paper estimated that in the six weeks after hostilities opened last July 493,468 persons left their homes and fled into Republican areas. Thousands of others went over to Dutch areas.

Nasional estimated that in the past eight months 1,946,555 persons have been displaced in Republican areas. It estimated that in Dutch-occupied areas, since the Japanese surrender, 6,000,000 persons have been displaced although many of these merely evacuated to neighboring villages.

Surplus Not "Surplus," Maryland GOP Says

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Maryland Federation of Republicans said today the more than $11,000,000 in state funds designated as surplus by former Gov. O'Conor couldn't be called a "surplus" in the "common accepted sense."

Replying to the Senator's pronouncement a few days ago that he had left a treasury surplus on leaving office last December, the federation asked in a statement of its own:

"What good is the surplus which O'Conor clamis he left if Gov. Lane indicates it has either been spent or pledged so that it is now unavailable?

"The situation does not conform to the definition of 'surplus' in the common accepted sense which led people to believe that a surplus would mean tax reduction, not tax increases."

WIFE PRESERVERS

If you are carrying hard boiled eggs to a "pot luck" meal, as your share of the feast, fit the two halves of each egg together, wrap them in waxed paper and place them in an egg carton.

Former Shallmar Miner Is Convicted Of Murder

Broeckey Begins Life Sentence

Andre Broeckey, 52-year-old former Shallmar coal miner, was convicted in Montgomery County Court, Norristown, Pa., last night by a jury of seven men and five women of the first degree murder of John Jackanyics, 65, Oaks, Pa., last September 6.

The jury, which reached its verdict after deliberating eight and a half hours, recommended life imprisonment, according to Pennsylvania State Policeman H. L. Aster, one of the investigating officers, who said the Commonwealth did not ask for the death penalty.

Begins Sentence

Pvt. Aster said Broeckey will not again face Judge George C. Corson, who presided at the trial, but will begin serving his term at once, probably in Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia.

Broeckey admitted on the witness stand Wednesday that he struck Jackanyics with a piece of wood during a fight in a house in the woods near Schulkyl River in the vicinity of Oaks.

A Russian, Broeckey confessed the slaying of Jackanyics, Pvt. Aster said.

"Gentlemen," the officer quoted Broeckey as saying, "I killed John. He steal my woman. I look for him for five days. He no steal anybody else's woman."

Broeckey had entered a plea of innocent to the charge, claiming he killed Jackanyics in self-defense, authorities reported, explaining that he first made a statement declaring two men in a taxi came to the house in the woods, beat Jackanyics and took his money.

The ex-miner, who left Garrett County last year, was on the stand for several hours Wednesday but showed very little, if any emotion, during the trial, the officer said. He added that a daughter and two sons-in-law were present at the trial.

Broeckey's trial started Monday morning when selection of a jury began at 9 o'clock and was completed at 3 p. m.

Case Closed Wednesday

The Commonwealth rested its case at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday with the defense closing Wednesday at 5:30 p. m.

Final argument of the Commonwealth and the defense took place yesterday morning with Judge Corson charging the jury and giving the jurors the case at 11 a. m. Their decision came last night at 7:25 o'clock.

Pennsylvania authorities related these events leading to the crime:

After Broeckey moved to the Phoenixville section, he met a woman identified as Esther Hayes, 47, and the pair lived together as man and wife at Phoenixville for about six months.

The latter part of July, the woman left with a man described by District Attorney Fred Smillie as a "beau brummel who gave her more to drink" than Broeckey. The "beau brummel" was identified as Jackanyics.

Broeckey then began a search for the couple and found them in the house near the Schulkyl River where the slaying took place.

Pvt. Aster last night extended his appreciation to State Trooper Milton G. Hart, Maryland State Police, and residents of Kitzmiller for their co-operation in the investigation.

Rationing Threat To Bring Re-Vote On Beer Proposal

Drivers To Reconsider Offer On Sunday

The posibility of a voluntary reduction in the production of beer and ale to save grain for Europe, last night resulted in a decision by officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, to ask members employed by 23 beer distributors of the Cumberland area to reconsider a contract offer made by the firms.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the decision was made at a meeting with beer distributors in Teamsters Hall as the parties met to discuss the action of drivers who last Sunday rejected a company offer of an 11½ cents hourly increase.

J. P. Walsh, Cleveland, federal conciliator, attended the meeting for the Department of Labor.

Stutzman said the men had said they were satisfied with the amount of the wage offer but rejected it since it applied only to the contract rate and did not give any wage boost to about eight men who worked for firms who already paid more then the minimum.

He said the men also objected to signing a year's contract but were willing to have the contract run until next spring.

Drivers for the companies will meet Sunday at 3 p. m. in Teamsters Hall, North Mechanic Street, to reconsider the previous offer, he said.

Gettysburg Fund Drive Continues

Approximately 15 members of Western Maryland Chapter, Gettysburg College Alumni, held a dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club to inaugurate the third phase of the college's drive to secure $600,000 for a building expansion program.

The drive, to extend over a three-year period, opened last spring with contributions and pledges from alumni and residents of the Gettysburg, Pa., area, amounting to $350,000.

In the third phase of the drive, co-operation of all Lutheran churches in the Central Penn Synod and the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church will be asked toward raising the remaining amount needed to meet the goal.

Two local pastors, Rev. Donald F. Brake of St. John's Lutheran and Rev. H. Hall Sharp of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, have accepted the respective quotas assigned to their churches.

Quotas are based on two-thirds of each church's contribution last year to the United Lutheran Church.

Charles Wolfe, registrar at the college, gave a brief talk on current undergraduate conditions, pointing out that the institution now has 1,200 students, and that 70 per cent of the male students are veterans. Another guest was Paul Cessna, alumni secretary.

The fund is designed to finance the construction of a new chapel, infirmary, gymnasium and dormitory on the campus.

4-H Boys Plan Annual Dinner

Allegany County Federation of 4-H Boys Clubs last night made initial plans for the annual 4-H dinner to be held Thursday, November 13, at 7 p. m. in St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Tentative plans include an address by Mylo Downey, State 4-H Club agent, and a demonstrated talk on the production of clean milk by William Heavener and James Greise, both of Union Grove.

The entertainment will include moving pictures of activities during 4-H Club week, and spot shots from summer camping trips, as well as a musical program by a 4-H Boys quartet.

William Kennedy, LaVale, has been appointed chairman of the decoration committee.

Goodyear Officials To Visit Kelly Plant

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company officials and employes will be hosts today to 20 visiting officials of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plants from three countries and at least four other states, E. S. Burke, Kelly president, said last night.

A group of factory managers and other officials from plants in Ohio, California, Alabama, Michigan, Canada and Mexico will arrive here by train this morning for a two-day conference and inspection of local plant facilities.

The visitors will be met at the Queen City Station, escorted to their hotels, and then taken to breakfast. They will then inspect a part of the plant, after which lunch will be served at the Kelly cafeteria. A conference will be held in the afternoon, aftr a visit to another part of the plant. Following the conference, the group will be dinner guests at Ali Ghan Country Club.

On Saturday, the inspection of the plant will be completed and a final conference will be held. Lunch will be served at Cumberland Country Cub, and facilities of the club and golf course will be made available to the visitors.

Reader Dislikes The "Dinky" Page

"Whose idea was it to cut the comic page down to half size?" asks Mrs. Ellis Dash, Ellerslie, who signs herself a "daily reader" and quite frankly declares she doesn't like the "dinky" page insert used in The Cumberland News this week.

"Personally, I do not like it," writes Mrs. Dash. "When you open the paper, the 'funnies' slide to the floor and I don't care to lay the paper on the floor or a table, like a child might, to be able to read it.

"If the public's opinion was known, they would agree with me when I say, 'Give us back a full size sheet of paper for the comics, too.' "

We Don't Like It Either

The News quite agrees with Mrs. Dash. We don't like the "dinky" page either, but it's a question of using that to give the readers 10 more columns of space or cutting that much in news and features from the morning paper. Once the paper shortage ends, the full size page of "funnies" will be back again.

Chaplain Of U. S. Purple Heart Sees World Peace Era

Love Of God And Neighbor Is Key

"Love thy neighbor as thyself . . . for the love of God," were the closing words of a brilliant address by Rev. Michael A. Hally, Wilkes Barre, Pa., national chaplain of the Order of Purple Heart, at the annual joint installation dinner meeting of Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of Purple Heat, and their auxiliary last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Declaring that "prayer is the only pathway to peace," Fr. Hally, a retired chaplain who has served in five branches of the nation's military and naval forces, said "men have not only been at war with each other, but they are at war with God."

Fr. Hally was referring to the international situation and the much publicized attempt of Soviet Russia and her satellite nations to spread and force the spread of Communism throughout the world.

Leaders Are Misleading

The speaker expressed the opinion that the people of Russia, like the people of America, do not want war. It is the leaders, and the representatives of the Russian people who are sword-waving and who mislead their own people, and attempt to mislead others by fault finding.

"No nation today," Fr. Hally exclaimed, "is economically or pyscologically prepared for war." The time is here, he continued, when this country cannot afford to compromise with Russia or any other country, because a compromise is only temporary appeasement which means delay of a showdown which must come.

Fr. Hally said he is not a warmonger, and believes that no veteran who has defended this country is a warmonger. "The veteran knows better than anyone else, the scourge of war," he continued, "yet if the nation needs defense, the veteran will be the first to answer his country's call."

He endorsed a strong military and a strong navy and air force. He declared he heartily favors and champions universal military training and believes every young man should have a year in service at least 1,000 miles from his home.

'This is a Christian nation, founded on Christian principles," the former chaplain stated. "That is why we heed so far as we are able, appeals from abroad for economic assistance. We feel that help to these countries is the Christian way, and that this is the way to peace."

But, he continued, the individual American, the veteran, the civilian, men and women alike, must face the facts, and realize that peace can only be maintained if we face reconciliation. "The individual citizen must reconcile himself with his neighbor. The nation and every nation must reconcile itself with every nation. Every man must reconcile himself with his God."

Depression Talk Termed Nonsense

Fr. Hally touched briefly on the economic situation here at home. He said "this country came out of the war with undamaged industries, practically all the gold in the world, and more natural resources than we need. We are living in a great scientific age, and a great economic age which borders on a boom in business. Talk of depression or recession is sheer nonsense, and opportunity for progress and prosperity for a long period of time, is greater today than ever before."

Temperature Reading

Cooler weather arrived yesterday as predicted but, at that, the mercury rose to 65 degrees, not much below summer temperature. Yesterday's overnight low was 54 degrees and last night at 9:30 the mercury was down to 58. Continued cool and cloudy weather is due today.

Winters Is "Unchanged"

No change was reported yesterday at Memorial Hospital in the condition of Roy O. Winters, 66, Oakland, owner of the Highland Park Dairy, who was critically injured September 21 when he was struck by a car on Route 219 near the Maryland line. He suffered fractures of the skull and lower jaw in the accident.

Newspaper Publisher Entertains Local Kiwanis Club At Meeting

An address by Mack Sauer, editor and publisher of the Leesburg Citizen, a weekly newspaper published in Leesburg, Ohio, made at the Kiwanis meeting yesterday may not have been informative, but it was very entertaining.

Sauer promised his audience an historical report on Bunker Hill, but instead kept up a rapid fire flow of jokes and funny stories.

With a straight face Sauer told about a gentleman who was sleeping in church when the minister asked him to lead in prayer. "Lead nothing," the gentleman replied, "I just dealt."

During the war, Sauer told his audience, he had some difficulty in hotels, but the acme of it all occurred when he agreed to make his own bed if given a room. "The clerk," he said, "immediately handed me a hammer, saw and some boards."

Sauer also told of the gentleman who was in a hurry leaving a hotel and noticed a man in uniform. "Taxi," he called. The young man informed him he was not a taxi diver but a Naval lieutenant. "Then get me a battleship," shot back the civilian.

Sauer, who has written two humorous books, also recited several poems of well known authors and concluded his address with one written by himself and published in one of the books entitled "What's You Gonna Be?"

County Engineer May Resign Job

It was reliably reported yesterday that Albert S. Paye, county roads engineer, plans to present his resignation to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

President of the Board Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., said last night he had not received anything official from Paye, but had been told the engineer is resigning. Wilkinson said, "We may learn something at the regular meeting this morning."

An effort to locate Paye last night was unsuccessful, and members of his family said he went to a neighboring town to attend a meeting, and was not expected home until after midnight. Paye has been county engineer since the first of last December, when the present board took office and appointed him.

72-Year-Old Man's Arm Is Fractured By Door Of Auto

Samuel Denson, 72, 211 Wallace Street, was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of a fracture of the left upper arm. He told attaches he was injured when his arm was struck by a car door.

Dorothy Shipe, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Shipe, Oldtown Road, was admitted to Allegany yesterday morning for treatment of a head injury. Attaches were told the child was hurt in a fall from a see-saw.

Faydra Often, 6, 812 Maplewood Lane, was treated in Allegany last night after he fell and cut her head on a stone.

Larry Shafferman, 7, LaVale, was treated in Memorial yesterday afternoon after he fell at school and cut his left arm on a piece of glass.

Treated in Memorial last night were:

Ray Knepp, 27, 69 Pine Avenue, Frostburg, for a possible fracture of the right arm suffered, he said, when he fell while leaving the Celanese plant. A splint was applied and he was advised to return today for X-rays.

Philip Nixon, 28, Oldtown, after he ran a nail in his foot, and Robert Twigg, 13, Hyndman, after he cut his hand on a saw.

Local Man Claims He Was Attacked

A man identified as Harry Johns told police he was struck in the head last night by an unknown person as he stood talking to his wife on Knox Street at 9 p. m. Attaches at Allegany Hospital, where he was treated, said he suffered lacerations on the head.

Police, who were notified of the alleged assault by hospital attaches, said they were investigating, and added they had received a call a short time before asking that Johns be picked up "because he is drinking." Police said the call came from Johns' home, 445 Henderson Avenue.

Attaches said he was treated and discharged.

DEATHS

ROBERT FLEEK RITES

A funeral service for Robert W. Fleek, 67, retired Cresaptown farmer, who died Tuesday night, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Rev. W. J. Shellenberger, pastor of Calvary Tabernacle, and Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor of Cresaptown Methodist Charge, will conduct the service and burial will be in Eckhart Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Sanford and Hayes Robinette, Harry Barton, Harman Barton, Robert Elliott and John Cecil.

MRS. HENRY WAGNER RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Minnie S. Wagner, 59, wife of Henry C. Wagner, who died Wednesday night at her home, 500 Linden Street, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Dr. H. Hall Sharp, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

October Grand Jury Makes Tour Of Inspections

Plans To Resume Hearings Today

ued The October Grand Jury Con

The October Grand Jury continued its investigations yesterday, and it was not known by Court House attaches whether or not deliberations will be concluded today.

More than 30 indictments have been returned, county authorities indicate, but only two indictments have been returned for recording on Court dockets. These were both against Robert W. Rice, charged on two counts of violating state dentistry laws. Rice is at liberty under bond.

A committee from the Grand Jury visited the County Home and Infirmary and Sylvan Retreat, and made an inspection of the Court House property yesterday. Other routine inspections were made including a visit to the County Jail.

A number of witnesses were seen in the Court House yesterday waiting to be called into the grand Jury room, and it was reported in Court House circles that a large number of Samuel Biddington, 65, West Main Street, Frostburg, who has been held in the county jail since Sunday, September 21, following the shooting of his wife, Mrs. Lilly Biddington, 64, at their home, was released yesterday.

The sheriff's office reported that Biddington was taken before the October Grand Jury yesterday for questioning, but that no indictment was returned. Biddington was warned to be of good behavior and attend church services.

Mrs. Biddington was shot in the left cheek with a .32 caliber revolver, and the husband admitted to the shooting when taken into custody by Frostburg city police. The wife was taken to Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, and doctors said at the time that the wound was not serious.

Ridgeley Minister And Wife Honored

Members of the WSCS of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, W. Va., honored Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Greynolds at a meeting in the church parsonage Tuesday night.

The surprise reception was held in honor of the pastor who was returned recently to the charge to begin his sixth year in the Ridgeley church.

Mrs. Ralph Baker, president of the group, presented the pastor and his wife with a pair of blankets. Refreshments were served at the reception.

Mrs. J. W. Fisher, Westernport, promotional secretary of the WSCS of this area, spoke at the meeting in the church which preceded the reception. Mrs. Katie Butcher, sister of Rev. Mr. Greynolds, attended as an honored guest.

No Progress Reported

Union officials said last night at 11 o'clock there was "no statement to make" in negotiations by Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Clerks Union, for a contract with the American Stores Company, Inc. Union and company officials were meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel in an effort to agree on a contract for the unions which recently won bargaining rights in stores of this area.

Mayor Returns To City

Mayor Thomas S. Post returned to Cumberland late last night after visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Post, Jr., in Hastings, Neb., for the past 10 days.

The mayor was accompanied on the trip by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. James White, Ellerslie, their son-in-law and daughter.

Collection Day, Friday

SS. PETER AND PAUL CHURCH TO MARK CENTENNIAL IN 1948

Redecoration Program Will Cost $18,000

Elaborate plans have already been set in motion here for the centennial celebration during November of 1948 which will mark the first 100 years of the activities of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, established here almost a century ago to meet the spiritual needs of the German Catholics of Cumberland.

Craftsmen will begin next week the work of completely redecorating the church. The project, which will cost a total of $18,000, should be completed before Christmas, according to Rev. Alban Hammal, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of the church.

Father Alban said all statues and the Stations of the Cross will be sent to Pittsburgh, Pa., soon to be refinished by the Joseph Poli Company which is decorating the church.

The extensive work of repairs on the church and monastery began soon after Father Alban came here in July, and the insulation of the buildings was completed several weeks ago.

Work is now progressing on pointing up the brick walls on the monastery and repairs on the roof of that building began this week.

Will Repair Walls

Also slated for repair are the massive stone walls surrounding the church property. The walls, one of the finest examples of stone masonry in this area, cost $12,000 to build. The cost of repointing the stone walls will total $9,000.

The cornerstone of the church was laid June 4, 1848, for the original church. The structure, measuring 50 by 63 feet, was completed by the end of the year at a total cost of $5,600.

The church was dedicated September 23, 1849, in honor of Apostles Peter and Paul by Rev. B. J. Haftenscheid, provincial of the Redemptorist order which was in charge of the German Catholics here from 1841 to 1866.

Prior to the construction of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, the Redemptorist fathers, who had settled in Baltimore, began to take charge of the German Catholics here, and beginning about 1841, began to hold services in St. Mary's Church, now St. Patrick's Church, every three months.

Since at that time there was no train service from Baltimore to Cumberland, the fathers left Baltimore on Fridays and traveled by stage coach to Cumberland, arriving here in time for Sunday services and then started for home on Mondays.

The first pastor of the church, Rev. Anthony Urbanczek, a Redemptorist, arrived here April 23, 1849, and was accompanied by Brother Adam Parr, who began teaching in the basement of the church.

The steeple of the church, of Gothic design, was completed in 1849 at a cost of $955.24. When the original church was built, only the foundation for the steeple had been provided.

Install Bells

Three years later, the church installed three bells in the steeple to complete that structure. The largest bells, weighing 1,000 and 600 pounds, were cast in West Troy in 1852, and the smallest, weighing 300 pounds, was made by Meneely's Foundry in 1850.

The first Cumberlander to teach in the parish school, according to church records, was William Luehrman, a layman, who joined the Redemptorist order after a year's service in the parochial school, and became a priest.

A monastery was added to the north side of the church in 1850, but the structure was later torn down when the church was extended to the rear.

It was two years later that Allegany County Academy, on the site of the present school, was purchased for $1,500.

The Carmelites began their labors at SS. Peter and Paul Church October 21, 1866, and continued until June 17, 1875.

Capuchins Come Here

When the restrictions of Prussian May laws passed in 1875 caused the Westphalian Capuchins to seek refuge in the United States, the order purchased the monastery here as a refuge for the friars who were exiled from Germany.

The Order of Friars Minor, Capuchin, founded by St. Francis of Assisi, came to Cumberland in July, 1875. The church was enlarged for the second time and was again consecrated on October 21, 1888, by Bishop Kain, of Wheeling, since considerable additions had been made since it was first consecrated in 1858. Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, who had confirmed 143 persons in SS. Peter and Paul Church, that day, took part in the service.

The first part of the monastery, a building 50 by 40 feet, was completed in 1855, and an addition, of the same dimensions, was constructed in 1856. The Capuchins later added the chapel which extends to Johnson Street.

The present modern school building which houses SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy was built in 1931, when Father Alban was pastor here for the first time.

It was constructed on the site of the first school building built by the

Police Question Friendsville Man In Abduction Case

Arlie Michaels Held In Oakland

Garrett County authorities last night were holding a Friendsville man in Garrett County Jail, Oakland, for further questioning in connection with the abduction and robbery of William Kisner, 69, Friendsville, which occurred September 20.

Trooper Glen Folk, Maryland State Police, said Arlie Michaels, 39, was arrested Wednesday night after authorities received a tip that he accompanied Orville Sines, 39, alias O. F. Reckord, former Garrett County resident, when he allegedly abducted Kisner and robbed him of a gold wrist watch and $15.

Police said that while the search for Sines continues, Michaels will be questioned and probably given a preliminary hearing this morning on a charge that he is an accessory to the abduction and robbery of Kisner.

When the alleged crime was reported to police, they said a warrant had been issued for Sines, but explained there was an unidentified person in the car who sat on Kisner and prevented him from calling for help, while Sines drove to an isolated road 15 miles east of Friendsville.

Last night authorities said they believe Michaels was the unidentified person, and while they had not completed questioning him, they indicated that Michaels had been identified as the "other man" in the car.

According to Kisner's report to police, he met Sines in a Friendsville tavern on Saturday night, September 20, and as he started home, Sines offered to drive him. After getting Kisner in the car, the victim declared, "another man" sat on him while Sines drove in the opposite direction from his home.

Police said Kisner was taken from the car and knocked to the ground after Sines took a 17-jewel wrist watch and money from him. The duo left Kisner lying alongside the road, but later returned.

Kisner in the meantime hid and though the men searched for him they were unable to find him. Early Sunday morning Kisner said he walked to a farm home and was given transportation home. He reported the alleged abduction and robbery to police the next day.

Trooper Folk said Michaels was arrested at his home. A deputy sheriff said Michaels denied having any part in the alleged crime.

Journalism Tourney Set For November 8

A one-day tournament to encourage student interest in journalism will be held at the University of Maryland November 8, under the sponsorship of the Maryland Scholastic Press Association.

James E. Spitznas, city, supervisor of instruction in Maryland, will be honor guest and the welcome will be given by Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the university. A cartoon demonstration will be given by Howard Q. Yardley, Baltimore Sun; and an address by Joseph M. Murphy, director of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, N. Y.

Each school may enter a team of four members to compete in one of the four types of journalistic writing. The large trophy placed in competition by the Cumberland Times-News will be awarded the winning team, to keep for one year. The smaller trophy will be the permanent possession of the victors.

Representatives of the Alcohi Mirror will be Mary Ellen Platt, Jean Andrews, Barbee Sue Mansfield, Maxine Conrad and Jack Klosterman. They will be accompanied by Miss Mary E. Murray, director of the MSPA.

LaSalle representatives will be Joseph Stitcher, Joseph LaPorta and James Collins.

First Baptist Plans Homecoming Day

Dr. Will D. McCurdy, former pastor of First Baptist Church, Bedford Street, will conduct services and deliver the sermon Sunday when the congregation observes Homecoming day.

Dr. McCurdy, who was also associated with the Y.M.C.A., will join Baptist ministers throughout the nation when he speaks on the theme "Our Imperilled Liberties." Services will begin at 10:30 a. m.

The special service is held in conjunction with the Baptist movement sponsored by the Spiritual Mobilization group, under the direction of Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr., Los Angeles, Calif.

Church Board To Meet

The Trustees of First Baptist Church will meet at the church for election of officers at 7 tonight. The Finance committee will meet at 8 p. m.

Increase In Frostburg College Enrollment Seen By Dr. Pullen

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Enrollment at Maryland's four teachers colleges has reached a ten-year high, indicating a revival of young peoples' interest in teaching careers, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, reported today.

The "trend toward increased interest in educational work began last year," Dr. Pullen said. He declared it was "undoubtedly" furthered by salary increases granted to teachers throughout the state in the past two years.

If the trend continued, the educator declared, Maryland's teacher-training institutions will be able to supply the needs of the state's school system within several years.

Lack of interest in teaching as a profession shown in past years had given rise to alarm among school officials, beset as they were by an ever-mounting turnover of instructors.

Towson, 609, Frostburg 239, Salisbury 306, and Bowie 150.

Change In Rights To Concessions At Airport Suggested

Consultant Proposes Change In Operations

Recommendation that sub-letting of concessions at the Cumberland Municipal Airport be changed from the present exclusive basis was made last night by J. L. Rinehard, New York, aviation consultant of the Standard Oil Company.

Rinehard and three other representatives of the company attended a special meeting of the Cumberland Municipal Airport Commission to consult with commission members on posible future methods of operating the Municipal Airport.

The trial period of the city's lease of the airport to Cumberland Airways, Inc., will terminate December 31, after which terms of the contract are due for renegotiation.

Under the present lease Cumberland Airways has the exclusive right to all concessions at the airport, with the right to sublet to operators of aviation or other enterprises, subject to the city's approval.

Trend Is Downward

Rinehard said airport operation is generally more successful when one operator does not have exclusive rights to all operations at the field, such as flying instructions, shop work and other activities.

He pointed out that at the majority of large airports there is no monopoly of so-called fixed base operations.

The general trend in aviation at present is downward, however, and there are few operators who have both ability and the necessary capital, Rinehard added.

He said airport operators throughout the country must become "better businessmen" and work to promote interest in aviation.

Some discussion centered around the possibility of merging the activities of the Mexico Farms Airport, operated by the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation, with those of the municipal field.

Rinehard said such a merger would be advantageous because it would centralize aviation interest in Cumberland.

Concessions Suggested

George H. Rice, Jr., Standard Oil's aviation assistant in Baltimore, pointed out that the city has enough land at the municipal field to lease a portion to an operation such as an open-air theater or a restaurant, which would provide additional revenue and would also encourage public interest in the field.

Referring to his inspection of the Municipal Airport yesterday afternoon, Rinehard said the airport "is a very remarkable development for a city of this size."

Other Standard Oil representatives attending the commission meeting were J. M. Price, Jr., district manager in Hagerstown, and R. B. Macbeth, Cumberland representative.

Edmund S. Burke, commission chairman, presided.

Reserve Officers Get Assignments

Officers of the recently organized 398th Ordnance Battalion Reserve of the Maryland Military District received their assignments at the first monthly meeting of the group last night in the Union Street Building. They are as follows:

Maj. Chauncey Sanner, commanding officer; Maj. Lloyd Buchanan, deputy commanding officer; Maj. William Mateer, executive officer; Maj. John Connelly, deputy executive officer.

Supply—Capt. John Kelly, Lt. Norman Goldblatt, Lt. George Taylor; maintenance—Capt. William Wood, Capt. Arthur Wenborne, Lt. Joseph Decker, Lt. Richard Wilkinson; ammunition—Capt. John Statler, who is now attending the University of Michigan, and Lt. Leonard Schwab.

Adjutant—Capt. Ace Humbertson, Capt. Wilbur Parker, Lt. Vincent Monahan and Lt. James Berkenbaugh.

Members of the enlisted cadre, authorized by the transfer of the battalion to a "B" status, are First Sgt. Herman Hinze, Staff Sgts. Howard Bussard and Charles Thompson; T-3 Allan Sheetz, Sgt. William Burke, and T-5 Gilbert Lancaster.

Capt. Thomas Stafford, administrator of local Army reserve activities, led a discussion on the efficiency report form for officers.

Meetings will be held the second Thursday of each month. The group has an authorized strength of six officers, one warrant officer and 18 enlisted men.

Allegany Receives Gift

Allegany High School class of 1944 has presented a new mimeograph machine to the commercial department of the school. The presentation was made in behalf of the class by Ronald Kellough, Dale Fuller, Mary Young and Thomas Carros, officers.

The machine is the latest model and is run by electricity. It has six speeds, the maximum being approximately 100 copies a minute. The machine is used for class instruction and each student served an apprenticeship on it.

BIRTHS

Allegany Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Humbertson, 317 Broadway, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard L. Blough, 209 Cecelia Street, a daughter.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Oner Sullivan, Little Orleans, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mason, Frostburg, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Iliff, Cresaptown, a son.

Other births reported here yesterday include:

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Pinsky, former residents of this city, a daughter in New York October 5.

Mr. and Mrs. James "Peck" O'Neal, Charleston, S. C., former residents, twins, a son and a daughter.

Former Shallmar Miner Is Convicted Of Murder

Broeckey Begins Life Sentence

Andre Broeckey, 52-year-old former Shallmar coal miner, was convicted in Montgomery County Court, Norristown, Pa., last night by a jury of seven men and five women of the first degree murder of John Jackanyics, 65, Oaks, Pa., last September 6.

The jury, which reached its verdict after deliberating eight and a half hours, recommended life imprisonment, according to Pennsylvania State Policeman H. L. Aster, one of the investigating officers, who said the Commonwealth did not ask for the death penalty.

Begins Sentence

Pvt. Aster said Broeckey will not again face Judge George C. Corson, who presided at the trial, but will begin serving his term at once, probably in Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia.

Broeckey admitted on the witness stand Wednesday that he struck Jackanyics with a piece of wood during a fight in a house in the woods near Schulkyl River in the vicinity of Oaks.

A Russian, Broeckey confessed the slaying of Jackanyics, Pvt. Aster said.

"Gentlemen," the officer quoted Broeckey as saying, "I killed John. He steal my woman. I look for him for five days. He no steal anybody else's woman."

Broeckey had entered a plea of innocent to the charge, claiming he killed Jackanyics in self-defense, authorities reported, explaining that he first made a statement declaring two men in a taxi came to the house in the woods, beat Jackanyics and took his money.

The ex-miner, who left Garrett County last year, was on the stand for several hours Wednesday but showed very little, if any emotion, during the trial, the officer said. He added that a daughter and two sons-in-law were present at the trial.

Broeckey's trial started Monday morning when selection of a jury began at 9 o'clock and was completed at 3 p. m.

Case Closed Wednesday

The Commonwealth rested its case at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday with the defense closing Wednesday at 5:30 p. m.

Final argument of the Commonwealth and the defense took place yesterday morning with Judge Corson charging the jury and giving the jurors the case at 11 a. m. Their decision came last night at 7:25 o'clock.

Pennsylvania authorities related these events leading to the crime:

After Broeckey moved to the Phoenixville section, he met a woman an identified as Esther Hayes, 47, and the pair lived together as man and wife at Phoenixville for about six months.

The latter part of July, the woman left with a man described by District Attorney Fred Smillie as a "beau brummel who gave her more to drink" than Broeckey. The "beau brummel" was identified as Jackanyics.

Broeckey then began a search for the couple and found them in the house near the Schulkyl River where the slaying took place.

Pvt. Aster last night extended his appreciation to State Trooper Milton G. Hart, Maryland State Police, and residents of Kitzmiller for their co-operation in the investigation.

Rationing Threat To Bring Re-Vote On Beer Proposal

Drivers To Reconsider Offer On Sunday

The posibility of a voluntary reduction in the production of beer and ale to save grain for Europe, last night resulted in a decision by officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, to ask members employed by 23 beer distributors of the Cumberland area to reconsider a contract offer made by the firms.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said the decision was made at a meeting with beer distributors in Teamsters Hall as the parties met to discuss the action of drivers who last Sunday rejected a company offer of an 11½ cents hourly increase.

J. P. Walsh, Cleveland, federal conciliator, attended the meeting for the Department of Labor.

Stutzman said the men had said they were satisfied with the amount of the wage offer but rejected it since it applied only to the contract rate and did not give any wage boost to about eight men who worked for firms who already paid more then the minimum.

He said the men also objected to signing a year's contract but were willing to have the contract run until next spring.

Drivers for the companies will meet Sunday at 3 p. m. in Teamsters Hall, North Mechanic Street, to reconsider the previous offer, he said.

Gettysburg Fund Drive Continues

Approximately 15 members of Western Maryland Chapter, Gettysburg College Alumni, held a dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club to inaugurate the third phase of the college's drive to secure $600,000 for a building expansion program.

The drive, to extend over a three-year period, opened last spring with contributions and pledges from alumni and residents of the Gettysburg, Pa., area, amounting to $350,000.

In the third phase of the drive, co-operation of all Lutheran churches in the Central Penn Synod and the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church will be asked toward raising the remaining amount needed to meet the goal.

Two local pastors, Rev. Donald F. Brake of St. John's Lutheran and Rev. H. Hall Sharp of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, have accepted the respective quotas assigned to their churches.

Quotas are based on two-thirds of each church's contribution last year to the United Lutheran Church.

Charles Wolfe, registrar at the college, gave a brief talk on current undergraduate conditions, pointing out that the institution now has 1,200 students, and that 70 per cent of the male students are veterans. Another guest was Paul Cessna, alumni secretary.

The fund is designed to finance the construction of a new chapel, infirmary, gymnasium and dormitory on the campus.

Goodyear Officials To Visit Kelly Plant

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company officials and employes will be hosts today to 20 visiting officials of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plants from three countries and at least four other states, E. S. Burke, Kelly president, said last night.

A group of factory managers and other officials from plants in Ohio, California, Alabama, Michigan, Canada and Mexico will arrive here by train this morning for a two-day conference and inspection of local plant facilities.

The visitors will be met at the Queen City Station, escorted to their hotels, and then taken to breakfast. They will then inspect a part of the plant, after which lunch will be served at the Kelly cafeteria. A conference will be held in the afternoon, aftr a visit to another part of the plant. Following the conference, the group will be dinner guests at Ali Ghan Country Club.

On Saturday, the inspection of the plant will be completed and a final conference will be held. Lunch will be served at Cumberland Country Cub, and facilities of the club and golf course will be made available to the visitors.

Reader Dislikes The "Dinky" Page

"Whose idea was it to cut the comic page down to half size?" asks Mrs. Ellis Dash, Ellerslie, who signs herself a "daily reader" and quite frankly declares she doesn't like the "dinky" page insert used in The Cumberland News this week.

"Personally, I do not like it," writes Mrs. Dash. "When you open the paper, the 'funnies' slide to the floor and I don't care to lay the paper on the floor or a table, like a child might, to be able to read it.

"If the public's opinion was known, they would agree with me when I say, 'Give us back a full size sheet of paper for the comics, too.'"

We Don't Like It Either

The News quite agrees with Mrs. Dash. We don't like the "dinky" page either, but it's a question of using that to give the readers 10 more columns of space or cutting that much in news and features from the morning paper. Once the paper shortage ends, the full size page of "funnies" will be back again.

Chaplain Of U. S. Purple Heart Sees World Peace Era

Love Of God And Neighbor Is Key

"Love thy neighbor as thyself . . . for the love of God," were the closing words of a brilliant address by Rev. Michael A. Hally, Wilkes Barre, Pa., national chaplain of the Order of Purple Heart, at the annual joint installation dinner meeting of Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of Purple Heat, and their auxiliary last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Declaring that "prayer is the only pathway to peace," Fr. Hally, a retired chaplain who has served in five branches of the nation's military and naval forces, said "men have not only been at war with each other, but they are at war with God."

Fr. Hally was referring to the international situation and the much publicized attempt of Soviet Russia and her satellite nations to spread and force the spread of Communism throughout the world.

Leaders Are Misleading

The speaker expressed the opinion that the people of Russia, like the people of America, do not want war. It is the leaders, and the representatives of the Russian people who are sword-waving and who mislead their own people, and attempt to mislead others by fault finding.

"No nation today," Fr. Hally exclaimed, "is economically or pyscologically prepared for war." The time is here, he continued, when this country cannot afford to compromise with Russia or any other country, because a compromise is only temporary appeasement which means delay of a showdown which must come.

Fr. Hally said he is not a warmonger, and believes that no veteran who has defended this country is a warmonger. "The veteran knows better than anyone else, the scourge of war," he continued, "yet if the nation needs defense, the veteran will be the first to answer his country's call."

He endorsed a strong military and a strong navy and air force. He declared he heartily favors and champions universal military training and believes every young man should have a year in service at least 1,000 miles from his home.

"This is a Christian nation, founded on Christian principles," the former chaplain stated. "That is why we heed so far as we are able, appeals from abroad for economic assistance. We feel that help to these countries is the Christian way, and that this is the way to peace."

But, he continued, the individual American, the veteran, the civilian, men and women alike, must face the facts, and realize that peace can only be maintained if we face reconciliation. "The individual citizen must reconcile himself with his neighbor. The nation and every nation must reconcile itself with every nation. Every man must reconcile himself with his God."

Depression Talk Termed Nonsense

Fr. Hally touched briefly on the economic situation here at home. He said "this country came out of the war with undamaged industries, practically all the gold in the world, and more natural resources than we need. We are living in a great scientific age, and a great economic age which borders on a boom in business. Talk of depression or recession is sheer nonsense, and opportunity for progress and prosperity for a long period of time, is greater today than ever before."

Winters Is "Unchanged"

No change was reported yesterday at Memorial Hospital in the condition of Roy O. Winters, 66, Oakland, owner of the Highland Park Dairy, who was critically injured September 21 when he was struck by a car on Route 219 near the Maryland line. He suffered fractures of the skull and lower jaw in the accident.

Temperature Reading

Cooler weather arrived yesterday as predicted but, at that, the mercury rose to 65 degrees, not much below summer temperature. Yesterday's overnight low was 54 degrees and last night at 9:30 the mercury was down to 58. Continued cool and cloudy weather is due today.

Newspaper Publisher Entertains Local Kiwanis Club At Meeting

An address by Mack Sauer, editor and publisher of the Leesburg Citizen, a weekly newspaper published in Leesburg, Ohio, made at the Kiwanis meeting yesterday may not have been informative, but it was very entertaining.

Sauer promised his audience an historical report on Bunker Hill, but instead kept up a rapid fire flow of jokes and funny stories.

With a straight face Sauer told about a gentleman who was sleeping in church when the minister asked him to lead in prayer. "Lead nothing," the gentleman replied, "I just dealt."

During the war, Sauer told his audience, he had some difficulty in hotels, but the acme of it all occurred when he agreed to make his own bed if given a room. "The clerk," he said, "immediately handed me a hammer, saw and some boards."

Sauer also told of the gentleman who was in a hurry leaving a hotel and noticed a man in uniform. "Taxi," he called. The young man informed him he was not a taxi diver but a Naval lieutenant. "Then get me a battleship," shot back the civilian.

Sauer, who has written two humorous books, also recited several poems of well known authors and concluded his address with one written by himself and published in one of the books entitled "What's You Gonna Be?"

County Engineer May Resign Job

It was reliably reported yesterday that Albert S. Paye, county roads engineer, plans to present his resignation to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

President of the Board Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., said last night he had not received anything official from Paye, but had been told the engineer is resigning. Wilkinson said, "We may learn something at the regular meeting this morning."

An effort to locate Paye last night was unsuccessful, and members of his family said he went to a neighboring town to attend a meeting, and was not expected home until after midnight. Paye has been county engineer since the first of last December, when the present board took office and appointed him.

72-Year-Old Man's Arm Is Fractured By Door Of Auto

Samuel Denson, 72, 211 Wallace Street, was admitted to Allegany Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of a fracture of the left upper arm. He told attaches he was injured when his arm was struck by a car door.

Dorothy Shipe, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Shipe, Oldtown Road, was admitted to Allegany yesterday morning for treatment of a head injury. Attaches were told the child was hurt in a fall from a see-saw.

Faydra Often, 6, 812 Maplewood Lane, was treated in Allegany last night after he fell and cut her head on a stone.

Robert Spicer, 52, Oldtown Road, a B. and O. machinist, was treated in Allegany yesterday after he turned his ankle at work, and Elton Paxton, 42, Route 1, after he cut his left hand on a bottle.

Larry Shafferman, 7, LaVale, was treated in Memorial yesterday afternoon after he fell at school and cut his left arm on a piece of glass.

Treated in Memorial last night were:

Ray Knepp, 27, 69 Pine Avenue, Frostburg, for a possible fracture of the right arm suffered, he said, when he fell while leaving the Celanese plant. A splint was applied and he was advised to return today for X-rays.

Philip Nixon, 28, Oldtown, after he ran a nail in his foot, and Robert Twigg, 13, Hyndman, after he cut his hand on a saw.

Local Man Claims He Was Attacked

A man identified as Harry Johns told police he was struck in the head last night by an unknown person as he stood talking to his wife on Knox Street at 9 p. m. Attaches at Allegany Hospital, where he was treated, said he suffered lacerations on the head.

Police, who were notified of the alleged assault by hospital attaches, said they were investigating, and added they had received a call a short time before asking that Johns be picked up "because he is drinking." Police said the call came from Johns' home, 445 Henderson Avenue.

Attaches said he was treated and discharged.

DEATHS

ROBERT FLEEK RITES

A funeral service for Robert W. Fleek, 67, retired Cresaptown farmer, who died Tuesday night, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Rev. W. J. Shellenberger, pastor of Calvary Tabernacle, and Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor of Cresaptown Methodist Charge, will conduct the service and burial will be in Eckhart Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Sanford and Hayes Robinette, Harry Barton, Harman Barton, Robert Elliott and John Cecil.

MRS. HENRY WAGNER RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Minnie S. Wagner, 59, wife of Henry C. Wagner, who died Wednesday night at her home, 500 Linden Street, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Dr. H. Hall Sharp, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

October Grand Jury Makes Tour Of Inspections

Plans To Resume Hearings Today

ued The October Grand Jury Con

The October Grand Jury continued its investigations yesterday, and it was not known by Court House attaches whether or not deliberations will be concluded today.

More than 30 indictments have been returned, county authorities indicate, but only two indictments have been returned for recording on Court dockets. These were both against Robert W. Rice, charged on two counts of violating state dentistry laws. Rice is at liberty under bond.

A committee from the Grand Jury visited the County Home and Infirmary and Sylvan Retreat, and made an inspection of the Court House property yesterday. Other routine inspections were made including a visit to the County Jail.

A number of witnesses were seen in the Court House yesterday waiting to be called into the grand Jury room, and it was reported in Court House circles that a large number of Samuel Biddington, 65, West Main Street, Frostburg, who has been held in the county jail since Sunday, September 21, following the shooting of his wife, Mrs. Lilly Biddington, 64, at their home, was released yesterday.

The sheriff's office reported that Biddington was taken before the October Grand Jury yesterday for questioning, but that no indictment was returned. Biddington was warned to be of good behavior and attend church services.

Mrs. Biddington was shot in the left cheek with a .32 caliber revolver, and the husband admitted to the shooting when taken into custody by Frostburg city police. The wife was taken to Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, and doctors said at the time that the wound was not serious.

Ridgeley Minister And Wife Honored

Members of the WSCS of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, W. Va., honored Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Greynolds at a meeting in the church parsonage Tuesday night.

The surprise reception was held in honor of the pastor who was returned recently to the charge to begin his sixth year in the Ridgeley church.

Mrs. Ralph Baker, president of the group, presented the pastor and his wife with a pair of blankets. Refreshments were served at the reception.

Mrs. J. W. Fisher, Westernport, promotional secretary of the WSCS of this area, spoke at the meeting in the church which preceded the reception. Mrs. Katie Butcher, sister of Rev. Mr. Greynolds, attended as an honored guest.

No Progress Reported

Union officials said last night at 11 o'clock there was "no statement to make" in negotiations by Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Clerks Union, for a contract with the American Stores Company, Inc. Union and company officials were meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel in an effort to agree on a contract for the unions which recently won bargaining rights in stores of this area.

Mayor Returns To City

Mayor Thomas S. Post returned to Cumberland late last night after visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Post, Jr., in Hastings, Neb., for the past 10 days.

The mayor was accompanied on the trip by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. James White, Ellerslie, their son-in-law and daughter.

Collection Day, Friday

SS. PETER AND PAUL CHURCH TO MARK CENTENNIAL IN 1948

Redecoration Program Will Cost $18,000

Elaborate plans have already been set in motion here for the centennial celebration during November of 1948 which will mark the first 100 years of the activities of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, established here almost a century ago to meet the spiritual needs of the German Catholics of Cumberland.

Craftsmen will begin next week the work of completely redecorating the church. The project, which will cost a total of $18,000, should be completed before Christmas, according to Rev. Alban Hammal, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of the church.

Father Alban said all statues and the Stations of the Cross will be sent to Pittsburgh, Pa., soon to be refinished by the Joseph Poli Company which is decorating the church.

The extensive work of repairs on the church and monastery began soon after Father Alban came here in July, and the insulation of the buildings was completed several weeks ago.

Work is now progressing on pointing up the brick walls on the monastery and repairs on the roof of that building began this week.

Will Repair Walls

Also slated for repair are the massive stone walls surrounding the church property. The walls, one of the finest examples of stone masonry in this area, cost $12,000 to build. The cost of repointing the stone walls will total $9,000.

The cornerstone of the church was laid June 4, 1848, for the original church. The structure, measuring 50 by 63 feet, was completed by the end of the year at a total cost of $5,600.

The church was dedicated September 23, 1849, in honor of Apostles Peter and Paul by Rev. B. J. Haftenscheid, provincial of the Redemptorist order which was in charge of the German Catholics here from 1841 to 1866.

Prior to the construction of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, the Redemptorist fathers, who had settled in Baltimore, began to take charge of the German Catholics here, and beginning about 1841, began to hold services in St. Mary's Church, now St. Patrick's Church, every three months.

Since at that time there was no train service from Baltimore to Cumberland, the fathers left Baltimore on Fridays and traveled by stage coach to Cumberland, arriving here in time for Sunday services and then started for home on Mondays.

The first pastor of the church, Rev. Anthony Urbanczek, a Redemptorist, arrived here April 23, 1849, and was accompanied by Brother Adam Parr, who began teaching in the basement of the church.

The steeple of the church, of Gothic design, was completed in 1849 at a cost of $955.24. When the original church was built, only the foundation for the steeple had been provided.

Install Bells

Three years later, the church installed three bells in the steeple to complete that structure. The largest bells, weighing 1,000 and 600 pounds, were cast in West Troy in 1852, and the smallest, weighing 300 pounds, was made by Meneely's Foundry in 1850.

The first Cumberlander to teach in the parish school, according to church records, was William Luehrman, a layman, who joined the Redemptorist order after a year's service in the parochial school, and became a priest.

A monastery was added to the north side of the church in 1850, but the structure was later torn down when the church was extended to the rear.

It was two years later that Allegany County Academy, on the site of the present school, was purchased for $1,500.

The Carmelites began their labors at SS. Peter and Paul Church October 21, 1866, and continued until June 17, 1875.

Capuchins Come Here

When the restrictions of Prussian May laws passed in 1875 caused the Westphalian Capuchins to seek refuge in the United States, the order purchased the monastery here as a refuge for the friars who were exiled from Germany.

The Order of Friars Minor, Capuchin, founded by St. Francis of Assisi, came to Cumberland in July, 1875. The church was enlarged for the second time and was again consecrated on October 21, 1888, by Bishop Kain, of Wheeling, since considerable additions had been made since it was first consecrated in 1858. Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, who had confirmed 143 persons in SS. Peter and Paul Church, that day, took part in the service.

The first part of the monastery, a building 50 by 40 feet, was completed in 1855, and an addition, of the same dimensions, was constructed in 1856. The Capuchins later added the chapel which extends to Johnson Street.

The present modern school building which houses SS. Peter and Paul School and Ursuline Academy was built in 1931, when Father Alban was pastor here for the first time.

It was constructed on the site of the first school building built by the

Arlie Michaels Held In Oakland

Garrett County authorities last night were holding a Friendsville man in Garrett County Jail, Oakland, for further questioning in connection with the abduction and robbery of William Kisner, 69, Friendsville, which occurred September 20.

Trooper Glen Folk, Maryland State Police, said Arlie Michaels, 39, was arrested Wednesday night after authorities received a tip that he accompanied Orville Sines, 39, alias O. F. Reckord, former Garrett County resident, when he allegedly abducted Kisner and robbed him of a gold wrist watch and $15.

Police said that while the search for Sines continues, Michaels will be questioned and probably given a preliminary hearing this morning on a charge that he is an accessory to the abduction and robbery of Kisner.

When the alleged crime was reported to police, they said a warrant had been issued for Sines, but explained there was an unidentified person in the car who sat on Kisner and prevented him from calling for help, while Sines drove to an isolated road 15 miles east of Friendsville.

Last night authorities said they believe Michaels was the unidentified person, and while they had not completed questioning him, they indicated that Michaels had been identified as the "other man" in the car.

According to Kisner's report to police, he met Sines in a Friendsville tavern on Saturday night, September 20, and as he started home, Sines offered to drive him. After getting Kisner in the car, the victim declared, "another man" sat on him while Sines drove in the opposite direction from his home.

Police said Kisner was taken from the car and knocked to the ground after Sines took a 17-jewel wrist watch and money from him. The duo left Kisner lying alongside the road, but later returned.

Kisner in the meantime hid and though the men searched for him they were unable to find him. Early Sunday morning Kisner said he walked to a farm home and was given transportation home. He reported the alleged abduction and robbery to police the next day.

Trooper Folk said Michaels was arrested at his home. A deputy sheriff said Michaels denied having any part in the alleged crime.

Journalism Tourney Set For November 8

A one-day tournament to encourage student interest in journalism will be held at the University of Maryland November 8, under the sponsirship of the Maryland Scholastic Press Association.

James E. Spitznas, city, supervisor of instruction in Maryland, will be honor guest and the welcome will be given by Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the university. A cartoon demonstration will be given by Howard Q. Yardley, Baltimore Sun; and an address by Joseph M. Murphy, director of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, N. Y.

Each school may enter a team of four members to compete in one of the four types of journalistic writing. The large trophy placed in competition by the Cumberland Times-News will be awarded the winning team, to keep for one year. The smaller trophy will be the permanent possession of the victors.

Representatives of the Alcohi Mirror will be Mary Ellen Platt, Jean Andrews, Barbee Sue Mansfield, Maxine Conrad and Jack Klosterman. They will be accompanied by Miss Mary E. Murray, director of the MSPA.

LaSalle representatives will be Joseph Stitcher, Joseph LaPorta and James Collins.

First Baptist Plans Homecoming Day

Dr. Will D. McCurdy, former pastor of First Baptist Church, Bedford Street, will conduct services and deliver the sermon Sunday when the congregation observes Homecoming day.

Dr. McCurdy, who was also associated with the Y.M.C.A., will join Baptist ministers throughout the nation when he speaks on the theme "Our Imperilled Liberties." Services will begin at 10:30 a. m.

The special service is held in conjunction with the Baptist movement sponsored by the Spiritual Mobilization group, under the direction of Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr., Los Angeles, Calif.

Church Board To Meet

The Trustees of First Baptist Church will meet at the church for election of officers at 7 tonight. The Finance committee will meet at 8 p. m.

Increase In Frostburg College Enrollment Seen By Dr. Pullen

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Enrollment at Maryland's four teachers colleges has reached a ten-year high, indicating a revival of young peoples' interest in teaching careers, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, reported today.

The "trend toward increased interest in educational work began last year," Dr. Pullen said. He declared it was "undoubtedly" furthered by salary increases granted to teachers throughout the state in the past two years.

If the trend continued, the educator declared, Maryland's teacher-training institutions will be able to supply the needs of the state's school system within several years.

Lack of interest in teaching as a profession shown in past years had given rise to alarm among school officials, beset as they were by an ever-mounting turnover of instructors.

Enrollment figure at the four state teachers colleges were reported as follows to the board of education: Towson, 609, Frostburg 239, Salisbury 306, and Bowie 150.

These figures include junior college student at all these institutions with the exception of Bowie, but "the percentage of such students is lower this year than last, while the percentage of teacher training students is greater," Dr. Pullen declared.

Change In Rights To Concessions At Airport Suggested

Consultant Proposes Change In Operations

Recommendation that sub-letting of concessions at the Cumberland Municipal Airport be changed from the present exclusive basis was made last night by J. L. Rinehard, New York, aviation consultant of the Standard Oil Company.

Rinehard and three other representatives of the company attended a special meeting of the Cumberland Municipal Airport Commission to consult with commission members on posible future methods of operating the Municipal Airport.

The trial period of the city's lease of the airport to Cumberland Airways, Inc., will terminate December 31, after which terms of the contract are due for renegotiation.

Under the present lease Cumberland Airways has the exclusive right to all concessions at the airport, with the right to sublet to operators of aviation or other enterprises, subject to the city's approval.

Trend Is Downward

Rinehard said airport operation is generally more successful when one operator does not have exclusive rights to all operations at the field, such as flying instructions, shop work and other activities.

He pointed out that at the majority of large airports there is no monopoly of so-called fixed base operations.

The general trend in aviation at present is downward, however, and there are few operators who have both ability and the necessary capital, Rinehard added.

He said airport operators throughout the country must become "better businessmen" and work to promote interest in aviation.

Some discussion centered around the possibility of merging the activities of the Mexico Farms Airport, operated by the Allegany Aeronautical Corporation, with those of the municipal field.

Rinehard said such a merger would be advantageous because it would centralize aviation interest in Cumberland.

Concessions Suggested

George H. Rice, Jr., Standard Oil's aviation assistant in Baltimore, pointed out that the city has enough land at the municipal field to lease a portion to an operation such as an open-air theater or a restaurant, which would provide additional revenue and would also encourage public interest in the field.

Referring to his inspection of the Municipal Airport yesterday afternoon, Rinehard said the airport "is a very remarkable development for a city of this size."

Other Standard Oil representatives attending the commission meeting were J. M. Price, Jr., district manager in Hagerstown, and R. B. Macbeth, Cumberland representative.

Edmund S. Burke, commission chairman, presided.

Reserve Officers Get Assignments
